CHILE'S DICTATOR FORCED OUT

PRISON SYSTEM TRAGIC FAILURE, BOARD REPORTS

Suggests Substitute to States.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—[Special.]—"The present prison system is a failure and indefensible. It does not reform the criminal. It fails to protect society. There is no reason to believe that it is a deterrent to the commission of crime or a check on increasing crime. We are convinced that a new type of penal institution must be developed, one that is new in method and objective."

DR. H. H. HART. [A. P. Photo.]

This was outlined today as a new prison system and recommend its adaptation to the varying needs of the different states."

Into the above paragraph embodying the major conclusion, the now disbanded Wickersham commission on law observance and enforcement today put its public its report to President Hoover on "Penal Institutions, Probation and Parole."

Federal Prisons Chief Targets.

The penal system by which the nation maintains more than 3,000 penitentiaries, reformatories, workhouses, jails, chain gangs and jails, through which 600,000 persons pass annually, was one of the few phases which escaped the commission's criticism. Chief targets were the 100 federal and state penitentiaries and reformatories, housing 70,000 inmates, at an annual cost of $80,000,000 and representing an investment of approximately 100 million dollars.

In its subsequent conclusions and recommendations the commission outlined the penal system toward which it believed this country could strive. The report, one of the most detailed the commission has submitted, contained 245 pages, half devoted to the commission's findings and discussions, followed by 22 of the country's foremost authorities on penal problems, including Dr. Herman J. Adler, former Illinois state criminologist.

Urges Many Changes Demanded.

Among fundamental considerations were: New classification and segregation within the prison, extension of the probation system before prison, and development of a parole system after leaving it.

"Prison populations, it was stipulated, should be divided not only according to the type of security needed but should have the diseased, the mentally and physically segregated for special treatment, afterward should be classified according to vocational aptitude. Such classification and segregation is essential to the solution of the prison problem, the report emphasized further:

"We find our present system of prisons to be traditional, antiquated, unintelligent, and not infrequently cruel and inhuman."

At the root of prison labor, the commission maintained that the prison should serve the state and its inmates and both outside labor least by becoming economically self-sufficient and then by surrendering the profit-making idea in favor of a "state use" system to supply other state institutions, and, by furnishing labor for public works.

Urges an Indeterminate Sentence.

Commenting on the report of its advisory committee the commission declared:

"We endorse these specific recommendations with the single exception of that which calls for an absolutely indeterminate sentence. We consider it highly desirable but are not yet able to recommend its adoption as a general matter until such a time as the community has so completely revised its penal system as to warrant the transfer to an administrative body of the great powers of release now exercised by the court."

"Parole is the best means yet devised for returning the ex-prisoner to society, and probation is the most valuable step yet taken toward individualized treatment of the offender. We have advised that both be developed and supported with money and trained officers.

"The first service of the prison is to society by reforming the criminal," the commission declared.

Quoted by the advisory committee on parole: "People leave prison as they go to it. . . . The benefit to society is little if the man comes out no better than he went in."

Quiz Deposed Racketeer on Union Slaying

Jack Barry, west side gangster, surrendered at the detective bureau shortly before midnight last night for questioning in connection with the murder of Ely H. Orr, secretary-treasurer of the Newspaper Wagon Drivers' union. He denied knowledge of the killing. Barry was forced out of the union last December and his place was taken by Orr when the union held an election under the protection of Assistant State's Attorney Charles E. Lounsbury and policemen.

Police locked up Barry for the night without taking any formal statement from him after he had declared he wanted to talk to his attorney before he submitted to detailed questioning.

Meanwhile, a conference of four labor leaders was held until early this morning by Assistant State's Attorneys Lounsbury and Charles Mueller at the former's home. The union men, whose names were withheld, pledged assistance in solving Orr's murder and said they would help to end terrorism in labor ranks. The labor men initiated the conference.

Slain by Two in Auto.

Orr was shot to death at Milwaukee and Fullerton avenues at 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning as he was driving to his home at 2828 North Kenneth avenue in his automobile. Three men in another car pulled alongside and fired at him with sawed off shot guns. As they sped away one of the assassins laughed and exclaimed: "O, boy, we sure got him that time."

Lounsbury took charge of the investigation of the murder and ordered Barry's arrest. He also directed that Daniel Fiore, 3224 Polk street, a business agent of the union, be found for questioning.

Barry's Police Record.

The state's attorney's office had taken an interest in the union's affairs after complaints that Barry was levying tribute on the members and diverting the union's funds. Barry and his fellow gunman, Anthony [Red] Kissane, had seized control of the union, Lounsbury said, after Barry was released from his second term of imprisonment in Leavenworth penitentiary. Barry was first convicted of mail robbery with Big Tim Murphy. He was next sent to the federal prison with Fur Sammons and Klondike O'Donnell for the whisky robbery at the Morand warehouse.

According to officials, the affairs of the newspaper wagon drivers' union had been running smoothly after Barry was ousted.

Early yesterday morning Orr had discussed with circulators the problems of the drivers in handling the newspapers placed in bags tied to electric light poles. There was a question whether the discontinuance of that kind of service would result in the loss of jobs by some drivers.

After that discussion Orr, Fiore, and Herbert Phelps, another business agent of the union, sat together in a loop restaurant until 5 o'clock.

Emil Woznicki, 3306 North Monticello avenue, told the police he saw the murder and the killers.

At the detective bureau Woznicki selected a picture of Thomas Flannigan as "looking like" one of the men. The arrest of Flannigan was ordered. The pictures of several Thomas Flanigans were found in the bureau of identification, but no one seemed to know which one was sought. One of the shotguns used in the murder was found near Sawyer and Fullerton avenues by Wilbur Williams, 17 years old, 3617 Fullerton avenue.

ELOPERS, 7 AND 10, WITH ONLY A DIME, TAKEN OFF TRAIN

The great romance of Stechani Skizjdek, 7 years old, of 4436 Thomas street, and his sweetheart, Adele Veresh, 10 years old, of 4437 Thomas street, was blasted last night.

Love for Adele was in Stechani's heart. In his pocket was 10 cents. To Stechani both were ample. Together the young swain and his "girl" boarded a Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific train at the La Salle street station, bound for the great southwest. They got only as far as Rock Island when a ferreting conductor discovered them hiding in a sleeping car.

The conductor placed the juvenile lovers in charge of police. It was a severe blow for Stechani. But as a great lover Stechani didn't flinch. He reached into his pocket and dug out his entire wealth, a nickel and five pennies. He handed the coins to a matron.

Follies Girls Are Burned in Yacht Blast

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Harry Richman, night club owner and entertainer, and one of the stars of the current "Follies," Helen Walsh and Virginia Biddle, also of the "Follies" cast, Mark Hellinger, a newspaper writer, Sam White, a fishing captain of Greenport, L. I., and Robert Levy, Richman's chauffeur, were severely burned this morning when Richman's thirty-six foot cabin cruser, the Chavalmar blew up at a Greenport dock. Mrs. Hellinger, the former Gladys Glad, also featured in the "Follies," escaped without injury.

All of the injured, with the exception of White, who walked to his home in Greenport, were treated at the Eastern Long Island hospital, where it was said Miss Walsh was in a serious condition. The others suffered from burns and shock.

Explosion Without Warning.

The explosion came suddenly and without warning just as the party was setting out on a fishing trip from Greenport. The party had left Richman's home in Beechhurst, Queens, about 2 a. m. today in the cabin cruiser, a 4 year old craft powered by a gasoline engine. They reached Greenport at 9:30 a. m. and tied up to the dock of the Colonial Gasoline company to refuel. The Chavalmar took on 140 gallons of gasoline.

Capt. White, who had been engaged by Richman to pilot the party to nearby fishing grounds, was at the wheel of the cruiser in the cockpit. Hellinger was standing, one foot on the dock and one on the mahogany finished deck of the boat, ready to cast off the line.

The explosion followed immediately. A ragged streak of flame leaped from the engine toward the sky. Capt. White and Miss Walsh were blown bodily into the air and fell in a tumbled heap back into the cockpit. The roof of the cabin forward was torn from the bulkheads and fell, a jumbled mass of blazing wreckage on top of White and Miss Walsh.

Hellinger, who had been severely burned on one arm by the flaming gasoline, and Richman, who suffered minor burns of the hands and face, dragged Miss Walsh from beneath the burning wreckage, aft, while Capt. White crawled out forward. The show girl's clothing was flaming and Richman threw her overboard to extinguish the fire.

While Richman and Hellinger dove in after her, Miss Glad scrambled ashore from the bow of the Chavalmar unhurt, while Levy and Miss Biddle, who were dazed by the explosion and burned slightly, managed to get to the dock.

ILEANA WEDS ARCHDUKE IN 'FAIRY' CASTLE

Carol Gives Princess Away; 300 Present.

BULLETIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, July 26.—An emerald, lost from the gold tiara of Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia, nearly caused a panic at the royal ball for Princess Ileana and Archduke Anton at the palace at Sinaia last night, it was learned today. All dancing was stopped until the chief of police found the missing jewel on a staircase after a brief search.

SINAIA, Rumania, July 26.—(AP)—In the picturesque palace of Pelesh, perched like a fairy castle on the crest of lofty, pine covered hills, Princess Ileana, 21 year old daughter of the late King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania, was married today to Archduke Anton, seventh son of Archduke Leopold Salvator of Hapsburg.

This was the merriest day the population of the staid summer resort of Sinaia ever experienced.

Streets Strewn with Flowers.

The villagers were up at dawn and delegates from Princess Ileana's own corps of Girl Scouts strewed all the streets approaching the castle with flowers. The entire population lined the roadway to see the guests, officials, ministers, and prelates arrive at the palace.

Many of the peasants rode into town bareback on rough country horses; others drove in old world oxcarts, while shepherd flute players, gypsies and musicians assembled in the palace grounds and played joyous airs for the rustic dancers, adding to the merriment.

300 Guests Assemble.

As the hour for the religious ceremony approached, about 300 guests had assembled in or about the large hall of the palace where an altar was set up. After a short period of waiting, during which the civil ceremony was taking place, the smiling princess entered the hall at the same time as the bridegroom, who looked serious and preoccupied.

Immediately after this civil ceremony, through which Princess Ileana remains a Rumanian citizen, civil protocols had been signed and witnessed and the young couple had been presented to the ministers of state.

This done, the procession proceeded to the chapel in the castle, in the vestibule of which hung many images of saints, many flags, and many tokens of royalty. The 300 nobles, diplomats and ministers there witnessed the impressive wedding ceremony according to the rites of the Roman Catholic church.

Walks Down Aisle with Carol.

It was punctually at 11 a. m. when the princess, smiling happily and leaning on the arm of King Carol, who held the scepter of state in his left hand, advanced up the aisle and took her place before the altar.

On the altar, around which stood ten large lighted candles, were three upholstered golden chairs, upon which sat the three prelates, Prince Wladimir Chika, Bishop Cisar and Bishop Fiskner. Bishop Cisar preformed the religious ceremony.

The ceremony opened with a solemn mass, accompanied by the grand organ of the palace, a choir of ten nuns from the convent of Sinaia and a trained boys' choir.

The principal witness, after King Carol, was Dowager Queen Marie, who was present with her other daughters, former Queen Elizabeth of Greece and

Offer Furs and Fur Coats at Lowest Prices in Years

The latter part of July and the month of August in any year has come to be recognized as a good time to buy furs. Furriers don't expect people to go shopping for cold weather garments at this season, so to induce early buying they offer the best bargains of all the year.

But this year that's only part of the story. The judgment of recognized authorities in the industry is that prevailing prices on furs are not only the lowest they will be this year, but also the lowest they have been in any year in the last twenty-five. Furs, like many other commodities, have come down.

In the less expensive furs the reductions are considerable. But where the decline is most amazing is in the higher priced garments. In the latter class, fur coats are being offered at prices that are 25%, and in some cases 50%, below the lowest prices asked for similar garments last year.

It's a great time to buy a fur coat. You really won't appreciate the fact until you see for yourself. Now is the time to investigate, while stocks are complete.

Their "Road to Happiness" Ends in Death

Dell F. Harbaugh, 43 years old, inventor and promoter, and his 22 year old wife, Elizabeth, signed a contract last March, when they ended an estrangement of six months.

It was headed: "Our Road to Happiness." Among the provisions were that both husband and wife would forgive the past, that they would love each other forever and would not discuss their family affairs with any outsiders.

Yesterday afternoon Harbaugh left his home at 7132 South Peoria street. Mrs. Harbaugh, placing a pistol in the pocket of her dress, followed and caught up with him at 70th and Halsted streets. There she drew the pistol. After a brief struggle the weapon was fired and a bullet struck Harbaugh in the abdomen. He died while he was being taken to St. Bernard's hospital.

Story of the Widow.

At the Englewood police station last night the widow, a small town girl from Earlville, Ill., told Assistant State's Attorney Nat Ruvell and Lieut. William Gainor of the stormy life she had lived with Harbaugh since their marriage three years ago.

"I thought he was wonderful," she said. "I always thought so. Dell was the inventor of a process to waterproof paper and he had the backing to do big things with his ideas. But he wasn't a good husband.

"For a while we were happy. Then I found out he paid attentions to other women. He wrote letters to them. There was Evelyn and Grace and Gladys and Margaret. He would even show me the letters they wrote back to him. Finally I had to leave him."

Contract of Reconciliation.

She went back to Earlville, Mrs. Harbaugh said, and her husband went there for the signing of the peculiar contract—a document worth nothing in law, but which she regarded as a sacred compact. Parts of it read:

"Dell will govern our home justly, will be kind but stern, and will have something to say about spending the money he earns. We will keep ourselves clean and pure. We will have a good time, but we will be satisfied to live on what we have to live on."

Then followed a budget, in which the percentage of income for each purpose was clearly defined. The budget was:

Savings	20 per cent
Car upkeep	10 per cent
Husband's pleasure	5 per cent
Wife's pleasure	5 per cent
Rent	12 per cent
Food	25 per cent
Husband's clothing	9 per cent
Wife's clothing	9 per cent
Miscellaneous	5 per cent

"We hereby agree to the above budget and promise to live up to the same," was the concluding sentence of the compact.

For a time the contract worked. Mrs. Harbaugh said she had been happy with her husband as late as Saturday night, when they went to a show.

Then Situation Changes.

Things were different yesterday morning. Harbaugh announced he had to meet a man downtown. His wife, jealous and suspicious, insisted on accompanying him. No man appeared at the bus station to which they went and Harbaugh admitted he had intended to meet a girl.

"In the afternoon," continued Mrs. Harbaugh, "he told me he was going to see her and I wouldn't stop him. When he left I got the pistol.

"I didn't mean to kill him. I was going to catch up with him, say goodby and shoot myself. I told him goodby and he was killed trying to take the gun away from me. If he had let me alone I would have been the one to die."

IBANEZ FLEES PALACE IN CAR; ELUDES MOBS

BULLETIN.

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 27.—(Monday.)—(AP)—Carlos Ibanez, who resigned yesterday as president of Chile, fled the presidential palace early today by automobile, heading for the port of San Antonio, apparently to board a destroyer or passenger ship.

BULLETIN.

SANTIAGO, Chile, July 26.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies tonight rejected the request of former President Ibanez to leave the country and demanded his prosecution. The chamber's action followed a previous vote granting Ibanez's request, which was followed by howls of the crowds in the galleries. The measure was returned to the senate, which was expected to concur.

In the face of an incipient civilian revolution the man who once said that he enjoyed "divine guidance in ruling as he thought necessary," and who took for his own the principal precepts of Premier Mussolini of Italy and former Dictator Primo de Rivera of Spain, resigned today.

The resignation was verbal in form. It was made as a request to the Chilean congress for safe conduct out of the country. The resignation was promptly accepted by the congress, which formally declared Pedro Opazo, president of the Chilean senate, vice president of Chile and acting president.

Quits as Revolt Looms.

The president's resignation, demanded for a week, came with a dramatic suddenness just as a popular uprising of the masses was being organized in the form of a general strike. It followed upon three days and nights of rioting in the streets, during which between 60 and 100 persons were killed, and about 2,000 injured.

Opazo announced after being sworn in at a joint session of the congress that "true constitutional government will be initiated, with full personal freedom." He said he would administer the affairs of the country until elections can be held.

Esteban Montero, minister of the interior in the cabinet of former Premier Blanquier which lasted seven days, was chosen by Opazo to form a cabinet in which Blanquier will be minister of finance.

Resignation Kept Secret.

Former President Ibanez decided to step down late last night. Behind the thick and well guarded wall of the palace of La Moneda, he discussed his plans with advisers, and at 4 a. m. today made his decision to resign.

The decision was kept secret from every one except a few persons until the leaders of the congress could be summoned during the morning.

The secrecy resulted in a rumor later in the morning to the effect that Ibanez had fled from the palace in an ambulance disguised as a wounded soldier, and had gone to the American embassy. A crowd formed quickly and marched to the embassy. There they set up a shout for Ibanez.

Police Protect U. S. Embassy.

American Ambassador William O. Culbertson went out and assured the crowd on his word of honor that Ibanez was not there and if he came he would be refused asylum. Police were called to protect the embassy and the crowd dwindled.

Then word flashed around that Ibanez still was in La Moneda palace. Hundreds of persons went there, to find troops on guard.

At noon the fact that he had resigned became generally known. The first plan was to form a junta with Arturo Alessandri, former president as its head, but that was eventually given up for the scheme which followed.

Once Ibanez had resigned, the former president's safety immediately became the pressing problem. Opposition leaders desired to protect him from mobs. Later in the day he wrote out his request for permission to leave the country, making the former verbal request formal. As soon as this written request was in hand, Opazo issued a manifesto to the country and Montero began to organize a cabinet.

Students Shoot Fireworks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VALPARAISO, Chile, July 26.—While former Dictator Ibanez remains a virtual prisoner in the palace at Santiago, the populace of the capital today participated in an orgy of rejoicing over his downfall, according to dispatches received here.

Tonight thousands of students in black cloth, worn at funerals of those who were shot down by carabineers, created by Ibanez as a "Praetorian guard," are shooting fireworks.

The carabineers, hated throughout the nation, were withdrawn from the streets of most cities by the new government tonight to avert reprisals by an indignant public.

Political observers indicate the fall of the Ibanez régime was due to the president's ignorance of economic trends and his refusal to retrace an economic policy which killed foreign and domestic business after sharp warnings by diplomats and soldiers.

Dictator Ibanez, who in the early days of his régime, won national praise because of his vigorous measures to restore prosperity by establishing law and order, finally became too stubborn to admit that he had erred.

He laughed at soldiers' warnings. When a party of high rank officers waited on him at the Moneda palace to tell him that the country was being ruined by heavy armaments at the expense of the business community he showed them the door.

"I know what I am doing," he told them.

Had Pet Military Force.

Customs duties were increased four and five hundred per cent and Chilean and foreign business was taxed to a standstill to pay quadrupled salaries of army, navy, air and police officers. Each service, Ibanez's foes charge, was bribed by heavy armament expenditure to insure its support.

The president himself relied on his force of carabineers to maintain his power and played them off against the army and navy. Leading conservatives and liberals like Ladislao Errazuriz, Arturo Alessandri and Agustin Edwards were exiled abroad. Scores of opposition politicians and newspaper editors were "relegated" to remote parts of national territory. Unconstitutional concessions were forced from a puppet congress.

While the foreign financed public works plan proceeded in early dictatorship days there was little exhibition of hostility and newspaper censorship was tolerated. Trouble came with excessive loans and the rapid dissipation of foreign money. Then there was the nitrate muddle and an increasing Nationalist policy. Finally Ibanez declared a moratorium on foreign debts.

Lose Valuable Markets.

Foreign sympathy was lost by flagrant disregard of long-established business channels. Tariff blundering cost valuable markets in the Argentine and Peru.

Provincial protests were aroused by a Santiago centralization program. Fifty thousand persons were forced to transfer their homes from Valparaiso to the capital city within two years. Factories were uprooted overnight at the behest of the government.

Discontent flared into public protest and paved the way for Ibanez's overthrow when thousands of nitrate workers became breadless as a result of industrial disorganization and were transferred by ships to the south. These and other workless became desperate when they saw Ibanez spending millions among his friends.

BURN CHURCHES IN MEXICO; MOBS BATTLE POLICE

Fire Four Edifices in Religious War.

JALAPA, State of Vera Cruz, Mexico, July 26.—(AP)—A young man who attempted to assassinate Gov. Adalberto Tejeda was in a hospital today and many mob leaders were in jail after a night of rioting in this state capital, in which four of the principal churches were damaged by fire. In today's air orders an attempt to assassinate the vicar general of Jalapa was reported.

In the city of Vera Cruz one priest, Father Dario Acosta, 32, was killed, and another, Father Alberto Landa, 23, was seriously wounded in a raid on the Ascuncion church while imparting religious instruction to a congregation of children last evening.

Insists on Limiting Priests.

Immediately after he had been wounded by a shot in one ear, Gov. Tejeda declared from a balcony of the government palace here that "despite this campaign of terrorism, I will carry out my plan."

The governor had warned that unless the Catholic church complied with the new state religious law limiting the number of priests in the state of Vera Cruz to thirteen he would take measures to enforce it.

Eye witnesses to the attempted assassination of the governor yesterday said his assailant was shot down after a pistol fight which lasted 15 minutes, in which the governor and his assailant shot at each other from behind pillars at the entrance to the government palace.

Four Gasoline on Churches.

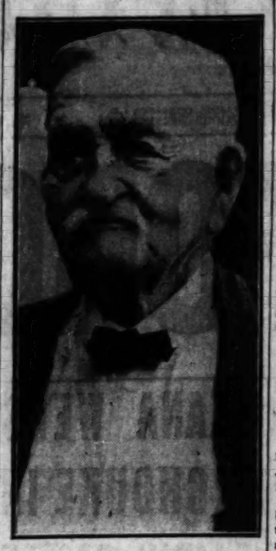
After the attack on the governor, a mob formed and, obtaining gasoline at automobile filling stations, advanced against the churches. Pouring gasoline on the wall, they set fire to the buildings.

The cathedral and the churches of Calvario, Beaterio and San Jose were damaged before the fire was extinguished by police and troops. Several persons were injured when a wall of the San Jose church collapsed.

Police broke up the mob and made many arrests. The city was reported quiet tonight. Bishop Guisar in a long telegram to Gov. Tejeda today protested against the killing of two priests. He said several priests were in hiding.

The bishop said he would gladly forfeit his life to Gov. Tejeda if the governor in exchange would "leave the Catholic people to the exercise of their religion and not spill any blood of my priests."

96 YEARS OLD



BERT S. WILDER.

Bert S. Wilder, who rode from his Ohio birthplace to Aurora in an ox-cart in 1837, when he was 2 years old, celebrated his 96th birthday anniversary in Aurora yesterday. He is Aurora's oldest citizen.

There was a family party at the home, 727 North Lake street, and a constant procession of friends called during the day to pay their respects. Mr. Wilder enjoys good health despite his advanced age.

When he arrived in Aurora as a small child, Indians outnumbered the white citizens in the vicinity, he said yesterday. He recalled trading twenty acres of land in what is now the northwest section of Aurora for a shotgun, and several acres more, on another occasion, for a pair of boots.

He was engaged in farming most of his life. He is a leader of the Aurora Historical society. Wilder park, on South Lake street in Aurora, is named for him.

Argentina "Invites" Three More to Leave Country

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, July 26.—In addition to former President Dr. Marcello T. De Alvear, a number of others have also been "invited" by the Argentine government to go abroad, it was learned today. They are Honorio Pueyrredon, former ambassador to the United States; Jose Tamborini, a former minister of the interior under the administration of Dr. Alvear, and Carlos Noel, formerly mayor of Buenos Aires.

FOUND DEAD NEAR TRACKS.

The body of an unidentified man about 50 years old was found yesterday on the right of way of the Milwaukee railroad at Campbell and Austin avenues. Death apparently had been due to natural causes.

EVANSTON BANK DEBTS ASSUMED BY PHILLIP STATE

Illinois State Deposits Guaranteed.

Officials of the Phillip State Bank and Trust company, Clark street and Lunt avenue, announced yesterday that the bank had assumed the deposit liabilities, amounting to $385,341, of the Illinois State bank, 319 Howard avenue, Evanston, effective next Thursday.

The Illinois State bank was closed by State Auditor Oscar Nelson on July 12. Its capital was $100,000 and its surplus, $15,000.

Barnet L. Rosset, chairman of the board, and C. A. Beutel, president of the Phillip bank, in announcing the assumption of the Illinois bank deposit liabilities, expressed confidence that the move would aid in restoration of confidence.

Called Act of Service.

"In assuming the deposit liabilities of the suspended bank, the Phillip State bank is in part fulfilling its obligation to the community of Rogers Park, which we consider a privilege to serve," read the statement of the officials.

"The fact that no Illinois State bank depositor will lose a penny of the balance he had on deposit in that institution when it suspended business should go far to restore local prosperity and confidence.

"State Auditor Oscar Nelson should be credited with having aided the two boards of directors to accomplish this most constructive move. It is the first of its kind since the period of public hysteria and resulting bank failures.

Would Reinstill Confidence.

"We hope that its success shall prove the incentive for other strong community banks to follow the example we are setting and thereby reinstill the confidence in Chicago banks that they are justly deserving.

"While we are not setting any restrictions or restraining clauses on Illinois State bank deposits, we anticipate that former depositors of that institution will show their appreciation of this helpful measure by rendering the Phillips State bank their full coöperation."

While the Illinois State bank was a comparatively new institution, the Phillip State bank has been conducting business for thirty-six years. The chairman, Mr. Rosset, is president of the Devon Trust and Savings bank.

YARDMASTER DIES OF INJURIES.

Samuel Monroe, 50 years old, 10629 Princeton avenue, yardmaster for the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad, died yesterday in the South Chicago hospital of injuries received July 10 when he was struck by the door of a moving boxcar.

INDIAN WOMAN'S STORY OF BABY IS DECLARED TRUTH

Chicagoan Says He Knew Parents.

Publication yesterday of the picture of the three year old girl who was brought to Chicago on Saturday from Rockford, where she was found in the care of an old Indian woman, brought at least a partial corroboration of the story told to police at Rockford by the squaw. Alfred West of 55 East Grand avenue called at the East Chicago avenue station to tell what he knew of the queerly assorted pair.

Some time ago, he declared, Mrs. Thompson took rooms at his lodging house at 156 East Chicago avenue, and lived there for about two months with the child, whom she calls Betty Florence Louise Fuller. During that time a couple whom he knew as Frank and Florence Fuller, and whom he believes were not married, came on frequent occasions to visit the two, and presumably paid for their care. Then suddenly and without explanation the Fullers disappeared, he said. He knew the man and woman as the parents of the little girl.

West told police he and his wife would adopt the child if they could. Both asserted that no more tender care could have been given the youngster than that lavished on her by her Indian guardian.

Officials at Rockford, who still are holding Mrs. Thompson for investigation, on the theory that she might have kidnaped the girl, were to be advised last night of the story of West and his wife. Meanwhile Betty Florence Louise remained at the Chicago Home for the Friendless, where she was placed Saturday by the Juvenile Protective association.

HANGS HIMSELF IN HOME.

Richard Balacka, 65 years old, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself in the attic of his home at 2120 Fremont street. Members of the family said he was subject to periods of insanity.

GRAF ZEPPELIN SPEEDS TOWARD FROZEN ARCTIC

Explorers Leave Leningrad on Polar Flight.

BULLETIN.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, July 27 (Monday).—(AP)—The Zeppelin works received a wireless report from the Graf Zeppelin just before midnight, giving her position as 80 degrees north latitude, longitude 43 east. This located the ship a considerable distance north of Archangel, near the Arctic circle.

LENINGRAD, Russia, July 26.—(AP)—Carrying Russian, German, and American scientists, the Graf Zeppelin tonight was speeding toward the arctic regions on a six day voyage of exploration and scientific study.

The giant airship, which set out from Leningrad at 11:10 a. m. today, expected to pass Archangel at 7 p. m. tonight, according to reports from the Tass agency, which said it had been in touch with the Zeppelin

To Meet Ice Breaker.

Just before the start Dr. Hugo Eckener, her commander, said he was leaving for the north fully confident of success and hoped to reach Franz Joseph Land within 24 hours unless the weather, which, according to the latest reports, was not favorable. In the neighborhood of Franz Joseph Land, Dr. Eckener added, the Graf Zeppelin will try to establish contact with the soviet ice breaker Maligin. The Maligin already is in the vicinity of Franz Joseph Land and has been informed by the wireless station on Rooker island that the entrance to the bay is free of ice.

The third arctic dirigible expedition in history carried 12 scientists, a photographer, two journalists and a Russian wireless operator, besides a regular crew of 30.

Headed by Prof. Rudolph Samoilovitch, Russian scientific director of the expedition, and Dr. Eckener, veteran commander of the Graf, the voyagers expect to cover approximately 7,000 miles on a cruise which is for the purpose of gathering meteorological and geographical data with a view to determining whether a regular dirigible route across the north pole is feasible.

Will Not Cross Pole.

No attempt will be made to cross the pole, however, the farthest north point on the journey being about 82 degrees latitude.

By working at night, as well as by day, in the perpetual northern daylight at this season of the year, the scientists hoped to crowd 12 ordinarly days' work into six.

A new pontoon arrangement makes it possible for the dirigible to alight on water, and several such descents to the ocean were contemplated, including one for the meeting with the Maligin, which is carrying scientists and tourists. Mail will be exchanged between the two vessels.

The Graf Zeppelin is expected back in Leningrad after five or six days.

Selah Clarke, Former City Editor of Sun, Dies at 80

CHIEF NORTON NURSES A PAIR OF SORE FEET

He Does His Duty Under Trying Conditions.

Because, his former friends charge, Otto Rendler dealt himself an ace off the bottom of the deck, he nursed a pair of black eyes and a battered head last night. Two of his ex-cronies nursed their woes in detective bureau cells. Chief of Detectives John Norton nursed a pair of sore feet, bruised when he sallied shoeless from his home, enrobed in a bedsheet, in response to Rendler's cries for help.

Rendler met Paul La Hirt, 434 Belden avenue; Martin McGinn, 119 West Chestnut street; and Joseph Shillig, 423 Belden avenue, for a pinochle party in La Hirt's home on Saturday night. Early yesterday the game changed to poker, with Rendler running the bank.

At Sunup Game's Still On.

The sun peeped over the horizon and the players, sleepy but determined, stuck to their game. Finally La Hirt noted, he said later, that Rendler was dealing himself aces. He invited Rendler to the door.

"You are dealing off the bottom," La Hirt said, and hit Rendler in the eye. Rendler shouted "Murder!" and ran up the street.

La Hirt and his two remaining guests were telling each other what they thought of fellows who deal off the bottom, when they recollected suddenly that in his hasty departure Rendler had failed to take up $18 worth of chips which they held. They jumped into a taxicab, and when Rendler reached his home at 6330 North Campbell avenue he found them waiting for him.

Other Eye Is Blackened.

La Hirt hit him in the other eye, one of the others hit him on the head with a piece of pipe, and between them they took the $18 away. All this time Rendler was yelling for help.

McGinn, Schillig and La Hirt were leaving when Chief of Detectives Norton burst on the scene from the front door of his home at 6345 North Campbell avenue. In his right hand he held his revolver. His left hand clutched the bed sheet which covered him, for it was a hot night for sleeping. Rendler's shouts had aroused him.

La Hirt, Schillig and McGinn took to their heels. Norton pursued, his sheet flapping behind. He fired a shot at them, which went wild, and then had to give up the chase because he cut his feet on the rough pavement. A detective squad arrested McGinn and La Hirt later, and set a watch for Schillig at his home.

Norton Glad He Missed.

"I'm glad I missed when I shot at them," Norton said later, after learning the particulars of the case. "If I had hit one of them, I'd have been in an awful pickle."

The chief apparently had in mind the order of Acting Commissioner Alcock, issued only a few days ago, instructing policemen to use their revolvers only against persons whom they were sure had committed felonies, or in defense of their own lives, and promising to dismiss any policeman involved in unnecessary gunplay.

Find Blaze in Garage Started with Gasoline

Fire, supposedly of incendiary origin, damaged a garage and stable building in the rear of 3031 Parnell avenue early yesterday morning to an estimated amount of $1,000. The building is owned by Sam Zambula, who lives in the front of the Parnell avenue address. Investigation showed that the fire was started with gasoline.

POST AND GATTY THRILL CROWD AT AVIATION SHOW

World Flyers Perform in Famous Plane.

Going aloft in their world-girdling plane, the Winnie Mae, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty performed for crowds at Curtiss airport yesterday as the high point in the closing events of the two day show staged by Aviation post 651, American Legion.

This morning the two famous flyers leave for Milwaukee, continuing on their country-wide tour which they will complete within a month. They arrived Saturday afternoon and spoke at a Midland club banquet in the evening.

Visit Disabled Veterans.

Most of their time yesterday was devoted to visiting the disabled veterans in the Edward Hines Jr. hospital at Maywood. They reached the hospital at 11:30 a. m. and spent several hours going through each ward, shaking hands with all the patients who wished to meet them and chatting at length with some. They dined at the hospital and reached the airport about 2:30 p. m.

A crowd of about 4,000 occupying the decks of the long hangars watching the stunt flying and racing cheered the flyers and watched with interest a little later as their white Lockheed-Vega monoplane was serviced for the exhibition flight.

Post, the pilot, inspected his ship with meticulous care while Gatty supervised the crew which swung the propellor with a leather tip on one of its points, which was flipped with a rope to start the motor. Post warmed the motor carefully for some minutes before taking off. In the air the big ship roared over the hangar at a low altitude and tore down past the crowd in an exhibition of speed flying.

Do Tricks in Air.

During the afternoon and evening, a score of planes did tricks for the spectators, the most spectacular flying being by Tex Rankin and Dorothy Hester of Portland, who put a small Great Lakes training plane through a routine of stunts at high altitudes.

Art Killip of LaGrange, flying a Waco pater-wig biplane won the 25 mile sportsmen's pilots' handicap race, outdistancing four competitors. Killip won the same race over the triangular, five lap course Saturday afternoon. Mel Skinner in another Waco won the dead stick landing contest. Slapstick was furnished by throwing a dummy from a plane and an ensuing rush for it by ambulances, police and a mock serious attempt at resuscitation.

Injured Flyer to Recover.

Night events included illuminated parachute jumping and flying. Saturday night, Jack Cope, veteran parachute jumper, suffered a bad fracture of his left leg when his chute opened only part way in a 2,700 foot jump and he landed in a field to the north of the stands.

Physicians at the St. Francis hospital, Evanston, said yesterday that he would recover.

Hines Hospital Dedicates Largest Flagway

Some of the 189 flags, each 4 feet by 6 feet, which will be placed in sockets along the driveway from the main gate to the administration building at the Edward Hines Jr. Veterans' hospital. The flags were presented by the La Grange post of the American Legion and the sockets by the Melrose Park post.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Flagway Is Dedicated at the Hines Hospital

Members of the La Grange and Melrose Park posts of the American Legion joined with inmates of the Edwards Hines Jr. hospital yesterday evening in dedicating the largest flagway in America on the hospital grounds. It contains 189 flags, each 4 by 6 feet, which are placed in sockets along the drive from the main gate to the administration building, ending in a circle around the plaza there.

90 Degrees in Los Angeles; Crowds Flock to Beaches

Los Angeles, Cal., July 26.—[Special.]—Record breaking crowds visited Southern California beaches today seeking relief from the intense heat and humidity. Los Angeles recorded a high of 90 degrees following Saturday's peak of 94. At Palmdale, interior town, the maximum was 110 degrees.

Chicago sweltered with the rest of the middle west yesterday and the weather forecaster gave no hope of relief from the heat wave for another forty-eight hours. The prediction for today and tomorrow is mostly fair and continued warm. In Chicago the mercury rose to an official maximum of 91 degrees at 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Richard Geleerd, 9 year old, 6835 Merrill avenue, was drowned at Sheridan beach in Michigan City. The boy had gone into the water a short time before his parents arrived at the beach from the hotel where they were spending a vacation. The first notice the crowd of bathers had of the accident was when one of them stepped on Richard's body under the water.

ILEANA MARRIES ARCHDUKE ANTON IN 'FAIRY' CASTLE

As the organ peals ended Bishop Cisar read in Latin the words of the Catholic marriage ceremony, handing, in due course the rings to the bridegroom, who placed one of them on the finger of the princess.

Archduke Anton's "yes" was in a voice scarcely audible, but Princess Ileana's was uttered in a loud, firm voice. In the course of the ceremony the papal envoy gave the couple the pope's blessing.

The princess wore white satin interwoven with threads of gold. On her head was a gold diadem surmounted by a large diamond. Her train, which was unusually long, was carried by two Girl Scouts, ten and seven years old.

Bridegroom in Evening Dress.

The bridegroom wore evening dress, with rather wide trousers, and on his breast was the Order of King Ferdinand.

After the wedding the young couple drove through the town in a carriage drawn by four horses. They were followed in a second carriage by King Carol, Queen Marie and Crown Prince Michael. They then drove to the cemetery and decorated the graves of enemy and allied dead.

All the guests attended a gala luncheon at 1 o'clock after which the young couple left for castle Bran in Transylvania. After several days at Bran they will proceed to London for a visit and then will fly to their castle at Freiburg, Germany.

NEW YORK GANG GUNS KILL TWO IN RUM RACKET

Beer Runner Is Wounded by Policeman.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Two gangsters whose recent activities, according to the police, have aroused the enmity of rival liquor rackets, met violent deatns today when a third was shot and critically wounded by a policeman who surprised him unloading a cargo of beer.

Joseph Martin, who had been arrested eight times for serious crimes in the last fourteen years, but who never had been convicted, was unable to escape so easily from the punishment of the underworld. He was found shot to death on Eastern boulevard, between Beech and Lawrence streets, the Bronx, this morning.

Body Wrapped in Papers.

His body had been wrapped in newspapers and his head rested on a lunch bag. Jacket which had been drawn over the face. He had been shot in the back of the head as he sat in an automobile, the police believe, and then, after his pockets had been carefully ransacked, he had been dropped where he was found.

Although Martin had been arrested at regular frequent intervals from 1918 to 1923 for crimes ranging from violent entry to robbery and extortion, he had not come into the hands of the police in the last three years. They believe he had turned to the alcohol racket and came to his death in a quarrel with some rival in the trade.

Killed by Six Bullets.

Anthony Leggio, 28, of Manhattan, also known as Anthony Cabodo, died in the Cumberland hospital in Brooklyn of six bullet wounds received during a fight in front of an alleged speakeasy on Skillman street in Brooklyn Saturday evening.

Police began a search for Tony Malise, with whom, they said, Leggio had been carrying on a feud over bootlegging "rights" in that section of the city. Leggio also had a long police record. He had been arrested eleven times since 1922 on charges ranging from homicide to disorderly conduct.

John Raffo, 27, of Brooklyn was wounded in a revolver duel with a patrolman this morning as he was helping load a cargo of liquor onto a truck.

GUNMAN KILLED BY MINE UNION VICE PRESIDENT

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 27 [Monday] (AP)—P. T. Fagan, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, early today shot and killed a man who approached him on the front porch of his home, drew a pistol and announced that he had been sent to kill Fagan.

Police said two men approached Fagan as he was eating a lunch with members of his family. Fagan fired three times at the man and he crumpled on the lawn.

A companion of the man who was slain was captured a short time later by police when he threatened a taxicab driver.

The body of the slain man, as yet unidentified, was removed to the morgue. His companion gave his name as Edward Snyder of Fleming, Pa. He told police he was a coal miner.

STATE GROUPS IN LONDON TO STUDY CRIMINAL CODE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 26.—The Illinois legislative commission which was authourized May 28 to study probation, parole and prison systems of other countries, in order to apply their conclusions to betterment of the Illinois system, will settle down tomorrow to a study of the courts, prisons and criminal code of Great Britain.

FRED E. STERLING.
[Acme Photo.]

The commission, headed by Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, arrived in London yesterday.

Particular attention will be given by the commission to British treatment of the always troublesome questions of suspended sentences, paroles and probation. Meanwhile, the commission will study the prohibition question, which is particularly vital to Illinois because violations of prohibition laws have done much to fill the jails and penitentiaries of that state.

The commission is composed of both state senators and representatives. Four are listed as "drys," and six as "wets." They are accompanied by Judges Denis E. Sullivan and Harry M. Fisher, who, with Senator Thomas Courtney, are members of the Illinois judicial advisory committee.

Bandits Force Girl Cashier to Open Safe; Take $500

Without attracting the attention of several patrons and waiters, two young bandits yesterday forced Miss Edna Ryan, 1228 Albion avenue, cashier in the John R. Thompson restaurant at 220 South Clark street, to open a safe and hand over $500. Pocketing the cash and their guns, they walked leisurely out of the restaurant and disappeared.

START TODAY ON BIGGEST JOB OF KIND IN WORLD

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—The largest building project in the history of the world will begin tomorrow when excavation is started for Radio City, the site for which is three blocks bounded by 5th and 6th avenues and 48th and 51st streets.

Eight steam shovels, 100 trucks and 300 men will be on hand, while jobs for 5,000 are in view.

The plan is sponsored by John D. Rockefeller Jr., and will provide New York with a 250 million dollar musical and entertainment center, besides office buildings.

Justice Hatting of the Supreme court handed down a decision yesterday denying the application of Leo Ross, as president of House Wreckers' union, No. 95, for a temporary injunction to restrain Albert A. Volk Co., Inc., from employing laborers other than members of the union in the demolition work of the properties on this site.

Justice Hatting said the union asked, in "a most mandatory manner," that the Volk company discharge all employés on the Radio City demolition work and on other jobs who are not members of the union.

MORGAN CROSSES SEA IN 7 DAYS; IS YACHT RECORD

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 26.—J. P. Morgan's steam yacht Corsair, 2,050 tons, one of the most luxurious vessels of her kind, dropped anchor in Southampton water at 10:35 this morning after making what the owner believed to be the record voyage, for a yacht, of seven days, seven hours, across the Atlantic from Newport Reef to the Needles, Isle of Wright.

"It has been a wonderful time," said Mr. Morgan. "This is the second time I have crossed the Atlantic in the Corsair this year, and seven days seven hours is undoubtedly our best time."

Mr. Morgan declined to say whether any speed had been put on to enable him to take a hand in Europe's financial reconstruction.

"I have really come over for a vacation," he said. "I am going first to my estate, Wall house, Watford, about eight miles north of London, and then I hope to go to Scotland for some shooting, but really, I have no definite plans."

Walks Along Niagara Falls Crest, Swept to His Death

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 26.—(AP)—An unidentified man early today walked along the crest of the horseshoe falls and was swept over the brink to his death." The man started from the American side and took about 25 steps before he was caught by the current and tossed over the cataract.

HOOVER POLICY TO MARK END OF U. S. ISOLATION?

Consequences Admitted by Friends and Foes.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 26.—[Special.]—That President Hoover's new program of international policies is fraught with far reaching consequences to the world generally, to the United States particularly, and to the President's political future most particularly, appears to be the common opinion not only of those who point to it with pride but of those who view it with alarm.

There is nothing upon which there is so much speculation among politicians today as there is upon the implications and the possible results of the leadership the President has essayed in dealing with world problems. Even the endless permutation of prospective presidential tickets in 1932 has given place, temporarily, at least, to political crystal gazing invoked to foretell the outcome of Mr. Hoover's debt moratorium and Mr. Hoover's ambition to coax or coerce Europe into a program of disarmament.

The step taken by the President in proposing a one year holiday in the payment of German reparations and allied war debts is being hailed by his friends and foes alike as a turning point in world history, signalizing the abandonment of the traditional American policy of isolation from European affairs. They are quite sure that Uncle Sam being now in the European puddle ever his boot tops will never get out again.

Applauded by Apologists.

Thus the Hoover policy is applauded most vociferously by the eastern Republicans whose cast of thought is profoundly influenced by the international banking groups and other internationalists. In such quarters the American policy of isolation has always been referred to in an apologetic vein, possibly not unrelated to the fact that isolation—for America—is unfashionable in London at present. Times have changed since England pridefully vaunted her policy of "splendid isolation."

No less laudatory of the new Hoover policy are the Democrats, though with tongue in cheek they strive to capitalize politically what the Democratic national committee proclaims the eleventh hour conversion of the President to the Wilsonian creed of American participation in European affairs.

With the wish probably father to the thought, the internationalists already are visualizing the step taken by the President in invoking a debt holiday and in participating in the London conference on the German crisis as the opening wedge to cancellation of reparations and war debts and the eventual entering of the United States into not only the world court but the league of nations. None could be relied upon so confidently, in their opinion, to guide the country to this goal as Mr. Hoover, who originally was a disciple of President Wilson and an advocate of American membership in the league of nations.

An Optimistic View.

Defenders of the President assert, on the other hand, that nothing is farther from Mr. Hoover's thoughts than the entanglement of the United States in European affairs. They deny that the Hoover moratorium and American participation in the London conference are significant of any departure from American policy. They stress the fact that Mr. Hoover instructed Messrs. Stimson and Mellon to hold themselves aloof from the discussion of European political questions.

Those who hold a brief for the administration argue that Mr. Hoover is proceeding on the theory that it is possible for the United States to participate in the solution of European economic problems, which to a degree are also American economic problems, without becoming entangled in the political mazes of European affairs. They cite the President's pregnant remark to the International Christian Endeavor to the effect that "national independence is not incompatible with international understanding."

Whether the prophets of weal or of woe shall be vindicated by the event it is apparent that the grand showdown on the wisdom or folly of the program of foreign policies upon which Mr. Hoover has embarked is destined to materialize on the eve of the presidential election next year and conceivably will affect Mr. Hoover's fortunes in the contest in which he will be a candidate for another term in the White House.

Crisis at Convention Time.

The one year moratorium on reparations and war debts will expire June 30, at which time the Republican national convention presumably will have just adjourned after renominating Mr. Hoover and the Democratic national convention will be in session. For weeks before that time the question of the ability of Germany to resume the payment of reparations will have been a burning subject of debate by the powers, including the United States.

If the economic condition of Germany shall not have improved materially the question before the powers will be that of an extension of the moratorium, in default of which there will loom the possibility of Germany declaring a moratorium independently under the provisions of the Young plan.

Hoover's Fate with Germany?

If Germany were to declare a moratorium, Great Britain, France, and Italy doubtless would declare a moratorium on their war debts under the provisions of the debt settlements. In that event there would be increased agitation for a revision downward of reparations and war debt settlements, of which German would be the chief beneficiary and the United States, as chief creditor, would be the principal victim.

If, however, Germany appears able to resume reparations payments, and particularly if prosperity, in a measurable degree, shall have returned to the United States the President will be adjudged by the political augurs to be the gainer politically.

It is by virtue of such considerations that many politicians view the President's course as a daring gamble on a single throw of the dice. If prosperity returns, he wins, if it does not, he loses, according to a wide-spread view, even among Republican leaders.

NAVY TO SOUND GREAT BARTLETT DEEP FOR EARTHQUAKE DATA

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—The navy plans to sound the great Bartlett deep in the Caribbean sea between the Bay of Honduras and Guantanamo, Cuba, in search of important data bearing on Central American earthquakes. This huge trough in the bottom of the sea, 1,000 miles long, 50 to 60 miles across and of uncertain depth, is known to be an earthquake center and stands as the missing link in the calculations on such earthquakes as the one which ruined the Nicaraguan capital, Managua, on March 31.

Until the land miles below the surface in the area between Cuba and Honduras has been accurately determined it is impossible to determine whether the United States made a good investment in purchasing the proposed Nicaragua canal site.

Scattered soundings in the Bartlett deep indicate a general depth of about three and one-half miles.

LOSS OF ALL HER COLONIES ADDS TO GERMANY'S WOES

Stripped by Allies of Every Possession.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 26.—In all the discussion of Germany's woes, none of the doctors who would find a cure have mentioned that her loss of territory resulting from the peace treaties at the end of the war is probably more responsible than the cash reparation payments exacted from her for her present poverty. No suggestion has been made for the return of these territories.

Germany was stripped of her colonies by the peace treaties, and today does not own a foot of ground outside Europe. She also lost large portions of her European territory, such as Alsace and Lorraine, Eupen and Malmedy, Silesia and the Dantzig corridor. These European territories were handed over to her enemies and incorporated in their boundaries.

Loses Overseas Colonies.

Her overseas colonies were dealt with under the "mandate system," by which title was taken by the league of nations and then the territories farmed out under "mandates" to various nations. Theoretically, the mandatory powers don't own the territories they administer, but no one would know it if he were not told. In practice they are run much as any other colonies.

Britain alone of the victorious European allies gained no integral increase of territory such as those mentioned above. Indeed, Great Britain herself didn't even get a mandate over the former German territories, but her dominions did pretty well out of the breakup of Germany's overseas estate.

The mandates were not included in the peace treaties. These only provided for the spoliation of Germany. The division of the loot took place later and was conducted by the supreme council of the allies on May 7, 1919.

Africa Split Up.

The British empire's share was the enormous German territories in Africa, now known as South West Africa, Cameroon and Togoland, large island possessions in the Pacific. From Turkey she got Palestine and Iraq. The Cameroon territory was divided between France and the British empire, the latter's share being 31,000 square miles and 700,000 inhabitants, which were later turned over to the government of Rhodesia and Kenya to administer.

South West Africa, with 322,000 square miles and 259,000 inhabitants, went to the Union of South Africa, as did also part of Togoland with 13,600 square miles and 158,000 persons.

Australia got New Guinea, with 89,-252 square miles and 458,000 people; Western Samoa, 1,250 square miles and 45,000 people, and Nauru, with ten square miles and 2,020 people.

Natives Complain of Treatment.

Even under the very loose supervision of the league there has been trouble with South Africa and Australia, the natives and German settlers declaring that they were treated not as wards of the league but as subjects of the mandatory powers. In fact it is hard to tell the difference.

In the case of Turkey, Great Britain got direct mandates for Palestine and Iraq. Palestine she still keeps and is likely to keep for a long time to come, first because of its strategic importance and second, because of the apparent impossibility of setting up a native government which could keep the peace between the Arab and Jewish inhabitants.

Iraq, which proved a somewhat difficult problem in government and which had no particular value, has been set up as an independent state. It may be objected that Iraq was valuable because of its oil deposits. These were all arranged under unbreakable contracts before Iraq was given her independence and now belong to Britain, France, and the United States.

With the exception of the oil contracts, all the mandates have been an expense rather than an asset to the British empire. Palestine certainly has cost money and grief and has brought in nothing except a feeling of security, or rather of future security, should relations with Egypt endanger control of the Suez canal. Iraq cost a lot of money to pacify but probably the British, French, and American beneficiaries of the oil partition thought it was worth it.

The value of the African and Pacific colonies is all in the future. So far the mandatory dominions probably have spent more on them than they have got back, but they offer great possibilities for European settlement and for the production of tropical produce.

This, observers declare, makes the present position particularly unjust. Germany needs an outlet for her surplus population, while Britain and her dominions have more land than they need or can fill for a century to come. Similarly Britain has all the tropical farm land that she can use or is likely to use for generations.

FRANCE PROFITS GREATLY

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 26.—The debt moratorium which France is so reluctantly granting to Germany at America's suggestion does not take into account the German colonies turned over to France by the Versailles treaty, colonies which, if Germany could have retained them, undoubtedly would have contributed to her prosperity and would have made her financial position less precarious than it is.

Notable among the lands torn from Germany by France are Alsace and Lorraine, whose loss through the Franco-Prussian war French patriotism has been bewailing ever since. Alsace-Lorraine, particularly Alsace, are certainly more German than French. A visit to these provinces will speedily convince any but the blindest French nationalist that that is so, from language, which is a German patois, to architecture.

The Saar valley, too, remains in France's hands for the time being, although a plebiscite is scheduled in 1935 to determine the population's wishes as to whether they will return to the fatherland or take up with France.

Belgium Gets Her Share.

A bit farther still to the north are the tiny communes of Eupen and Malmedy, which Belgium took from the beaten Germans.

As for the German colonies in Africa, France got part of the Cameroons and a two-thirds slice of Togoland. This is now attached to French Dahomey. It was the only German colony that was self-supporting. Germany also under the Versailles treaty recognized the French protectorate in Morocco.

That part of French equatorial Africa, 107,270 square miles, ceded to Germany in return for the German acknowledgement of the French protectorate in Morocco in 1911 was restored to France by the Versailles treaty.

That part of the Cameroons not returned to France was by the treaty of Versailles placed under a French mandate and, by a decree of March 28, 1921, has been constituted an autonomous territory.

ITALY DOES WELL

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 26.—Besides the 200,000,000 lire annually which she gets as clean as velvet, representing the difference between what she has to pay out as war debts and what she gets from Germany, Italy came out of the late war with a fair amount of swag in the way of valuable new territory.

Besides what she got she is still agitating for the entire coast of Dalmatia, thus linking up Fiume with Albania, and also for a new division of mandates over former German and Turkish possessions in Africa and the near East, which she charges that France and England hogged between themselves, excluding Italy.

What Italy Got.

Besides the 200,000,000 lire cash profit annually, Italy got the following booty from the war:

1. About 6,900 square miles of territory inhabited by more than two million people lying along her northeast frontier. This territory includes the rich Tyrolean city of Bolzano, or Bozen, and the great pleasure resort city of Meran, or Merano; besides, it includes the great port of Trieste on the Adriatic, and the port of Fiume. These territories along the Austrian and Serbian frontiers are not only rich and valuable in themselves, but they have an inestimable strategic value. They straighten out her frontier and make it more easily defended, leaving only four mountain passes through which an enemy could approach. From a military point of view this new frontier alone made the war a profitable one, even if Italy had got nothing else.

2. Acknowledgement and confirmation of her claims to Rhodes and the Dodecanese islands, which she seized from the Turks in 1912.

3. Rectification of the frontier of Jubaland, in Africa, which was accorded Italy by England.

4. Zara, a town of 13,000 people on the Dalmatian coast, with a 6 mile hinterland and 4 islands of the archipelago running along the coast of Dalmatia.

Refuses to Return Territory.

Italy does not propose to remit any of this territory to its former owners, although it is admitted out and out that the reason for taking such districts as Bolzano and the Trentino were purely strategic.

STIMSON TALKS TO GERMANS OVER TABLE IN A CAFE

What They Discussed Is Kept a Secret.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 26.—Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Ambassador Frederic M. Sackett of the United States today held an earnest discussion over the luncheon table of a public café overlooking Wannsee, Berlin's popular lake playground, with Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius.

FREDERICK M. SACKETT.

The topic of conversation was not revealed. Reporters were kept at a safe distance from the "diplomatic" table in order that their words might not be overheard. German reporters did their best to learn if Mr. Stimson sampled any German wine.

Stimson Has Busy Day.

Mr. Stimson's only full day in Berlin was devoted to a variegated program. He went sightseeing, conducted semi-official business and visited informally with the heads of the German government. Tonight he was guest at a dinner given by Chancellor Bruening. Members of the cabinet, prominent industrialists and financiers were present, since Mr. Stimson had expressed a desire to meet as many of them as possible during his short stay here.

After breakfast Secretary Stimson, accompanied by Ambassador Sackett, visited the Berlin museum and inspected the famous temple of Pergamon, unearthed by German archaeologists after 12 years' work.

Upon their return to the American embassy, the two were whisked away by Chancellor Bruening and Minister Curtius to Potsdam, where they visited Sans Souci, the summer palace of Frederick the Great, and the palace where Wilhelm II spent summers before he fled into exile.

After their luncheon on the terrace at Wannsee, conversations between the Americans and Germans were resumed at Wilhelmstrasse.

Secretary Stimson will be received by President Von Hindenburg at noon tomorrow and soon thereafter he will go to Rotterdam, embarking for London late tomorrow night.

MacDonald Off for Berlin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 26.—The postponed "Chequers" visit, which was called off a week ago when the Paris and London whirligig put an end to what was officially to have been only a "courtesy" call is taking place at last. Cancelling tomorrow's scheduled golf trip because of bad weather, Prime Minister MacDonald left for Berlin on tonight's train. He was preceded by Foreign Secretary Henderson. Baron Maltzan, Constantin von Neurath, the German ambassador in London, saw Mr. MacDonald off.

Dutch to Maintain Credits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THE HAGUE, Holland, July 26.—At the request of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, the Netherlands State bank has asked Dutch bankers to follow the American and British example of maintaining for the present all outstanding credits in Germany. The Amsterdam Bankers' association has decided to observe the government's request to pay all German drafts.

SMITH TO FIGHT FOR WET PLANK IN '32 PLATFORM

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, standard bearer of his party in the last national election, will insist upon an unequivocally wet plank in the Democratic platform in 1932, and will make that the focal point of his negotiations within the party ranks, it was said today.

Mr. Smith, who has been keeping his views on prohibition and all other subjects allied to politics much to himself recently, planned, it was said, to make a strong fight, with John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, for adoption of a dripping wet plank and for the nomination of only such a candidate as would stand upon that kind of plank.

Friends of the former governor keep reiterating that he will not be a candidate.

MISSING BOY, 14, IS SOUGHT.

The police have been asked to search for Bruno Broeder, 14 years old, who left his home at 5015 North Springfield avenue several days ago to look for a job and failed to return.

MICHIGAN AVE. and MONROE STREET

TWO COPS MUST PASS THIS HOME AT EVERY HOUR

While Another Place Has Guard for Lawn.

Edward H. Hicks, 4646 Kenmore avenue, likes to know that the police are watching over him.

JOHN SCULLY.

Every hour on the hour the traffic policeman stationed at Wilson avenue and Broadway must leave his post and walk slowly past Mr. Hicks' house and every hour on the half hour the traffic policeman at Leland avenue and Broadway has to perform the same duty.

The trips are made on a standing order at the Town Hall station. According to policemen there, Mr. Hicks also calls frequently for flivver squads to come and inspect his property.

Dogs Damage Another Lawn.

It is from the Town Hall station, also, that former Ald. John E. Scully gets protection for his lawn, which has been damaged by dogs. A new post was created recently along his street and the man on the midnight shift still has his orders to see Mr. Scully "at 6:30 a. m. each day until such time as his complaint concerning unlicensed and unmuzzled dogs running at large is remedied."

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock, who has issued orders designed to take all the loafing out of the policeman's life and to reduce all details that are not actually working at outside police duties, has explained that the dogs bothering Mr. Scully at 647 Junior terrace were not the basis for the creation of the new post.

Commissioner Alcock said that there had been burglaries in the former alderman's neighborhod and that the police post from Montrose avenue to Junior terrace east of Clarendon avenue was established. He added that Mr. Scully was greatly interested in the police and had always insisted that the force do regular police work.

"No Request About Dogs."

"He never made any request to me to keep dogs away from his house," continued the acting commissioner, "and I did not detail any one there for dog watching. If there was any complaint about dogs I suppose it would be handled by an investigation in the usual maner without a detail."

Also, Commissioner Alcock declared, he has instructed the police captains to send all men listed as "assisting captain's secretary," "assisting desk sergeant" or "working on station records" back to street duty. An exception is made in favor of six stations where paper work is heaviest.

Mr. Hicks, however, still gets a call a half hour and Mr. Scully's lawn is watched. Besides, the Town Hall station sends a policeman every night to the Wilson avenue elevated station, where he boards a money car that runs to Niles Center and then back to the loop. He guards the receipts gathered by the Rapid Tranit lines. The trip requires three and a half hours each day.

WIFE ASKS SEARCH FOR HUSBAND.

Russell Bay, 27 years old, has been missing from his home at 7309 South Oakley avenue since Friday and his wife has asked the police to search for him.

AUTO SUSPECT FINDS SUSPECT WHILE IN JAIL

Max Richard Fleig, 943 Sheridan road, was arrested on Saturday and charged with receiving stolen property, after police found that the car which he was driving was stolen. He persisted in the assertion, however, that he had a bill of sale for the automobile, for which he had paid a man he knew as Frank Ryan $350.

Yesterday he was led into the bureau of identification at the detective bureau. He stopped when he saw another prisoner in the place and seized the arm of the policeman who had him in custody.

"There," he whispered, "that's Ryan, the fellow who sold me my car."

"Ryan" proved to be Edward Fitzgerald, 2113 Ogden avenue, who had been picked up on suspicion and sent to the bureau of identification to determine if he had a criminal record.

ASK HUNT FOR MISSING GIRL.

The police were asked yesterday to search for Helen Schridfer, 20 years old, who disappeared on Saturday from her home at 2220 South Oakley avenue.

The foremost coutouriers were very partial to coats. The copies are here, the details that Bruyere originated—the new way of Vionnet's diagonals, Lanvin's youthful lines. Even their use of furs with fabrics is followed—Patou's sable, Augustabernard's seal, Marthe Rene's choice in rust fox.

So, we believe that the full significance of our statement will be understood when we say the values in this Annual Sale of Coats are the outstanding ones of years.

COURT OFFICIALS' DEFIANCE OF PAY CUT ROILS MAYOR

Cermak Back from East with Fire in Eyes.

Mayor Cermak returned to Chicago last night after nearly a week's visit in the east. There was fire in his eye as he alighted from the City of Benton Harbor at Navy pier, in the midst of a crowd which waited to welcome him.

The fire was generated by reports that some of the Municipal court judges and officials of the court had challenged his plan to dock all municipal employés two weeks' pay in so far as the plan applies to them. It is the view of the court officials that the Municipal court, being established by the state, is not subject to the city cut.

"I believe they'll be willing to take their vacation without pay," remarked the mayor pointedly, referring to the judges and court officials and employés. "There's no money to pay them, so what are they going to do about it?"

Must Cut Expenses, He Says.

The mayor made other remarks relative to the financial stringency of the city. They covered all departments, including the board of education. His general tone was that all tax supported bodies must retrench. "There is no alternative," declared Mr. Cermak. "The cost of government must go down. The way to do it is to reduce expenses."

In reference to the refusal of Municipal court officials to join the payless vacation, Mayor Cermak stated that money allotted to the court comes from the same source as that to other branches, except the courts have jurisdiction over the fund allotted to them.

"Every city employé should be glad to take a vacation without pay, for after all, he has a job," asserted Mayor Cermak. "Today, a salary of eleven and one-half months is better than a salary of thirteen months a year ago. Costs have dropped, and a dollar will buy more. Moreover, it should be realized that city departments which save this year may be able to employ more help next year."

Governed by Revenue.

According to the mayor municipal expenses must be governed by revenue. "The city council cannot appropriate more than is available, although the present appropriation is now above available revenue. The appropriation now is 91 per cent of the estimated revenue, while it is apparent, the mayor said, not more than 75 per cent of the revenue will be collected. Property taxes in the future, he said, probably will be reduced 30 per cent in addition. This observation prompted his remark that the cost of government must go down.

Asked about the financial hopes of the school board, Mayor Cermak declared bluntly that the board must "forget its squandermania of the past" and satisfy the governor's finance commission that it will conduct its future affairs in a businesslike way. The commission is the board's only salvation, he said.

Back from Eastern Tour.

The mayor's return last night followed a tour of the east in which he met Gov. Roosevelt of New York, and other political leaders. The governor promised $100,000 and perhaps more for the World's Fair, Mr. Cermak said. Their conference concerned relief rather than presidential possibilities, he added.

The mayor and his party stopped off at Holland, Mich., over the week-end. Among those who returned with him last night were Ald. Jacob Arvey of the 24th ward, and Moe Rosenberg.

APPRAISAL DIRECTOR SELECTS 4 FOR HIS STAFF OF EXPERTS

Charles E. Fox, new director of appraisals for the board of assessors, yesterday announced the names of four men whom he will propose today to the board as the first of the successors to the fifteen experts who resigned when Harry Cutmore, former director, was dismissed.

CHARLES E. FOX. [Kaufman & Fabry Photo.]

Under the proposal William George Merritt, who formerly was with Cutmore, returns to the land department as acting superintendent. Roger E. Appleyard, a real estate and appraisal expert, is suggested as senior deputy land appraiser. Bernard R. Klekamp, architect and partner in the firm of Klekamp and Whitmore, and David Kinnett, who was associated for fifteen years with the national firm of Coats and Burchard, appraisers and engineers, will study the revision of the new manual for the quadrennial assessment with special attention to the building costs.

All the men have signified their willingness to begin work immediately after receiving the approval of the board.

"All the men," Fox declared, "have been picked with an eye to their own specialties. All of them are acknowledged to be among the most capable men in the city."

VANISHES ON WAY TO WORK.

Louis Reich, 52 years old, 7259 South Oakley avenue, left for work yesterday but never reached his place of employment, a daughter told police in asking them to search for him.

ALD. CLARK SEES CITY CRIPPLED BY 15 PER CENT CUT

A reduction of 15 per cent in Chicago's municipal expenses can be had only by the cutting down of services which are now being rendered, in the opinion of Ald. John S. Clark, chairman of the council finance committee. Ald. Clark's views were sent to THE TRIBUNE yesterday in a telegram from Rochester, Minn., where he is in the Mayo clinic.

The 15 per cent of corporate expense, according to J. L. Jacobs, the mayor's efficiency expert, can be saved without cutting down services.

After stating that he would be glad to coöperate in reduction of taxes on real estate, the alderman stated a belief that $1,000,000 was the utmost saving that could be made with continuance of present services and present salaries. Mr. Jacobs' figure as the saving would be $10,000,000.

"If the annual corporate expense is cut $10,000,000," continued Ald. Clark, "it would cripple the most important public services and could not be put into effect without affecting the police, firemen, street and alley cleaning, and street lighting. The fourteen day pay reduction is not a part of this difference of opinion, because the ordinance as passed releases employés from work for the days they are not to be paid."

2 Slain and 2 Wounded in Brawl at Berry Camp

HOSPITAL LIFE BECOMES HABIT; IN FOR 29TH TIME

Atlanta, Ga., July 26.—[U. P.]—A. C. Murdock, who had been in a hospital 28 times previously for one reason or another, underwent an operation for appendicitis today.

The other 28 accidents and operations included a bandit bullet wound received in Nicaragua, a rare fever suffered in Savannah, Ga., when his temperature, he claims, rose to 109 degrees; an automobile crash here in 1926, when a power line fell across his car; a motorcycle crash in Philadelphia, and an automobile accident in the same city.

A broken back, a plane crash in Texas and another in Florida, and a train wreck also were reasons for hospital visits.

TAX SALES FOR THIRD OF COUNTY REALTY DELAYED

Action Scheduled for Today Deferred.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Sale of property in Cook county for 1929 taxes, delinquent to the amount of more than $72,000,000, scheduled to begin this morning, has been deferred because of delay in court. When that sale finally starts, which will be after judgment has been obtained against the delinquents, more than a third of all of the real estate in the county, in actual value, will be offered to the bidders.

Of the $202,174,482 in taxes levied on real estate for the tax year of 1929, $72,347,000—or 35.7 percent—will be offered for sale. So far as the available records disclose this is the largest in the history of Cook county, both in amount and percentage. It compared with approximately $57,000,000 of the 1928 offered last year, of which the tax buyers took less than 10 per cent. They estimate that they will buy less than one-seventieth of the 1929 offerings, starting this morning.

Forfeited to State.

The property, which the tax buyers will not purchase, is technically forfeited to the state, but, according to records of past years, that does not bring in the taxes within any reasonable period. A person whose property is forfeited to the state usually lets the state carry it until years afterward, when it sufficiently increases in value to warrant paying the penalties in order to reclaim a clear title.

In Rogers Park—Chicago's north and residence area—more than half of the 1929 real estate taxes, due May 15 last, have not been paid. It is the most delinquent of all of the townships within the city, although Lakeview—just to the south of it—is a close competitor. In Lakeview 50.55 percent of the taxes have been paid, while in Rogers Park the percentage is 48.15.

Data to Revenue Commission.

In order to obtain as much informative material as practicable on "why people have not paid their taxes" County Treasurer McDonough has had a detailed analysis made of all of the property in Rogers Park on which taxes have not been paid. This data, completed yesterday by Chief Clerk Otto Woerter, will be transmitted this morning to the revenue commission, headed by Joseph K. Brittain.

The tabulation shows that 3,862 owners have not paid in their township. This delinquency aggregates $2,396,239.64, which is 51.85 per cent of the taxable real estate value of Rogers Park.

Of the total delinquents among these real estate owners more than half own small property on which the taxes are $300 or less per property. Nearly two-thirds of the delinquents, who pay less than $500 a year in taxes, represent about one-fifth of the property, in value, on which taxes have not been paid.

The county treasurer has compiled elaborate data showing for each tax volume in the town the number of persons who pay $300 a year or less in taxes and the total of their taxes which remain unpaid. This same data has been collected and tabulated for seven other groups of real estate owners, according to the amount of taxes each pays.

Groups—	No. of delinq. owners.	Delinq. taxes.
Under $300	1,287	$244,165
$301 to $500	586	226,945
$501 to $1,000	595	400,623
$1,001 to $1,500	303	317,583
$1,501 to $2,500	290	443,067
$2,501 to $5,000	138	448,177
$5,001 to $10,000	30	100,536
Over $10,000	5	98,160
Totals	3,862	$2,396,239

The table indicates that apparently the delinquency is prevalent among all classes of property owners.

WEST PARK BOARD PAYS ALL SALARIES AND DEBTS TO DATE

Employés and creditors of the west park board have been paid all that is due them following a temporary financial tie-up of park board funds during the last two weeks, James J. Cullen, commissioner and auditor of the board, announced yesterday.

The 1,100 employés of the board on Saturday received two pay checks each, covering salaries for a month. Mr. Cullen said, while the current debts were paid up to July 1. Another pay day will fall due Aug. 7, when, according to Mr. Cullen, funds will be on hand to meet it.

"We held up the pay checks temporarily in order to avoid cutting our funds too low," said Mr. Cullen. "We have had $300,000 in 1929 tax money in hand, but it had to be used to redeem outstanding anticipation warrants. We are now paid up to date on everything."

$600 - Loans - $600

Here is a comparative illustration of how we loan $600 . . . if secured by comakers, where 2 friends sign your note . . . . or if secured by collateral, where you pledge marketable securities.

	COMAKER	COLLATERAL
You give a note for 12 months	$600	$600
We deduct from the face of the note
Discount (12 months)	42	36
Fee	5	None
You receive the difference between the face of the note and the charge	553	564
To guarantee the payment of the note you deposit in a savings account each month	50	50
You accumulate in the savings fund an amount sufficient to pay the note when it falls due	600	600

Loans are made for shorter periods than 12 months—but not beyond. No loans are made "on demand" or on a "30-60-90" day basis.

When loans are made for less than 12 months, the discount is computed for the number of months the note has to run; the discount deducted on a $600.00 comaker note given for 6 months would be at the rate of 7% per annum, or $21.00; and on a collateral note at the rate of 6% per annum, or $18.00.

The fee on comaker loans is $1.00 for each $50.00 borrowed, regardless of the time for which the note has been given, with a maximum fee of $5.00. There is no fee on collateral loans.

There is no interest accruing on notes until after maturity, so that the first charge is the only charge for the loan if made and paid according to the terms.

If loans are paid before maturity we return a portion of the discount, but we do not rebate any part of the fee.

If notes are given for less than 12 months, the payments are divided into equal monthly payments; in a $600.00 transaction on a 6-month basis, the savings fund payments are $100.00 a month.

Payments may be made on a semi-monthly basis if preferred. Whether monthly or semi-monthly, we require that these payments be made promptly.

$600 is taken as illustration because it is an amount commonly requested. Any other amount from $50 to $5,000 is loaned on the same relative terms.

MADISON & CLARK CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

DEBT BURDENED SCHOOLS HUNT REMEDY TODAY

Trustees Will Consider Economy Plans.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Chicago school board's floating debts have reached a total of $101,482,730, and the board is in the market to borrow $34,000,000 more.

A large part of the $101,400,000 of debts is secured by tax anticipation warrants, another part by participation certificates in a trust composed of tax warrants, and the remainder is composed of unpaid bills and overdue salaries, some of which are delinquent four months.

Paying of the warrants depends on the collection of taxes. Not enough taxes have been gathered in to pay off all of the 1928 warrants, less than 65 per cent of the 1929 taxes have been collected and the 1930 taxes have not yet been levied.

Consider Economy Moves Today.

The prospect of paying the back salaries to teachers and janitors and the bills of supply men and contractors hinges on the board's ability to sell more tax anticipation warrants, which buyers so far have refused until the board pays some of its old debts.

Under these conditions, the board meets today to decide whether it will trim expenses, other than the elimination of one Lincoln, four Packards and four Buicks, which have been purchased, operated and maintained for the accommodation of the trustees.

The board voted at its last meeting to abolish the autos for trustees at an annual saving of $20,500. The taxpayers have been hiring chauffeurs at $200 a month each to drive the trustees around "to the schools."

President Myers has recommended that $3,620,065 additional be saved, and last week it was reported the trustees had agreed to eliminate about $2,400,000. Since then, however, there has been a joint meeting of the five unions of teachers and the janitors' and engineers' unions who have threatened to persuade the trustees to oppose this retrenchment.

Debts Are Tabulated.

In floating debts represented by tax anticipation warrants and interest on them, which is cash which was spent in 1928, 1929 and 1930, and a small amount in 1931, the board owed on July 1, according to its books, the following sums:

Year.	Tax warrants.	Interest.
1928	$ 8,510,000	$ 619,306
1929	25,000,000	2,894,580
1930	48,290,000	2,455,063
1931	436,300	2,908
Totals	$78,965,300	$6,174,997

Of these tax warrants the public is holding $47,894,000 and the surplus and trust funds of the city are holding the other $11,371,300. To this tax warrant debt can safely be attached $752,748 more in interest before the schools open again in September. The schools pay the public 6 per cent and the city's surplus funds 4 per cent.

To this debt of $85,140,297 must be added unpaid bills and overdue salaries [unsecured except $1,200,000], which may be summarized as follows, as of July 1:

Salaries and Wages.

Employes.	Amount due.
Regular teachers	$ 7,300,338
Substitute teachers	368,900
Playground attendants	368,900
Community center	61,139
Building construction	420,056
Other civil service	1,854,912
Total	$ 10,318,478

Vouchered Bills.

From account.	Amount due.
Educational	$ 1,977,544
Building	3,023,632
Playground	148,126
Text book	534,977
Total	$ 5,684,253

Summary of Totals.

Owed on.	Amount.
Tax warrants	$ 78,965,300
Interest on warrants	6,174,997
Salaries and wages	10,318,478
Vouchered bills	5,683,253
Grand total	$101,482,730

At the pace the school board is going its debts will mount to $107,207,000 before time to open school in September. The previously mentioned figures and the estimates which follow are the official written representations of the board of education to Gov. Emmerson's revenue committee.

Debts Are Piling Up.

At the present rate, it is estimated that the board will spend $1,181,000 for salaries and wages per month for both July and August, and its bills will aggregate $1,315,000 a month. For the two months this makes a total of $4,992,000, to which may be added $752,748 in interest which will accrue against the tax anticipation warrants in these two months. This total of $5,744,748 added to the acknowledged present debts will make the total $107,207,478 by Sept. 1.

To pay these debts the board has whatever taxes which may be paid in the meantime, which has been estimated at less than $8,000,000. This money, according to the requirements of the statutes, must be used to pay off tax anticipation warrants first, so that taxes cannot possibly be relied upon to pay the past due salaries and bills.

In addition to the taxes, the board estimates it will obtain $126,200 in July and $440,000 in August from the state. Otherwise it has no revenue in sight before the schools open in September, with every indication that it will still owe more than $101,000,000.

'ALFALFA BILL' ADMITS DEFEAT IN BRIDGE 'WAR'

Horse Pistol Toter and Troops Withdraw.

Durant, Okla., July 26.—(AP)—Oklahoma's militant governor, W. H. [Alfalfa Bill] Murray, late today bowed to a federal court injunction, and ordered national guardsmen at the scene of the Red river bridge "war" to permit travel to pass over the Durant-Denison, Tex., toll bridge without interference.

Gov. Murray, carrying a long horse pistol in his vallse, hurried to the Oklahoma approach of the bridge last night after announcing he would "hold the fort" with national guardsmen against any efforts to enforce an injunction issued yesterday at Muskogee by Federal Judge Colin C. Neblett.

The injunction directed that those responsible cease interference with traffic over the bridge. In ordering removal of a barricade at the approach to the bridge, the governor said the toll structure would be left open as long as a parallel free structure, thrown open yesterday, was not closed to traffic.

Another angle to the controversy was added today when Representative Tom McKeown of Ada, Okla., told the state executive that he would seek a congressional investigation of the use of federal injunctions to prevent use of free bridges over the Red river. McKeown described some provisions of Judge Neblett's order as "preposterous."

Tonight despite the lifting of the toll bridge barricade, no one had paid the necessary seventy-five cents and used the structure.

In issuing orders for the removal of the obstruction the governor said a guard would be maintained at the approach until the controversy ends.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

FRANCE AND THE 'ARMAMENT CONFERENCE.

Although the prospect of an international conference on disarmament in 1932 has become somewhat fainter in outline since the French official pronouncement on security a few days ago, Mr. Hoover is said to be determined to use all his influence to bring it about. The present British government undoubtedly favor it strongly, although they will give more weight than our President to the dangerous potentialities of a conference to bring about some substantial agreement. If they become convinced that the policy of France is likely to prevent agreement upon the most important issues, they may conclude that the profit they may reasonably expect in the direction of reducing the American naval power will not offset the danger of aggravating the French-Italian differences and other unpleasant possibilities of an abortive conference. The balance of these considerations presents a nice problem in political expediency. But Downing street will not be much embarrassed in making a decision since, if it decides not to support Mr. Hoover's wishes for a conference, it can very plausibly justify the decision by reference to the pronouncement of the French foreign minister.

Americans who assay the results of our experimentation in international naval limitations will wish that the French statement of position might restrain our government's urge more emphatically than thus far it seems to have done. The French governme 's frank declaration that the situation of France does not permit of further reductions of its defenses deserves to be taken seriously at Washington. We have just had in another field of international affairs a very striking exhibition of the French government's firmness, and even the devotion of Mr. Hoover to the ideal of international reduction and limitation of armament ought to be impressed by it. If France is not willing to reduce, as she has now declared deliberately with reference to the proposed conference, what reason is there to expect that if the conference is insisted upon she will reverse her opinion? The atmosphere of Geneva, however conducive in Americans to altruistic sacrifice, does not work that way upon European delegates. We may thank the French foreign minister for his timely candor, and if we are wise we shall draw the appropriate conclusions. These are that if there are to be any reductions agreed to at Geneva they will not be by France, and consequently they will not be by any of her neighbors. This would, of course, leave us in our familiar rôle and free to cut our own defenses as far as we are willing or to bid for such agreements as we may aspire to bring about with the certainty that whatever we get will be exacted at the highest possible price.

There is nothing in the recent conduct of our foreign affairs from the beginning of the Wilson-Bryan management to the present moment to encourage the American people to expect the conference will result in anything substantially beneficial to ourselves or to the cause of world peace. The growing opinion, at least in Europe, that the conference would better be postponed unless the political situation becomes considerably more favorable to practical results must have been strengthened by the French declaration.

LEGISLATURE VS. SUPREME COURT.

Raymond G. Cannon, attorney by special act of the Wisconsin legislature, has resumed practice in the Milwaukee courts. Meanwhile he is under suspension of this privilege by order of the Supreme court of the state.

Cannon was disbarred for two years by the Supreme court on charges of unethical conduct, including ambulance chasing. The period for which he was suspended has just expired. His readmittance to the right to practice has been delayed by the high court's action in seeking evidence of reform and Cannon's assurance that the conditions which got him into trouble once would not arise again.

The legislature, just before adjournment, enacted a special law authorizing Cannon to practice law in the state. Gov. La Follette, explaining that the subject of the law had been punished enough, at once signed it.

The Supreme court is now enjoying its summer vacation. Almost its last official act was on Cannon's plea for reinstatement, which the court referred to the state board of bar examiners to consider his campaign charges against the judiciary and to hear his pledges of reform.

Cannon has not endeared himself to the Milwaukee judiciary nor to the Supreme court during his period of suspension. A year ago he stood for election to the state Supreme court, running against the victorious Justice Fowler and Attorney General John W. Reynolds. Although defeated, he received a majority of the votes cast in Milwaukee county.

In the judicial election this spring he ran for the place on the Circuit court bench occupied by Judge Charles L. Aarons. He was a vigorous campaigner, and in each election made many and various charges against some of the sitting judges. It is into these charges and the basis for them that the state board is to make its study to determine Cannon's fitness for reinstatement.

It is not thinkable that the Supreme court will accept the legislative action as final. When and how it will proceed is a question of importance not only to the bench and bar but to all the people of Wisconsin. The legislature in the special act by which Cannon was readmitted did not explicitly challenge the court's rulemaking powers, but assumed that in this instance it was authorized to make an exception in favor of the Milwaukee lawyer.

The situation has resolved itself into an open question of which body, the legislative or the judicial, speaks with the final authority in respect to the conditions of practice at the bar. The Supreme court may declare the Cannon act unconstitutional or, it has been suggested, it may act by throwing out on final appeal cases in which Cannon appears as attorney of record. Failure to act will leave an important issue in doubt.

The question of the propriety of the legislature setting this lawyer above the rules of conduct which govern others is an important one, but not so important as the need for the Supreme court to make clear whether the exercise of its duty and authority to discipline practitioners and to impose its standards of professional conduct may be annulled by the legislative branch of the government.

A RECORD OF ECONOMY.

The city's outlay for salaries and wages in April, May, and June of this year was $592,000 less than in the corresponding three months a year ago when the previous administration was in office. As a matter of fact, the comparison is even more favorable than the figure would suggest. This year the city has had to pay $86,000 for construction work which was not in progress a year ago. In fairly comparable items, the new administration in three months has brought about a saving of more than $679,000. The figures are from a report prepared by City Controller Szymczak and may be assumed to be accurate.

This is a record in which Mr. Cermak and his associates may well take pride. They would be the last to say that the economies achieved thus far are all that can be expected, but what has been done indicates a wholesome desire on the part of city officials to keep expenses within reason. Needless to say, such economies may prove to be costly politically. Political organizations are commonly maintained by means of patronage, and the present administration, in Mr. Hewitt's estimate, has lopped more than 970 jobs from the roll. At a rough estimate, that may mean 10,000 or more votes sacrificed for the benefit of the taxpayers.

We do not think Mr. Cermak need fear any such political loss if he continues along present lines and extends his policy of economy to the reduction of the city's payments for supplies and public works. The taxpayers are no longer docile. There is a growing realization in the community that every one, whether he owns real estate or not, pays a tax and a heavy one for local government. A reduction in government expenditures may alienate some voters, but it will earn the solid support of many tens of thousands of unorganized citizens. They are insisting upon a deflation of government to parallel the universal deflation in values which has accompanied the business depression. And they will not prove ungrateful to Mr. Cermak if he goes through with his program.

A CRISIS IN CALIFORNIA.

A delegation of Californians, with typical generosity, has taken the trouble to go to Washington to present to the nation's leaders the opportunity of conserving California's water supply. The situation is described as critical. Something has happened, it appears, to California's rivers. With pain it is learned that California has already paid a million dollars or more of her own money for a survey of the situation, but as the survey is regarded merely as a preliminary to a federal grant the rest of the country will not take offense. It is not as if Californians had questioned our eagerness to pay their bills.

Only the unduly sensitive could come to so bizarre a conclusion. After all, we have undertaken to build Los Angeles a $165,000,000 water works at Boulder dam and we have put the United States treasury at the service of grape growers to permit them to profit from evasions of the prohibition law. There is no limit to the expenditures we would be honored to undertake for the enhancement of life on the shores of the boundless Pacific. But, eager as we are to help, the fact is inescapable than an emergency exists. If California waits until congress meets and acts it will be too late. Unfortunately, too, few of the state legislatures are in session at the moment. Otherwise there is scarcely room to doubt that New York, Pennsylvania or Illinois would leap to the rescue with unlimited funds.

Emergencies must be met with emergency measures. In this instance the rest of the nation can only humble itself and permit California to conserve her own water. This conclusion, needless to say, is reached with the utmost reluctance, for it is not easy to break with tradition. It must be clearly understood that if the national treasury does not respond this time no precedent is established. An illuminated memorial to that effect, bound in appropriate style, should be presented to Senator Hiram Johnson. That is the least the rest of us can do by way of reparation.

[New York Sun.]

The new $5,375,000 navy dirigible, which Mrs. Hoover is to name Akron on Aug. 8, is 19,000 pounds overweight, and despite the fact that Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics of the navy, says this will not seriously affect its performance analysis of the figures indicates that it will.

With the contractor's design estimates set at 221,000 pounds an excess of 19,000 pounds in the weight shows an approximate 9 per cent error in construction. This poundage, figured in fuel, would provide enough to keep the craft in the air for approximately sixteen hours at cruising speed if each of the eight engines consumed twenty-five gallons an hour. Converted into mileage at fifty knots, the 19,000 pounds in fuel would give the air cruiser more than 900 miles in the air.

Nineteen 1,000 pound projectiles could be carried in the airship instead of the overweight in the construction.

With the gross lift of the Akron estimated at 402,000 pounds, structural weight at 221,000, there remain 182,000 pounds as useful lift. Of the ninety-one tons of useful lift there must be a loss of nine and a half tons through the overweight in construction, an error of about 10 per cent.

The contractor must pay a penalty of $25,000 for the overweight, but what is that amount compared to the $5,375,000 the government will pay for this overweighted experimental air cruiser?

THE ADVANTAGES OF COOKING.

There is need for a few facts and opinions on the advantages and disadvantages of cooking. Much can be said for it and but little against it. However, the raw food faddists are so willing to tell about their aberration that they succeed in confusing some people. It would seem that the universality of the custom would be the only argument needed. In spite of the trouble and expense, cooking is the custom in every level of society except here and there among the very lowest savages. Those not much higher than wild beasts eat much of their foods raw though even they cook some of them.

Cooking is a requisite for safety among those who live in communities. The eaters of raw food expose themselves unnecessarily to infestation with worms and other parasites; and to infection with typhoid and a number of other diseases. Man tried to hold on to raw milk for a long time after he had given up attempts to eat other foods raw, but finally he was compelled to go to milk that was treated by heat. He is still clinging to the custom of drinking raw water, but city people are now using water that is treated in some way.

Cooking increases digestibility. It is possible to digest raw starch, even laundry starch, but digestibility of all starchy foods is increased by cooking. Cooking makes it far more easily changed into sugar, absorbed into blood, and used by the tissues.

Cooking increases the digestibility of most albumins, and possibly of all—properly done. Raw egg is less easily digested than is cooked egg. Cooking meat makes it more easily digested, as a rule. However, there are methods of cooking that may embarrass digestion. For instance, when cabbage is cooked too long and too hard a part of one of its albumin constituents is broken up and its sulphur is liberated. This causes the vegetable to turn dark and to have a rank taste and odor. Its digestibility is decreased. This fact is an argument against improper cooking, and that is all.

If it be argued that boiling milk until a thick, tenacious scum forms on the surface decreases its digestibility, the answer is that if any harm is done it is because the cooking was overdone.

When we come to the fatty ingredients of foods the argument for cooking is not so good. It makes fats safer, but it may not increase digestibility. Most people recognize the greater safety of butter made from pasteurized milk, and some are afraid to eat raw butter, but cold butter is generally held to be more digestible than the melted article. Subjecting fats to high temperatures generally lessens digestibility.

Cooking improves palatability. This statement gets us on unsatisfactory ground. The tastes of people differ and there are no scientific standards of measurements.

SEE A PHYSICIAN.

F. H. L. F. writes: For several months I have been suffering with deep cracks in the palms of my hands and feet. Though I have kept off my feet and used my hands as little as possible, I cannot get them healed. Please tell me what causes this condition and how I may get rid of it.

REPLY:

Many cases of this kind are due to occupation. Some are due to diet. If you change one or the other, or both, you should get well.

Have you and your physician investigated the possible causes? Short of that the chance of cure is slight.

—o—

MANY DUE TO INFECTIONS.

E. G. writes: What is the cause and preventive of warts? Lately several have come out on my hands.

REPLY.

In many cases warts result from infection. Among contributing causes is exposure to dirt and moisture.

PROBABLY A XANTHOMA.

M. D. writes: I have a tiny ball of flesh, about the size of a pinhead, on my right eyelid. A similar one is starting on my left eye. What causes this? How can it be taken off?

REPLY.

This is probably a xanthoma. These small, yellowish, curdy tumors frequently appear on the eyelids. They rarely grow large enough to attract much attention and otherwise they are of no importance. Removal is simple if one wishes to go through with that.

RENT AFTER FORECLOSURE.

Chicago, July 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—How long can the owner of a flat building live in the building after foreclosure procedure has been started?

I. R.

In some cases a receiver is appointed at once and the owner must either pay rent or move out. In other cases, he is permitted to remain in possession without paying rent during the 15 months allowed for redemption from a foreclosure sale.

WISCONSIN LEASE.

Chicago, July 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I formerly lived in Madison, Wis., where I had a lease on an apartment which did not expire by the time my company transferred me to their Chicago office. 1. Can the Wisconsin landlord hold me to my lease? 2. If he can hold me to the lease, what procedure must he go through? J. S. W.

1. You would remain liable as far as the facts stated are concerned.

2. The suit for rent would be like any other suit to collect a debt.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WAITING TO SERVE.

Chicago, July 14. — [Friend of the People.]—1. Are vacancies on the police department filled as vacancies occur? 2. Are vacancies filled by 60 day appointees or is there an eligible civil service list for patrolmen, at the present time? 3. How many men are on the eligible list at the present time and when are vacancies, if any, to be filled? H. W. T.

1. Vacancies are filled in the position of patrolman from time to time from the eligible list now existing.

2. There are no temporary appointees in the position of patrolman.

3. The eligible list at this time contains about 300 persons.

THE DAYS ARE PASSING BY and we're getting nearer and nearer to the presidential nominations, which may be the reason for Col. Lindbergh's leaving for a trip around the world. If he gets off the front page it may give a chance for his pa-in-law (Morrow is the name, is it not?) to get back in type next to pure reading matter once more.

A NEW NOVEL, "The Shortest Night," has for its motif a murder at a house party. We haven't read the book and don't intend to, but we hope the bird that was murdered was the one who is always wandering over to the radio and turning the darned thing on when we want to sit on the porch in peace and quiet and listen to the murmur of the pines and the lapping of the tiny waves on the sandy beach. At just such a moment the radio hound tunes in and we hear the announcer telling us we ought to take Coocoo pills or buy our undershirts at the Spatterdash Gents' Hosiery Store. Anyhow, if that's the guy who gets murdered we may read the book after all.

LOST IDYLL.

You met me at the door in crinoline;
I found it fun to build your evening fire
The while our memories came trooping in.

We let our thoughts run helter-skelter,
The fire-drowsy silence wrapped us 'round,
And all the gold-and-silver spangled moments
We'd lost so long were splendidly refound.

The perfume in your hair was Autumn lilac:
Remembrance of the lanes we used to know;
There was so little we could say the least bit rightly—
And then I found it time that I should go . . .

So now when evening comes I often wonder
If you are waiting there in crinoline,
And is there some one there to build the fire
When memories make clamor to come in?

A "REASONABLE WET?" What is a "reasonable wet?" The newspapers are using that phrase a good deal nowadays, especially when speaking of Gov. Mebbe thar's no sich animule.

Maybe the he-flyers won't wear the togs they used to because they're afraid they'll look effeminate.

IT IS HARD FOR US to understand! The California grape growers seek a new loan from the government despite the fact that the drought has cut the prospective crops 30 per cent. But the farm board has told us that the more the crop is reduced the bigger the price for the remainder. (Wheat farmers please write.) So if the California grape crop is reduced 30 per cent, the grape raisers should be laughing ha ha instead of asking Uncle Sam for another loan. Or should they? It is all quite puzzling. And do we need that many raisins, or do they make anything else out of grapes besides raisins? Write to your congressman today.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 27, 1915.

CHICAGO.—Something like an accurate estimate of the length of the Eastland death list seemed possible last night. When the last divers had been hauled up 826 bodies in all had been recovered. There were still many victims in the depths of the excursion boat and pinned beneath its submerged port side. Checkers who went through every department of the Western Electric plant at Hawthorne reported that besides the identified dead, 413 employés who started on the Michigan City excursion were missing.

CHICAGO.—The Eastland had on board between 2,700 and 3,000 human beings when it rolled over in the river, according to an estimate by State's Attorney Hoyne. His evidence shows that babes in arms were not counted as they were carried up the gangplanks. Half fare children between the ages of 5 and 12 went in two by two and each pair was counted as one adult. The federal inspector's permit limited the maximum load to 2,500 passengers. Capt. Pedersen of the Eastland last night broke the silence he has maintained since the disaster. In State's Attorney Hoyne's own words, "The captain has come through. He isn't going to be made the goat. He admits that the passenger capacity of the Eastland last year was 2,200 persons. Capt. Pedersen himself told newspaper reporters that in the latter part of June he went to Robert Reid, federal inspector of hulls at Grand Haven, and got from him a new certificate increasing the passenger capacity to 2,500.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 27, 1901.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary Long issued the official order for the investigation of the Schley-Sampson controversy. He also announced the appointment of Capt. S. C. Lemly, the judge-advocate general, as judge-advocate of the court of inquiry. The secretary directed that the court convene at the navy department on Sept. 12 or as soon thereafter as may be practicable.

NEW YORK.—All the mystery surrounding the identity of the "man" who became the husband of "Mrs." Lillian Allien, who is one of the chief beneficiaries under the will of Pierre Lorillard, was dispelled today by the discovery that "he" was a woman. The person who went through the marriage ceremony with Miss Barnes was the wife of one of Mr. Lorillard's employés. After the ceremony she simply took off her man's attire and resumed a gown, which fact explains why no one has been able to discover who "Mr." Allien was or what became of him. This explanation of "Mr." Allien's identity also explains the peculiar wording of the will of Mr. Lorillard in the clauses in which he bequeathed property to "Mrs." Allien.

CHICAGO.—On account of the drought the price of milk in Evanston will be raised from 5 to 7 cents a quart after Aug. 1.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 27, 1881.

WASHINGTON.—Some splinters of the bone were removed from the President's wound by Dr. Agnew and after the operation the patient felt much better. The temperature and respiration fell to their normal condition and the pulse fell to 96.

KANSAS CITY.—A startling piece of news regarding Frank James and the late Winston robbery on the Rock Island railway became public to the effect that at the time of the robbery the wife and child of the noted bandit were stopping at the St. James hotel here and that he was at the same place immediately preceding and following the affair.

WASHINGTON.—The state department has received no official information relative to the British reports of the dynamite infernal machines said to have been shipped from this country to England, but steps have been taken to ascertain the truth of these reports.

LONDON.—Owing to the unsettled state of Ireland, it has been decided to maintain the military establishments at their present strength for some time longer. Capt. Boycott and wife have returned to their residence at Lough Mask.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

A REPLY FROM MR. SZYMCZAK.

Chicago, July 24.—Answering the communication, dated July 15, in the Voice of the People signed "A City Civil Servant," we note that he has been in the city's employ for eighteen years.

Evidently a person that has been that long in the service would be expected to know the actual facts, instead of merely basing his conclusions on inquiries of friends in other departments.

We believe that the following comparative tabulation of pay roll expense for the three month period of April, May and June of 1930 and 1931, for the various funds, will show the general public that Mr. "City Civil Servant" is apparently greatly in error in his general all-inclusive statement that the present administration is merely substituting its own people for those of the previous administration.

Mr. "Civil Servant" apparently is not fulfilling his obligations as a city civil servant, when he apparently has not reported to the head of his department the fact that these positions are unnecessary, and we desire to advise him from actual personal experience and knowledge, that if he will go to the head of his department and advise him of the unnecessary employés, he will be sincerely thanked by the head of that department and not criticized, for the simple reason that from the day Mayor Cermak came into office he has earnestly and actually been eliminating unnecessary positions. The reason for the policy of reduction of expense becomes self-apparent when we consider the fact that, with the possibility of a reduction of 20 per cent in assessed valuations of property in Chicago for the quadrennial assessment year of 1931, we will undoubtedly finish the year with a very serious deficit, amounting to possibly $9,000,000, or more. If this deficit is not reduced this year it will have to be liquidated by a double reduction of appropriations in 1932.

It is the mayor's thought that the reduction, in part only, of salaries paid all city employés is a much better and more satisfactory method than laying that particular city employé and others off permanently.

In most departments of the city service, when there is no eligible list of civil service employés, it is often necessary to fill some of the vacancies by appointment, under what is known as "temporary authority." But Mayor Cermak has issued positive and definite instructions to every department head that no such vacant position shall be so filled unless it is vitally necessary. Therefore, our "City Civil Servant" is derelict in his duty if he does not, even anonymously, give to his department head the positions which he claims are unnecessary, so that they may be removed, as it is very difficult for a department head to discover such facts in regard to minor positions, unless his subordinates furnish these to him.

M. S. SZYMCZAK,
City Controller.

FROM THE SOUTH PARK COMMISSIONERS.

Chicago, July 23.—An article appearing in THE TRIBUNE on Tuesday, July 21, in which reference is made to certain objections to 1929 taxes filed with County Judge Jarecki by Attorney Robert E. Holt. In his objections Mr. Holt refers to a certain levy of the south park commissioners and alleges that it is without authority and illegal.

In order to correct any erroneous impression that might be created by Mr. Holt's charges, and in fairness to the south park commissioners, it should be pointed out that the specific objection raised by Mr. Holt has been passed upon by the Supreme court of this state in a decision recently handed down in the case of Gates et al, vs. Sweitzer, county clerk, and south park commissioners in which the tax question was declared to be proper and in accordance with constitutional requirements. Mr. Holt was an attorney of record in that case and made the same argument before the Supreme court that he is apparently making before Judge Jarecki, but the Supreme court overruled his contentions. A petition for rehearing has been filed in the Supreme court by Mr. Holt, which has not been acted upon, but in view of the decision rendered holding the tax to be legal, which was concurred in by all the members of the court, the objection made is without merit.

It would seem that Mr. Holt's action in making such an objection, under the circumstances, is not only an injustice to the south park commissioners but will necessarily have the effect of further confusing the mind of the average taxpayer, and will, without good cause, tend to aggravate the existing chaotic condition with respect to the tax situation.

M. E. CONNELLY,
Secretary, South Park Commissioners.

A MISSING SWEATER.

Chicago, July 22.—Two weeks ago my son on his half day off from work was swimming at 79th street beach. He checked his trousers, shoes and sweater. When ready to come home the sweater was missing. Stolen, the attendant told him, and also said, "The kids around here swipe everything they can lay hands on." Now, when you pay for having your clothes protected is it not obligatory on the management to make good your loss? I wrote to the manager of the 79th street beach two weeks ago, but he simply ignored my letter. TAXPAYER.

DENTAL BILLS.

Chicago, July 22.—Rent, fuel, light, food, furniture, wearing apparel and other necessities have come down. Dentists were the first to boost their charges with the war. During the war we said, "Very good, we'll sacrifice our teeth on the altar of our country." But now what can we say? Our family this year has paid legal, medical and dental bills. The dentist's charges are all out of proportion [including time and skill] to any other family expense. And this is no brief for the medico, either.

DISEASE PERILS 150 SAVED FROM PITTSBURGH FIRE

Death Toll Mounts to 39; Hunt Missing Bodies.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 26.—(AP)—A fight began today to prevent pneumonia from taking the lives of many of those rescued from fire that destroyed the Home for the Aged of the Little Sisters of the Poor here Friday night and early Saturday.

The number of lives lost in the fire meanwhile mounted to 39 over the week-end, with the deaths of Mrs. Mary Filey, 78; Mrs. Theresa Risinger, 84; Bridget Shea, 73; Mrs. Mary Lentz, 70.

Even that shock and exposure could exact their price was expressed fear as the 250 victims were being taken into hospitals as the fire still raged. Doctors and nurses toiled over more than 150 old and infirm men and women remaining to save them from the ravages of disease.

No trace had been found of 11 persons in the institution at the time of the fire. No bodies were found in the ruins.

The number of unidentified dead remained to 12, meanwhile, with the identification of the body of another woman.

What caused the fatal blaze was still not definitely determined. Fire department officials believed, however, that spontaneous combustion in a rag that had been used in waxing and polishing floors seemed the most likely explanation.

WYOMING FIRES ARE DYING OUT; SHOWERS HELP

Cheyenne, Wyo., July 26.—(AP)—After weeks' siege of forest fires in Wyoming appeared definitely broken today, but the situation in all forests remained precarious because of generally continued hot, dry weather.

Communication in some sections had been broken by flames, but it was believed all fires were under control. Light scattered rains also aided in halting the steadily advancing destruction.

Blazes in the Big Horn mountains were under control today. All blazes near Yellowstone National park were believed under partial control and flames in Grand Teton National forest, also were under control.

FANNY HURST.

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Fannie Hurst, who is in Europe to collect material for her next book, and her companion, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, representative from Florida, narrowly escaped drowning during a storm in Scandinavian waters, according to information received today. They were taking a canal trip from Gothenburg to Stockholm when their boat was caught in a gale.

MARINES HEAR SENATOR LEWIS PLEAD FOR NAVY

Senator James Hamilton Lewis, addressing the 1st battalion, 24th Marines, yesterday at the Naval reserve armory before their departure for encampment at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, made a plea for a strong navy as a safeguard of peace.

"Our first duty," the senator said, "is to remove from the minds of our fellow Americans that prejudice against construction of a just navy, and to deny that its operation is to make war or create opposition of nations.

"Let us present to our countrymen that every portion of our navy is created in America, giving employment to toilers in every branch of industry and patronage to producers of every kind of material.

"Without a sufficient navy, our land now circumscribed by nations leveling hatred and jealousy at us, will be preserved from destruction only by the navy, whether the assault be from communism or from nations."

Capital, Surplus and Undivided Profits $28,000,000

Today marks the formal opening of Central Republic Bank and Trust Company.

* * *

This bank—a consolidation of Central Trust Company of Illinois, The National Bank of the Republic of Chicago, and its affiliate, Chicago Trust Company—unites these old and important Chicago institutions, each of which contributes to the broad facilities, extensive contacts, wide experience and great strength of Central Republic Bank and Trust Company.

In the spacious quarters of the new bank at 208 South La Salle Street, the customers of the consolidating banks will find all of the officers of both institutions ready to extend them the same friendly co-operation to which they have been accustomed, and to place at their disposal the enlarged facilities of the greater bank—a bank that offers the people of Chicago a complete banking service.

NEW ZEALAND'S INSURANCE FOR THE IDLE FAILS

Relief for Unemployed Is Halted by Collapse.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, July 26.—Announcement of the complete collapse of New Zealand's much advertised unemployment insurance scheme has been made by Prime Minister Forbes. Eight months after the first meeting of the newly constituted unemployment board charged with the task of industrial reconstruction of the country and six months after the first payments for unemployment relief the money available has been utterly exhausted and 30,000 men of the 38,000 jobless who have registered for relief have been thrown upon charity.

Compulsory registration of all workers under penalty of heavy fines, an annual levy of $7.50, paid in four quarterly installments upon all male workers, and a roster system of allotting work to the jobless were the features of the government's plan. Legislation passed in September of last year charged the unemployment board with administration of the funds obtained by special tax upon all workers and also gave the board wide powers which it was hoped would result in the creation of new industries to absorb the surplus labor of the country.

Now it is found that the board's operations have been so much more expensive than had been anticipated that all aid has had to be dropped.

Two Installments Paid.

Income from the compulsory levy was estimated at $2,000,000 yearly, and two installments have already been paid, these totaling $1,500,000, but including many cases where the whole levy was paid for the year. Operations of the board were to be aided by a dollar for dollar subsidy from the general revenue of the country, bringing the total funds available up to $6,240,000 annually. Now it is revealed that the board has been spending money at the rate of $10,500,000 annually. The funds collected so far have all been expended and there will be no more money available until the September quarter's levy is collected.

The board has by no means been the only organization devoted to the task of unemployment relief. An elaborate system has been devised whereby local bodies and industrialists, besides private individuals, may obtain a subsidy totaling 100 per cent on all wages paid to men provided by the unemployment bureau. This has meant that road work, farm labor, city improvement and odd job tasks have been performed by the jobless and that the local bodies and employers of the men have been called upon to pay only half the total wages which have been fixed at a standarised rate. Thus, the expenditure of the whole country on furnishing work for the jobless has been at the rate of about $21,000,000 a year. A few days' labor each week has been all that any man in town and city has been able to get, and in choice of individuals preference has been given to married men.

Cite Mistakes of System.

Several mistakes in the early work of the unemployment board have brought about the present crisis. Principal among these was the standardising of the relief rates of pay at a little under what is known as the "award rate" for unskilled labor. This rate is the minimum wage laid down by the arbitration court, which is charged with the duty of setting minimum rates of pay in industries where unions are formed and registered with the court. The minimum rate fixed for unemployment relief pay was $3.50 a day, later reduced to $3 a day, but because of the fact that men were employed only occasionally, the earnings of married men approximately only $9 a week and unmarried men $4.20 weekly.

The unemployment board began by devising five groups of schemes to absorb the surplus labor. These included works for local corporations on which a subsidy of $2 for $1 was paid, including cost of materials, clearing of land for settlement, odd jobs, special relief over the Christmas season, and breaking in of abandoned farm land.

ARMY FLYER SETS GLIDER RECORD; 16 HOURS IN AIR

(Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.)

HONOLULU, July 26.—[Special.]—A new unofficial record for sustained motorless flight was created here this morning when Lieut. John C. Crain of the eighteenth pursuit group at Wheeler field landed his sailplane in a clearing at the foot of Nuuanu Precipice at 7:12 o'clock, after having been aloft for 15 hours and 38 minutes.

The flight started yesterday afternoon, the pilot cruising around a triangular course until his landing this morning. Four army searchlights were utilized to illuminate the mountain walls and landing field during the night, point out danger spots, and enable the pilot to orient himself as he voyaged. The former record was 15 hours 9 minutes.

German Glides 138 Miles.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 26.—Pilot Groenhoff set a new world record of 138 miles for a gliding flight today. Ascending at Wasserkuppe late this afternoon, he landed in the dark at Meisenheim, near Madgeburg. During his four hours flight Groenhoff reached a world record height of 10,186 feet.

Girl Bitten by Pup, Another Injured Fleeing from Him

PARASOL PLANE FALLS 500 FEET; PILOT IS KILLED

Mendota, Ill., July 26.—(AP)—H. J. Hewin, 45, a mail clerk from Dubuque, Ia., was killed today when his parasol airplane fell 500 feet into a cornfield north of here. He was bound for Rankin, Ill., to visit his mother, who is seriously ill.

Hewin was instantly killed. His badly broken body was found still seated in the cockpit of his plane several hours later by farmers, who were forced to enlist the aid of another airplane to find the wrecked vehicle among the tall cornstalks.

In Hewin's pocket was a small piece of paper on which he had evidently started a note, the writing of which was interrupted by the crash. It read: "Something wrong in rear cylinder. Think ring broken. No compression. Blows by——"

MAN WHO WOULD BE KING IS JUST PRISONER AT BAR

BIRMINGHAM, England, July 26.—(AP)—Anthony Hall of Gillott road, Edgebaston, former inspector in the Shropshire constabulary who claims to be entitled to the throne of England by reason of his alleged descent from the Tudors, was in Police court today. He was charged with using "quarrelsome and scandalous language" and was remanded to custody until Tuesday. Police opposed bail, declaring they wished Hall to be subjected to a medical examination.

Two Scalded in Fall Into Sewer Taken to Hospital

Two men whose legs were scalded when they fell into a sewer on Friday were taken last night to the Alexian brothers hospital. They are Hubert Gansen, 59 years old, 3143 Southport avenue, and Paul Flavin, 35 years old, 1215 Addison street. Gansen tumbled into the sewer when a section near a manhole at Herndon and Fletcher streets caved in and Flavin slipped down while trying to rescue him. The heated water in the sewer came from a brewery nearby.

Altered Numbers on Auto Plate Lead to Arrest

Sergts. Michael O'Donnell and Matt Homer of the Englewood police station thought yesterday that the numerals on the license plate of an automobile, parked at 63d street and Union avenue, looked queer. When they found that the zeros in the license number had been changed to 8s, they arrested the driver, August Steinacher, 34 years old, 1315 East 55th street, and found that the car was stolen. At Steinacher's home they found two other stolen cars.

The most important radio message ever delivered to Chicago Citizens

"Jobs for Workers and Cash on Paydays"

By John M. Pratt, Executive Director, Association of Real Estate Taxpayers of Illinois

Do not let any trivial engagement keep you away from your radio tonight or prevent your hearing this message which so vitally affects your welfare!

YOU need not read the daily headlines to be aware of Chicago's tragic condition. The school teacher sees it in her empty pocketbook. So does the business man in his silent cash register. So does the building tradesman out of work. So do you, citizens!

Real estate can no longer carry the load of 85% of our local taxes. The camel's back is broken. Other interests must bear their share of the burden. If these interests continue to avoid the obvious solution, this coming winter will bring pitiable misery and stark bankruptcy to untold thousands.

If you own property or if you work for a living this is your fight. This Association is battling to save your home, your children's school, your business or job, perhaps your life's savings.

We need one hundred thousand more patriotic citizens as members now, to help us enforce, against stubborn odds, the only practical method of averting this approaching calamity. We need your help now—before it is too late for all of us. Will you join us, today?

40 MILE LIMIT SPEEDS CARS ON DUNES HIGHWAY

Trip Shows Results of Ban on Passing.

BY HAL FOUST.

Last night, at the end of the second week-end of the new police regulations on the Dunes highway between Michigan City and Gary, Lieut. W. J. Wilson, in charge of the Indiana police patrolling that sector, estimated that the average speed of travel on this busy old pavement had been advancing five to ten miles an hour.

And this speeding of traffic was accomplished without a single arrest for driving less than the new 40 mile an hour minimum speed limit.

Automobiles were not always able to keep up to the 40 mile an hour limit, but they were kept moving better than they have moved for many summers, notwithstanding an increase in the volume of week-end traffic between Chicago and the Dunes and the resort districts of Michigan and northern Indiana.

Slowed Near Park Entrances.

For six or seven miles approaching the entrances to the Dunes State park, cars were held down to 25 or 35 miles an hour. State patrolmen, five assigned to the 25 miles of pavement, rode up and down the highway keeping cars in line. Cutting in and out of line has made the Dunes highway dangerous.

An hour and a half in the traffic with Lieut. Wilson illustrated some of his problems in his assignment to speed traffic and to reduce accidents. Near Tremont a small sedan with a Chicago vehicle tag was holding back a string of machines to 30 miles an hour. The car was waved off the pavement to the shoulder of the road.

"You're causing others to swing into the face of oncoming traffic so as to pass you," Lieut. Wilson remonstrated.

Promises to Speed Up.

"I'm sorry, I didn't realize it," replied a mild spoken man of about 30.

The lieutenant pulled out his arrest book. Then he looked inside the car. Beside the driver was a housewife. In the rear seat was a girl about 3 years old, asleep with her head in her grandmother's lap. The officer put the book back in his pocket and the driver promised to keep up with the car ahead.

A few miles east of Gary there was a string of about fifty cars crawling along at 25 miles an hour. The policeman sounded his siren and got to the head of the line where a truck was chugging along. The truck was waved off the road.

"I can't go over 25 miles an hour," said the driver.

"Then please park at this filling station for a couple of hours until the traffic rush is over," the policeman directed.

Must Stay in Line.

A driver of a roadster was stopped for cutting around cars in a line that was moving 30 miles an hour approaching an entrance to the Dunes park.

"I was trying to do 40 miles an hour," the driver explained.

"Stay in line, that's the important thing," said Lieut. Wilson, "and drive at least forty miles an hour whenever there's a clear space ahead."

Several trucks and a new passenger car were directed to leave the dunes highway because they couldn't do forty. They were sent over a parallel route five miles south, Indiana, No. 6.

Grand Jurors Go Motoring in Own Hunt for Speed Traps

ATTORNEY BRAUN.

Members of the grand jury yesterday went to the various villages in Cook county where it is alleged that the authorities harass motorists without cause. The jurors decided to gather evidence first hand for use in the investigation being conducted in coöperation with Attorney Joseph Braun, general counsel for the Chicago Motor club.

The results of the evidence hunting expedition on the part of the jurors will not be made known until this afternoon when the investigation is to be resumed with the questioning, it is reported, of officials from two suburbs.

Get Speed Trap Evidence.

The jurors decided to look over conditions after witnesses last week had related various incidents where it is alleged speed traps were operated or other fanciful violations of the motoring laws were charged against motorists by village policemen working in coöperation with justices of the peace, who obtain their fees from the costs assessed against the victims they fine.

One of the witnesses before the grand jury told of a village police chief beating him because he protested that he had not violated any law. The jury, it is reported, is prepared to vote an indictment in this case in the near future.

Another place to be investigated is in Franklin Park, where the Mannheim road is blocked off from traffic, both north and south of Grand avenue.

May Ask Further Inquiry.

Even though Mannheim road is not in use, it is charged that motorists are arrested and fined for failure to come to a stop at the intersection. Attorney Braun contends that inasmuch as Mannheim road is closed that it is not necessary for motorists to stop.

Assistant State's Attorney Henry Syfarth has been assigned by State's Attorney Swanson to assist the jury and Attorney Braun in gathering evidence. It is reported that the July jury, which has almost reached the end of its term, will recommend to Chief Justice McGoorty that he instruct the August jury to continue the investigation and ask Attorney Braun to continue his coöperation with the state's attorney and the new jury. It is possible, it is said, that the jury might even recommend that Attorney Braun be appointed a special prosecutor for speed trap cases.

New York to Cleveland Air Line Is Announced

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Daily passenger service will be started between New York and Cleveland by way of Albany on Aug. 1 by American Airways. On the same date, Frederic G. Coburn, president of the system, announced today, American Airways will start carrying passengers between Cleveland and Fort Worth, giving New York a new 48 hour transcontinental plane and train passenger service.

Arthur T. Aldis Leaves Hospital for Home Today

Arthur T. Aldis, real estate broker and art patron, will be able to leave the Alice Home hospital in Lake Forest today and go to his home in the suburb, it was stated last night. He has been a patient at the hospital since July 14, when he underwent an operation.

TRAIN KILLS OLD COUPLE GOING TO FAMILY REUNION

Youth Dies in Car Crash Near Lake Zurich.

George Sawyer, 75 years old, a farmer residing near Shabbona, Ill., and his wife, Almira, 65 years old, were killed yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a Burlington railroad freight train west of Waterman, Ill.

A daughter of the couple, Miss Edith Sawyer, 45 years old, was seriously injured in the crash. All were on their way to attend a family reunion near Waterman.

Damian Amore, 20 years old, 1947 Humboldt boulevard, was killed yesterday when a truck driven by George Jackson of Lake Zurich struck his automobile, which was stalled at the bottom of a hill on Rand road, 2 miles south of Lake Zurich. Five companions, riding home with Amore after a week-end party at Long lake, leaped to safety just before the collision.

Five of Family Hurt.

Five members of one family were injured, one perhaps fatally, when their automobile was hit last night by another car which sped away. The accident occurred at McCormick boulevard and Church street, Niles Center.

Those hurt are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Nayle, 4546 North Oakley avenue, and their children, Bernard Jr., 2 years old; Charlotte, 3, and Dora, 12. All were taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, where it was said Dora might die. The hit and run car was pursued and its license number taken by John Burger, 5635 North Spaulding avenue, and John Landis, 2222 Dayton street. It was traced to an Evanston resident.

Policeman Anthony McSwiggin of the detective bureau, father of William McSwiggin, assistant state's attorney who was slain by gangsters several years ago, was injured when the automobile he was driving ran off the concrete at Joliet and Wolf roads and overturned. The injuries to McSwiggin, who is 52 years old, were treated at the Holy Cross hospital and he was then allowed to return to his home at 4946 West Washington boulevard.

Auto Crashes Into Crowd.

An automobile which went out of control ran into a group of people sitting on the curbstone in front of 1233 North La Salle street last night. Leo Stumphy of the La Salle street address and Mrs. Helen Story of 1035 North La Salle street suffered broken legs. Stumphy's wife, Catherine, escaped injury by rolling on the sidewalk. She also saved Geraldine Tadilla, 1 year old, who she was holding, by throwing her to one side.

The car sped away after the accident and rammed two other automobiles before its driver, Jack Hilton, 20 years old, 8 West Erie street, was arrested by Sergt. John Curran.

Mrs. Julia Kovacs, 31 years old, of Racine, was killed early this morning when the automobile in which she was riding struck another machine in Tessville. Her husband, John, was injured. John Galo, 2128 Carmen avenue, the driver, was arrested.

This death and two others increased the Cook county motor toll to 642 for the year. The other victims:

Mrs. Grace Janssen, 28 years old, 1414 Pratt boulevard, who died at the John B. Murphy hospital of injuries suffered when the automobile in which she and her husband, Irving, were riding was struck by a bus at Sheridan road and Melrose street. The gasoline tank of their car exploded and both were burned. Janssen still is in a serious condition at the hospital.

Webb Freeman, Negro, 26 years old, 1636 West 14th street. Fatally injured when the automobile he was driving plunged into a ditch at Lincoln and Irving avenues in Dolton. He died in the Ingalls Memorial hospital, Harvey.

How to SUNBATHE HEALTHFULLY AND avoid SUNBURN

1 In the beginning, expose yourself to direct sun-rays for a short time—until your skin has become accustomed to the sun. In small doses the sun refreshes and benefits. In large doses it burns.

2 To have a safe, comfortable sunbath never expose your skin to the sun while it is wet.

3 While nothing in the world will positively prevent a burn if you expose yourself carelessly, you can avoid an ordinary burn and lessen a bad burn by sunbathing with the skin dried off and protected with an application of Nivea Creme before and during exposure. This precaution will assure you a fresh, healthy and invigorated skin.

4 When you have not taken these precautions and a sunburn or skin dryness develops after exposure, apply Nivea Creme—it will quickly soothe and cool your skin.

5 Druggists, department stores and chain stores will supply you with Nivea Creme.

SMOKE PURE-TOBACCO
OLD GOLDS

The cool, blue-white smoke of an OLD GOLD contains no greasy, artificial flavors that scent up the room and person.

For OLD GOLD is a Nature-flavored cigarette. Made of pure, clean, sun-ripened tobacco . . . so mellow and fragrant it needs no flavor "disguises."

"Keep Kissable with OLD GOLDS" is not a mere claim. It is a real and pleasant fact . . . as millions of OLD GOLD smokers know. If you'll truly try them . . . you'll know so, too.

China Retains Its Old Piracy as Art, It's Said

Woman Succeeds Father as Sea Rover.

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

HOW would you like to come for a ride on—no, not a bicycle built for two, nor yet in a flying machine, but in a Chinese pirate's junk? If you want to know what it feels like to go scooting off in search of a nice fat ship to plunder, "I Sailed with Chinese Pirates," by Alice E. Lilius [Appleton] is your book.

Mr. Lilius is one of those indefatigable reporters who will go down to the jaws of death, the gates of hell, or what have you, in order to get his story. He went to China to obtain copy on the Chinese pirates and he came back with plenty. Also, with pictures to corroborate his statements. In the course of his adventures he even wangled his way into a prison in Hongkong. There he stayed for three months hoping to get in touch with some prisoners he had been told were pirates. The last part of his sentence was spent in the prison hospital and he came out looking more like a corpse than a man.

The locale of his daring adventures is Canton, Macao, West river, and Bias bay. The latter is the home port of the pirates, so to speak, and carefully avoided by all Europeans and those Chinese who wish to continue to enjoy their chow. So difficult did it is visit Bias bay that Mr. Lilius had to scheme and contrive to find a way to get there. It seems that some years ago, the British, enraged because of frequent raids by the pirates, sailed there and destroyed much of its settlement. Since then it has not been considered exactly healthy to approach the place. This punitive expedition also was used as anti-British propaganda by the Chinese government.

One of the most interesting parts of the book is the author's account of a famous woman pirate, Lai Choi San, on whose marauding ship he was a self-invited passenger. This lady buccaneer's father had owned seven fully armored junks when he died. Today the daughter owns twelve junks; nobody seems to know how or when she acquired the additional five, but it is certain she has them. She has barrels of money [in fact, her name means "Fountains of Wealth"] and her will is law.

She orders her captains and crew around, singles out the Chinese ship she wants to chase and capture, and conducts the business as calmly as though she were at home playing in the village courtyard with her children. She always is followed about by her two snake, women companions, and though she was willing to discuss her pirating job with Mr. Lilius, she had nothing whatever to say about him. That she refused to talk about.

Much of the looting of boats is done from the inside, however. The pirates, dressed like third class passengers, travel back and forth on British or Chinese ships, until they learn the fine points about their management, where the ammunition is kept, etc. Then one fine night they suddenly attack the ship's officers and crew and rob the boat of its silver or supplies. Whenever the loot has amounted to $60,000 or $100,000 the individual pirates invariably deliver the stolen property to leaders who see that it promptly disappears inland. There it never can be accounted for. The looted ships are then permitted to return to port or to continue on their voyages.

Of course, most of the ships are now armed against such raids. The captain's bridge is protected by a heavy grill, the anti-pirate guard is ready for instant action, and the third class passengers are kept behind bars, but in spite of these precautions during the last ten years an average of three ships a year bearing British or foreign flags have been robbed by one pirate gang or another. How many Chinese ships and junks have been attacked is not known.

On one occasion Mr. Lilius was taken prison and confined in a Chinese junk on a remote island for three days before rescue came. Another time, during a fight with enemy pirates his own servant, Weng, was killed and the author barely escaped with his life. And always his camera lay as charmed an existence as his.

Mr. Lilius says of the pirates, the opium smokers, the fan tan gamblers, the adventurers and all the other strange characters he met in China: "It is all there today, just as it was a millenium ago; and it will be there tomorrow, perhaps until the day of judgment, either diving or human. Gospel or parley will not bring about an immediate change. Only sword and fire can do that."

Good morning!

Good news first:

1. "The Girl Habit" is Charles Ruggles' first starring vehicle. As always — Hooray for Mr. Ruggles! Smooth actor, natural comedian and lovable personality!

2. Tamara Geva, the thrill producing dancer of "Three's a Crowd" and "Whoopee," makes her screen debut in this number. So far as she, personally, is concerned, it's a successful one. She's a slim, good looking girl with a fascinating mobile face and she can act. The supporting cast is not bad.

Bad news:

The picture proper is a mediocre olio which is, occasionally, mildly amusing, but most of the time, not at all so. This seems strange when one considers that those w. k. play experts, A. E. Thomas, Owen Davis and Clayton Hamilton, all had a hand in it, assisted by Gertrude Purcell, favorably known as a musical comedy librettist. Too many fingers in the pie, perhaps.

You will get an idea of the story from the brilliant verse topping the column. [If you care to read the verse.] I will add that "The Girl Habit" has a mild case of the gangsteritis rash, so prevalent in Hollywood at the present time. The picture seems rather indifferently directed.

* * Women to Talk Banking at International Session

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, July 26.—The congress of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women began in Vienna this evening in the hall of the Austrian club. It was presided over by Mrs. Loewenstein Brill, of the Austrian section. About 1,000 women are attending, including 300 from the United States. The foundation of an international womans bank is one of the chief topics before the convention. A number of schemes for it have been drafted.

Poor Children Want Vacations, Too, and You Can Aid Them

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Alluring vacation folders share honors with the most important of business documents on office desks these days. Where to go and what to take is a problem that requires the gravest consideration.

But there are some would-be vacationers who do not pore over pictures of pines and aspens and sky blue lakes. It isn't any use. There is only one place they could possibly go—to Camp Algonquin—and from the way gifts are coming in, it is dollars to doughnuts that plenty of these would-be vacationers are going to be disappointed.

Tenement mothers are longing for two weeks of simple, restful, carefree living. There is no choice, no selection from among the resort literature for them. Please bear that in mind, Mr. Vacationer, when you locate the very spot you had in mind. When you are thinking of the joys ahead for your own family up there in the north woods, think, too, of the woman down in Halsted street. Ten dollars will do it—send her on a vacation.

When you think of how you're going to teach your young son to fish, please remember, Mr. Business Man, that there's a ten year old boy in the tenements who has never gone fishing, but who, if given a chance, could land a perch up on the Fox river where it rounds Camp Algonquin. Ten dollars will do it—send that boy on a two weeks vacation.

The cool weather of the last week has made the public a little forgetful of the vacation hopes of mothers and children of the tenements. Few gifts have arrived lately. Yesterday just two dollars was received for the Camp Algonquin fund: $1 each from J. H. O'Donnell and J. L. Murphy. It was enough, however, to hoist the total over the $2,300 mark with sixty-one cents to spare.

THE TRIBUNE free ice fund is likewise languishing. Yesterday's mail brought exactly $6.50, which included $2 from Effie A. Morley, $2.50 from Josephine Lockwood, and $1 each from J. H. O'Donnell and A. B. C. This makes the ice fund total $2,045.80. Your gift will be appreciated for either fund. It should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE.

Lunch Makes World Brighter for This Boy

Tribune Fund Helps Feed School Children.

A street urchin, his clothes almost in rags and a woebegone look in his dark brown eyes, strode into one of the west side summer schools last week. He glared at the teacher and slumped into a seat near the door. Throughout the morning session his attitude expressed a willingness to declare war against the entire world.

At noon the students filed into the free lunchroom for a repast of spaghetti, mashed potatoes, hot dogs, bread, butter, and milk, made possible by the contributions obtained through the campaign inaugurated by THE TRIBUNE and Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan.

The rebellious student, in his first day at school, stood miserably by the door while his companions hurriedly downed the meal, for many the first of the day. When a teacher explained that he also was permitted to eat his belligerence faded and he became just a hungry little boy.

After gentle questioning the teacher discovered that he was not a youthful gangster and had no desire to pick fights. His father was dead and his mother took in washings when she could get the work. The only way he knew to express his love and the protection he felt for his mother was to glare and snarl at a world he instinctively felt was allied against his family.

"And that boy, whose entire attitude was changed by a warm luncheon at noon and a cool glass of milk during the afternoon, is only one of thousands helped by small donations from big-hearted citizens," Mr. Bogan said.

"Every day we receive dozens of letters from the students themselves, thanking us for the luncheons. A luncheon costs only ten cents, but may mean, as it did in this one case, the turning point in the life of an instinctively anti-social child."

Contributions to the fund for destitute and hungry children are covering a wider and wider territory. Not only Illinois, but Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana were represented in contributions during the last week.

THE TRIBUNE will be glad to receive and acknowledge in its columns contributions to this fund.

Contributions received last week and immediately turned over to the home economics department of the school system included the following:

$100—Miss Agnes Clohesy.
$5—Lucy Horning, Caroline E. Marshall, Valdemar Skorlund, Mary O'Connor, W. F. Galley, J. C. Earles, Margaret Wright, Harriett Hippert, Kate Sturman, A. C. MacJohnstone, Waters School P.-T. A., Mrs. Arthur Howell, Mrs. Hanna Nelson, Kenetha Opel, Mrs. F. J. Halderson, Hermon Butler, James W. Mann, K. L. Cain, Waters school teachers, Gertrude Gallagher, Grace Karnes, Mrs. Vincent K Vokoun, Minnie Henry, Louise St. John Westerfeld, Mary Brintnall, Edna P. Wahl, J. Smith, and four anonymous contributions.
$3—Fred Ascher, Mrs. John J. Buss.
$4—Florence Winter.
$1—E. B. Allen, Beatrice Stanton, E. F. K., A Friend of Little Children, L. M., J. M. C., A Friend, and four anonymous contributions.

Many of the letters received from the pupils fed at the summer schools tell of a home in which both mother and father are out of work.

TO WED FLYER

MISS M. U. ALLEN.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Ray Allen of 437 Blackstone avenue, La Grange, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miriam Ury, to Lieut. Charles Lawrence Munroe Jr. of the Air corps of the United States army. Lieut. Munroe resides in Pittsburgh, Pa. The wedding is to take place in October.

Surgical Use of X-Ray, Radium Will Be Shown

Exhibition Planned for Coming World's Fair.

Much of the aura of mystery that now surrounds the science of radiology will be dispelled through a Pan-American, and perhaps a world wide congress to be held here during the Century of Progress exposition. This was announced yesterday by Dr. Benjamin H. Orndorff. Radiology is that branch of medicine dealing with diagnosis and cure by means of the X-ray, radium, and similar forms of irradiation. Dr. Orndorff is chairman of two committees in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

DR. B. H. ORNDORFF

Hundreds of leaders in this medical and scientific field will be attracted to Chicago by this congress, sponsored primarily by the American College of Radiology, the chairman stated. "We are inviting the outstanding radiological societies of North America.

"We are asking also that the Radiological Society of North America, the American Radium society, the section on radiology of the American Medical association, the American Association of Electro-Therapeutics, the Canadian, Mexican, and Cuban Radiological societies, and others, hold their annual meetings in Chicago at that time. The date set probably will be in September of 1933."

An invitation will also be extended in Paris this summer, Dr. Orndorff added, to the Third International Congress on Radiology, which will have in attendance delegates and essayists from twenty-six nations. It is hoped to assemble in Chicago a vast array of scientific and mechanical material for the congress, and to have in attendance such eminent radiologists as Mme. Curie, co-discoverer of radium.

Dr. Orndorff and Dr. Maximilian J. Hubeny, both of Chicago, comprise the present committee of the American College of Radiology, appointed in 1929 to make plans for the congress. This committee will soon be considerably expanded.

THE STAGE

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

CHICAGO'S Rialto may be in the depths of its summer-long sleep, but out on the northwest highways there are shows to be seen. They flourish in the gardens of roadhouse tradition; they are amusements of the cabaret type, auxiliary to the recreations of the dinner table and the dance floor; and around their cool, leaf hidden pavilions the motor cars of their patrons huddle in silent, glimmering squadrons through the night.

There is, for example, the Villa Venice, eighteen acres of Elysian lawns and groves on the Milwaukee road near Wheeling. It is presided over by Albert Bouché, who might lay claim to the title of "Ziegfeld of the floor shows"—a man with a fine eye for landscape gardening as well as for chorus girls' costumes. Mr. Bouché calls his place "America's smartest theater restaurant," and there is no reason to smile at the boast. There may be other pretenders to the title, but they lack a river and a fleet of gondolas with which to support the claim.

Three times a night Mr. Bouché's restaurant becomes a theater, offering a program of cosmopolitan entertainment. It differs from the typical floor show of American custom. Its audience is never urged to give this or that little girl a hand. Its performers make their entrances from a stage with a well decorated background, their numbers are carefully "produced," and their performances are crisply and alertly professional in manner. A Bouché revue belongs to the theater arts, not to the realm of "whoopee." It might be added, to trace this individuality to its source, that the host of the Villa Venice is his own stage director.

The program changes with each performance, and those who like to stay up late assert that it gets better as it marches along through the smaller hours. Mr. Bouché's twelve principals are versatile, his wardrobe of costumes is extensive, and his zeal to keep the customers amused is unflagging. If you should sit under Mr. Bouché from nine in the evening until three in the morning, dining or dancing or riding in gondolas between shows, you will have seen the equivalent of a Broadway revue minus the reprehensible sketches.

This summer the Villa Venice is specializing upon a presentation of the languorous, provocative rhumba for its chief chorus number. It has Cuban authenticity, although the little brown-skin girl who rhumbles most effectively comes from China, not Havana.

A Japanese girl, called a princess and bearing the name of Yo Hay Tong, illustrates the ceremonial dances of the East Indies. She reminds you of Ruth St. Denis—and also the ill-fated Mata Hari. . . . Mildred and Maurice also practice oriental dancing, of the whirling Arabian variety, and Mildred contrives to be the most naked little girl of the year, without giving offense. . . . Georgie and Johnnie are flamboyant female impersonators; they might be funnier, but they could not be gaudier.

And so the Bouché revue brings amusement, with a genuine, unstrained air of sophistication, to the summer night riders. It is a show that compensates for the dullness of the "loop."

A few miles closer to town Benny Meroff is master of ceremonies at the well known tavern called the Dells. He has his band of gifted jazzers, and three times a night, when the customers are tired of dancing, the boys do their tricks with horns and fiddles and false faces and megaphones. Benny himself, in a gray Eton boy suit, occasionally breaks out in terpsichorean fantasies worthy of the late Jack Donahue. All this, of course, is according to the jazz band tradition; but Mr. Meroff also has a few singing and dancing acts to enhance the program; and the tall, dark, smiling lady who glides and cart-wheels over the floor is, if my showgoing memory does not deceive me, Edna Torrance, who danced in "The Desert Song."

The Lincoln Tavern, neighbor and rival of the Dells, offers "Duke" Ellington, maestro of a Cotton Club orchestra, as an allurement to the people who go riding and dancing. Here there is also a sound of revelry by night; the jazz is "sweet" and "hot" by turns; and the machine borne pleasure seekers assemble like moths around a beacon.

A Saturday night in the roadhouse sector, going places and seeing things such as these, causes one to wonder what has become of the "depression" of which we read so much.

Band Helps Dedicate New Cumberland Park

A program of band music and speaking marked the dedication yesterday of Cumberland park, a mile west of the business section in Des Plaines. Speakers included Congressman Leonard W. Schuetz, County Commissioners William Busse and Homer J. Byrd, and Mayor Charles Hammerl of Des Plaines.

Shaw Sleeps at Horse Race, then He Talks

On 75th Birthday Tells Russians They Win.

MOSCOW, July 26.—(AP)—George Bernard Shaw celebrated his 75th anniversary today by going to the horse races—the first he ever saw in his life—and falling asleep.

He nodded perceptibly once or twice in the box he occupied with his party at the race track on the outskirts of Moscow. He finally took a good nap, sitting up, while Lady Astor fanned the flies away from his bewhiskered face with a brilliantly colored scarf.

Weariness, rather than boredom, forced the Irish sage to doze. He had been on the move steadily all day after an overnight train ride from Leningrad and he made no attempt to conceal the fact that he was tired.

He refused to say much about his reaction to the races, but he seemed to enjoy those he actually saw. On the way to the race track he observed to one of his Russian hosts:

"I suppose there will be only one horse in the race, since there is no competition in a socialist state."

Asked how he felt at reaching the three-quarters of a century mark, he said:

"I don't know. I stopped observing birthdays when I was 70."

Shaw Makes Hot Speech.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, July 26.—[Special.]—Shaw made a red hot speech tonight at an entertainment given in his honor in the Hall of Columns where the treason trials are held. He began with the word "Tovarishi" [Comrades], which aroused vast applause, and then added in English:

"That is the only Russian word I know, and I have grown fond of it since my stay here. I want to express thanks and personal feelings on the part of myself and my friends for your welcome. Some of them, Lord and Lady Astor and the Earl of Lothian, are capitalists and landowners on a vast scale. This is not their fault; they can not alter that. But the British proletariat will alter it, and the proletariat of the whole world.

"On leaving for Russia, we were given supplies of food and bedding and pillows by weeping relatives who warned us we would be killed or starve here. The nearer we got to the border the more we threw out of the windows.

"Previous speakers expressed the hope that when I return to England I shall tell them of what I have seen and of my confidence in your success. I have been telling them that for ten years. In 1918 I sent Lenin a book with an enthusiastic dedication, for even then I believed you would win.

"The reason of this visit is not to learn something I did not know before, but to reply to those who say I had not seen what I told them: 'yes, I have and I know they will win.'

"We are going back much impressed. You have come face to face with real things here. I have seen, too, real persons who before were only names to me: Lunatcharsky, in whom I found, and only in him and the Russians, the power and subtlety to deal adequately with my works, and Litvinoff.

"I intend Stalin to be real also before I leave, so if any of you know him, well, please tell him so.

"Some of us foreigners ask why did not England begin this instead of Russia. Marx said the advanced capitalist state would be the first to make a Communist revolution. The English should be ashamed of themselves not to be the first, and the other western nations, too.

"When you have finished your job and succeeded, there will be a hurry to follow your example. It is up to you to work hard and succeed quick so they will have no other choice but to follow."

* * Italian Day Draws Largest Crowd of Season to Ravinia

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It was but a reminder of old times and a renewal of hope for the future to see the way audiences turned out to visit Ravinia yesterday afternoon and evening.

Italian day was announced. That meant that both the afternoon concert and the evening opera was of Italian opera, and one estimates unofficially that more persons passed the gates than had done so on any previous performance of the season.

Conductor Eric De Lamarter and the Chicago Symphony Orchestra provided the concert program, giving a spirited performance of such ancients as Vivaldi and Corelli, such classicists as Cherubini and Sinigaglia, and such moderns as Pedrotti and Casella, Daniel Saidenberg, the cellist, was loudly applauded for his playing of a solo group.

"Pagliacci," and "Cavalleria Rusticana" were sung in the evening about as they were before, the chief difference being the larger number of auditors and the greater sweep of well earned applause. Queena Mario, Giovanni Martinelli, Mario Basiola, George Cehanovsky and Lodovico Oliviero appeared in the first; Elisabeth Rethberg, Ada Paggi, Philine Falco, Frederick Jagel, and Alfredo Gangoli in the second. Gennaro Papi conducted both.

Another Sunday musical series which is earning and meriting increased popularity is that of the Chicago Philharmonic Orchestra at Loyola university stadium. Under the direction of Adolphe Dumont the orchestra is showing marked improvement in matters of tone, precision and general alertness of performance. Tschaikowsky's Italian Caprice, for instance, was given a remarkable resonant and expressive performance last night.

The soloist was Isador Berger, the concertmaster of the orchestra, playing the first movement of Tschaikowsky's violin concerto with complete technical competence and a tone and spirit that went beyond competence and into art of a high order.

Observe These Rules When Traveling with Baby in Summertime

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The department of labor at Washington usually sends out suggestions of various kinds for the care of babies and children in hot weather. Many mothers and nurses who are most capable at home feel appalled at the thought of a journey with the baby—so this material on traveling with a baby will come as a boon.

"Carry the baby in a market basket when you take your family to the country or to the seashore. This is the advice that the United States children's bureau gives for traveling with the baby, and it is especially important for vacation travel and week-end trips, and even picnics.

"A market basket is much more comfortable for the baby than his mother's arms," the bureau says, "and more convenient for the mother. For an automobile trip a small hammock should be used. The basket should have a handle low enough to hold the baby safely inside. It should be arranged like a bed with a thin mattress, rubber sheeting, blanket, and, if desired, a sleeping bag. A cotton mosquito netting should be brought along to cover the basket. A young baby can stay in the basket throughout the journey, except when it is time for feeding, bathing, changing the clothing, exercise, or other care.

"Plan the trip so as to avoid delays and to give the most privacy and quiet for the baby.

"Do not let anything interfere with the baby's regular feeding, elimination, bathing, sleep, and exercise. Wash his hands and face several times each day. Keep him as cool and quiet as possible.

"Do not give the baby cakes, candy, bananas, or anything else to keep him quiet on the train. Irregular feeding and unsuitable foods, together with the fatigue and excitement of traveling, are likely to make him ill.

"Do not let strangers handle him.

"Don't put too many clothes on the baby. For a long journey in hot summer weather, he should be barefooted and dressed only in a band, a diaper, and a thin, short sleeved, low necked dress or slip."

SALLY'S GANG OF 100 WILL VIEW TALKIE CALLED "NEWLY RICH"

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If the program at the Oriental theater for the week of Aug. 6 had been arranged especially for our benefit it couldn't have been better. For that's the date of our next party, you know, and it promises to be splendid.

To begin with, the picture we will see is "Newly Rich," and its cast contains such stars as young Mitzie Green, that clever young actress who has entertained us so many times with her impersonations; little Jackie Searl, the cry baby, Sidney, of "Tom Sawyer" and who did such good work in "Skippy"; Edna May Oliver, who easily classifies among the best comediennes of the screen; and Louise Fazenda, who after years of acting is still one of the popular stars.

Well, boys and girls, if you want to get in on all this fun you must write me a letter telling why you think you'd enjoy this party. With all I've told you about it that shouldn't be a difficult thing to do. Remember, that every boy and girl is eligible as a guest and the only requirements are that you write a letter which will reach me no later than next Thursday morning a week before the date of the party, and it should contain your name, address and age. In writing, please do not ask for an invitation for any one but yourself.

Daintiness of High Order Marks Woman of Alluring Charm

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Though some of the claims made for products widely advertised are grossly exaggerated, still we owe the great advertising brotherhood much in the way of the hygienic reform that has marked our last decade.

They can't pound away day after day on the terrible isolation that's to be your fate if your teeth aren't brushed, if your breath is tainted, if you don't use a perspiration corrective, or if you don't watch out for the sagging chin line without inspiring a good deal of activity for the better.

Folk begin to wonder if there is something about them that might be offensive to others, and the awareness that there is danger ahead has done a great deal to prevent and correct certain faults that were once ignored in favor, perhaps, of the soul virtues.

Now the rule is to save your soul and to save your teeth, too. Save your honor, but also save your feminine appeal. And so on. Which brings me to the subject of female daintiness in its several outstanding phases. This is the summer, if there ever was one, when, given a moon and a girl of the first order of daintiness, the poor male wretch has nothing to protect himself against the pressure to propose.

If you don't cash in on a marriage license this summer, sisters, you are just out of luck. And you'd better find out if, by any chance, you are an unknowing victim of any of the outstanding faults of teeth, breath, body odor, or what? After that, you may look to the disposition or the fault, which, indeed, may be there instead of elsewhere.

But the demand for daintiness of an extraordinary high order marks this season. You can be so gloriously sweet and appealing with the frocks that tub so easily.

TENNIS DRESS.

Cotton piqué will make up smartly in this design, and the cost is negligible. The deep V at the front and the low waisted back are ideal points for a sports dress. A clever idea is seen in the wide suspender straps, crossed and brought around to the front in partial belt effect.

The pattern, 3193, comes in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36 and 38 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material.

Problem of a Sister Act in One-Man Love Scene Is Faced Today

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Patricia is in wrong with her family because she stole, or is in the process of stealing, her sister's beau. A guiltless, sinner, Patricia. She didn't want to take the beau away from her sister. He just naturally gravitated toward her after their first meeting. She likes him and he certainly likes her. But sister likes him, too, and "finder's keeper" is her hot worded argument.

Imagine the plight of the poor boy, too. The sister he really wants to see when he comes to the house is not the one the family shoves forth.

Now, those sister-acts in a one man love scene should be met with a bit more of the good old quality known as sense. People ought to understand that there's no regulating a man's preference for one member of the family over another. That's just something they have no control over.

The old idea of the older sister having to be disposed of matrimonially first needn't be taken so seriously today. And that is what one suspects to be the ruling motive where the family horns in with dictation about whose suitor the eligible young caller shall be.

Suppose the older girl does meet the boy first. Suppose she does bring him home and introduce him to a younger sister! And he finds the younger one more attractive, is it cause for a family feud? Sister ties have been broken frequently over situations of the sort. But what's the use of trying to buck a situation that is prompted by emotions over which the so-called offending parties may have no control whatever.

It's wounded vanity generally that puts the sting in such transfer of affections. But girls ought to know in this enlightened era of ours that it is no disgrace to be sidetracked temporarily. It's just one of the tricks of fate. And the more graciously one concedes that such-and-such a boy was not for her, the more quickly will she attract another.

"Five-to-Eight Frock" Does Duty Overtime

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — The French dressmakers have made a specialty of what they call the "Five-to-Eight frock." They mean by this, something to wear from teatime to dinner—a real, formal afternoon outfit—but anything like a formal daytime dress is a total loss on the Paris style mart because women here won't wear such clothes. However, the Five-to-Eight has been taken up for a use not imagined by the Paris couturiers.

Fashionables put on these elegant long sleeved, long dresses of printed chiffon or georgette around five in the afternoon and wear them until eight the next morning, if they stay up that long, thus making a new style altogether.

Lady nocturnbules seen around in the onion soup restaurants, that border the Paris central markets, at four and five a. m., after a night out, are wearing the sleeved evening gown these days; the gown designed for five to eight wear. They feel, and look better in the cabbage strewn scene of the market place.

Such frocks have the right kind of informality for the summer atmosphere of outdoor restaurants and night clubs, and they have become very smart indeed.

The sleeved evening frock is usually made of printed chiffon, of net, or georgette. The Molyneux dress, shown in the sketch, is the type that is being most worn. This frock is made of bright flowered chiffon on a green ground. The long sleeves are widened from elbows to wrists by set-in godets of plain chiffon, and the plain blouse has flowered chiffon godets set in under the arms to suggest a bolero. The skirt is flared by very wide, circular gores at the sides, and is ankle length, the fashionable length for evening dresses that are worn in public this summer.

FLOWER OF THORNS

By Marie Conway Oemler

SYNOPSIS.

Sally Rutherford, the last of a proud old southern family, following the ruin and death of her grandfather, determines to keep the heavily mortgaged Oakleigh plantation for her grandmother. She opens a hot dog stand on the Dixie highway. The estate of Wilbraham, of carpetbagging stock, adjoins Oakleigh. Henry Winstead holds the Oakleigh mortgage. His only son, Sam, is a great help to Sally, although she doesn't know his identity until the stand is successfully started. Sally falls in love with Lowndes Wilbraham and believes herself to be his promised wife. Sam forces Lowndes to admit, in the presence of Sally, that he is engaged to the wealthy Gertrude Reinert. Sam asks Sally to marry him, although he knows she doesn't love him.

INSTALLMENT XIX.

A DESPERATE RESOLVE.

Mamma was so relieved to see Miss Sally appear with Mr. Winstead instead of Mr. Jennings, that he was actually good tempered and did not grumble, as he usually did, that they never shut up shop 'till mos' daylight, and he was mos' dead anyhow for pure want o' sleep! He bowed to Mr. Winstead with warm respect and cheerfully set about shutting up.

Mamma drove home with her behind the plodding old mule to whom midnight was as morning, and left her at the house door with a cheerful good night.

Sally dutifully peeped at Grandmamma. She had been prepared for the sight by the devoted Essie, who had only left her charge when she had seen that Miss Sarah was asleep.

Sally stood looking at her for a moment. The small shaded night lamp cast a soft, dim glow over the bedchamber, which alone remained unchanged at Oakleigh.

Tonight her heart was like lead in her young breast. She was afraid of life. It made her suffer so much. See what had happened to Grandpapa! See what was happening to his granddaughter! Lowndes had jilted her!

She took that horrible thought to bed with her, and buried her head in her pillow. She couldn't sleep, but lay wretchedly awake for the blackest hours she had ever known. Tears were no comfort, no relief; they seemed to scald her raw heart they were so hot and so bitter—the tears of love betrayed. Lowndes, in whom she had believed so implicitly; Lowndes, whom she had loved so utterly; Lowndes, who had seemed to love her so much in return, had broken faith—was going to marry another woman! How was she going to bear this terrible thing that had come upon her?

Even in her torment the usual harrowing question of Oakleigh and how she was to protect Grandmamma intruded itself, a torture from which she hadn't been free since the colonel's death.

She had to answer Sam Winstead. Yesterday her answer would have been an instant No—no matter what happened—there had been Lowndes.

"Rupert, where are you?"

For Lowndes was gone. Forever. And Oakleigh was going, and with it Grandmamma. She couldn't survive losing Oakleigh.

Over and over and over the same thoughts her mind went as in a hideous treadmill. Lowndes was going to be married to another woman, a wealthier woman, a pretty woman who loved him. She, Sally, who had lost Lowndes, was also to lose Oakleigh and in consequence Grandmamma unless Sam Winstead knew. And he had asked her to marry him.

Lying on her face and hands—weeping, tormented, in despair—she tried to consider Sam Winstead's offer and all it meant, as he had bidden her do. She recalled his appearance at Lowndes' rooms tonight and how he had found Lowndes, practically forced him, to admit the truth. He had meant to make Lowndes show himself in his actual colors before her and he had succeeded in doing so. He had made Lowndes appear false, mercenary, base, cold, and cowardly. It came to her that Lowndes was afraid of Sam Winstead. Why? She didn't know. She supposed she ought to be grateful to Mr. Winstead for exposing Lowndes, or rather, forcing Lowndes to expose himself, but she wasn't; she couldn't. Not yet.

Her old unreasoning dislike of Henry Winstead, her belief that he had taken advantage of Grandpapa's guileless trust, arose strongly; it cast an almost sinister shadow over his son's vibrant figure. Terrible people, those Winsteads. Ruthless, conquering people. They had gotten a stranglehold on Oakleigh—it was practically theirs; and now, O God, they were going to get her, too!

She remembered her first meeting with Sam Winstead—a likely young man in khaki, bareheaded, singing as he drove down the road in a milk cart. Flor de Espina. O, was she? Not any more! Fate had a way of weaving all thorns for the Winsteads, giving the defenseless into their hands, and it was going to give her to them. She had rather liked Sam Winstead as she had first known him. He had been friendly, kindly, neighborly. He had insisted on being neighborly. He had been very helpful, helping her timidly during the first days of her venture with blunt, sane, matter-of-factness. Later, when the mountain schoolboy turned out to be Sam Winstead, she had been indignant at the trick played upon her and then she had dismissed him from her mind. Because Lowndes had come then she had room in her mind for Lowndes only. She would never have thought of the Winsteads at all if Oakleigh had been free. She was entitled to have to think of Sam Winstead now.

But she had to think of him. He had offered to marry her. He had used her appeal to Lowndes; he had witnessed Lowndes' ignoring of it; he—he had stood by and seen Lowndes jilt her, for it was nothing else. Lowndes had jilted her. Her body writhed at the thought. Sam Winstead had forced Lowndes to that silent acquiescence; he intended her to witness it. That he should have stood by and seen Lowndes refusing to verify her claim to him by any word, that he should have witnessed what was to her a cruel crime, ate like acid into her consciousness. It came to her that he had known how Lowndes would act.

And then, coming home, he had shown her an unbelievable way out. A way which settled everything. Saved Oakleigh, enabled her to pay Lowndes back in his own coin. But could she do it? Could she?

At intervals in the night she was accustomed to rise, to enter her grandmother's room to satisfy herself that all was well with her. Now, as she looked with wide wet eyes staring into the darkness a cry of fright startled her to instant action. She leaped out of bed and rushed into her grandmother's room to find the old lady sitting up in a crouching position.

"Rupert!" cried the invalid. "Rupert, where are you? A—ah! Is that you, Sally?" And as her granddaughter reached her side she caught the girl's arm with shaking fingers. "I have had such a terrible dream," she moaned. "O, my God! I dreamed that Rupert was dead and that Oakleigh—that was to be taken from us! O, Sally, it was terrible! I was so frightened! I woke up screaming with the terror of it, Sally. A horrible dream!"

"A horrible dream, Grandmamma. No wonder you screamed! But only a dream, darling," said Sally, clasping her close. "See, dear, you are awake now and in your own bed, in Oakleigh."

"And Rupert is coming home tomorrow, thank God!" cried the old lady, almost sobbing with relief, though she still trembled from the effects of the frightening dream.

"So you are all right, dear. It was just a dreadful dream that frightened you."

"I was so dreadfully frightened!" she moaned.

"Lie down and sleep again, darling."

"I am almost afraid to go to sleep again," whimpered the old woman like a frightened child.

"Wait just a minute until I get my dressing gown on, darling. Then I will sit right here beside you and you can go to sleep in peace," said Sally.

In a few moments she returned in a warm dressing gown and bedroom slippers and took her place beside the bed. Old Mrs. Rutherford protested, but Sally saw that her eyes were still frightened and that she trembled.

"Now I shall put you to sleep, Grandmamma, and you must promise not to worry yourself half out of your wits by nothing but a hateful, false dream," she said briskly. "Close your eyes, darling, I'm going to sing that little Negro song you like so much." She kissed the old face tenderly.

Sally had a sweet, true little voice, the sort of voice made to comfort little young children and to soothe frightened old ones. With an aching heart she fondled her grandmother's hand the while she sang—softly, sweetly, in a hushed voice, the old slumber song. The eyelids fluttered, closed. The breathing grew regular. Old Mrs. Rutherford, her face grown calm and untroubled again, slept peacefully.

"How could I refuse the one way open with Grandmamma at stake?" she thought, and sternly ordered her wincing heart, her quailing spirit to be iron enough to face the inevitable.

"Dear Grandmamma!" she bent and lightly kissed the white hair. "You can sleep in peace, darling. You shall never wake to find that dream a reality—Oakleigh will always be yours."

She kept her vigil until the dawn stole in grayfooted, then, seeing that the old lady still slept calmly, she went to her own room and flung herself across the bed for a few hours' needed sleep. Strangely enough, now that she had made her decision, her mind was in a measure calm. She slept quietly.

Later she went with Moses to the shop and prepared for the day's business.

She made some necessary memoranda, then telephoned the orders, stating clearly exactly what she wanted; she mailed some checks; she took counsel with Moses; she waited on customers with a smiling but aloof face. Then, the shop being empty again, she went to the telephone and called up the Rutland Dairies office. He would be there, or if not she could leave a message.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Desires Radio Batteries.

"I am the mother of four children, girls, 3, 8, and 9, and a boy, 10. My youngest girl has had infantile paralysis and is now wearing a brace. The 8 year old girl is in the hospital, but will be home any day. We were given a radio set a short time ago, but it has no batteries. I wonder if some reader would have them to give to us.

"M. R."

A radio set without batteries is rather a worthless piece of furniture. If you have an old one to give, either A or B, the R. family could put it to use.

Moore Girls Map Estates, Help Guests

BY THALIA

FOR ingenious and pleasant occupations, equal, if you can, that of designing maps for people's country estates. Cynthia and Janet Moore, the two attractive daughters of Prof. Frank Moore of Columbia, who have been in these parts for the last week or so, are engaged in just such a trade. They go all over the country in their little flivver getting and executing their commissions, and having a grand time with it all.

They are cousins of Elizabeth Moore O'Connor, and have been guests of Miss Katharine Frost at the Lake Geneva residence of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Frost, during their stay here.

Their creations are those cunning little chart sort of things, that you put in wedding invitations or include in notes to prospective week-end guests, if your house is sort of hard to find and you want to facilitate the arrival of your guests. The Moore girls usually pick out some individual feature such as the Old Red Windmill and incorporate it into each map. The maps are printed either as headings on stationery or on small cards. They did one recently for Mrs. Ogden Reed's place, and while they've been here, they've been working on one for Mrs. Louis Laflin, one for the Frosts, and one for Mrs. Henry Bartholomay at Lake Geneva.

From Coast to Coast Chicagoans Are on Vacation.

Coast to coast—In Santa Barbara, Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell, Mrs. William R. Dickinson, and Mrs. C. K. G. Billings were among the patronesses for the Santa Barbara horseshow held from Thursday to Saturday last week . . . Oakleigh Lewis, Bertha Palmer's fiancé and son of Mrs. Philip S. Chancellor, is to make a late July visit with Dr. and Mrs. Chancellor at Yononte, their place in Montecito . . . the Marquette Healys arrived recently for a visit and have been staying at the new Vista Mar Monte hotel . . . the Ralph Isbams of Pompeiian court have returned from their eastern trip . . . Miss Clara Cudahy and her sister, Miss Mary Cudahy, who arrived recently to occupy their new place in Hot Springs road, have been visiting their sister, Mrs. John Casserly of San Francisco at Carmel Highlands . . . the Robert H. Doultons, who were remarried a short time ago, are spending the month in the Canadian Rockies . . . the Charles Garfield Kings, the Hobart Chatefield-Taylors, the Francis V. Lloyds, and Dr. and Mrs. Horace Gray were among those who had parties at the first of the summer subscription supper dance at the Montecito Country club . . .

At Watch Hill, R. I., across the continent, the Frank Hibbards are among the sponsors for three Sunday afternoon musicals, to be held at the Golf club beginning next Sunday, the programs to be given by the Bernhard Levitow trio of New York . . . Mrs. Louise De Koven Phelps is in charge of a series of three golf matches between the Misquamicut Golf club women and those of Fisher's island . . . Mrs. William J. Chalmers is one of the patronesses for a series of talks being given by Mrs. Charles G. V. Clark of New York on "The Printed Book" . . . Frank Nichols, Mrs. George R. Nichols' son, had a supper party before the last Yacht club dance.

Wedding Trip and Further Views of Season's Travel.

Remarks—Dr. and Mrs. Inglis Folger Frost, she who was Miss Elizabeth Baker before her marriage last Wednesday in New York, are off to Canada on their wedding trip, and when they return in about a month they are to live at a place called Meadow View in New Vernon, near Morristown, N. J. . . . The British consul general, H. Godfrey Haggard, and Mrs. Haggard have been heard from in London. . . . Col. and Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze and Medora are to sail for a fortnight's cruise in Georgian bay on a yacht next Saturday and will return to Alta Vista at Lake Geneva for the rest of the season. . . . Mrs. Erich Gerstenberg who has been with Mrs. Caroline Kohl at her Palm Beach residence, wrote home that Florida is simply perfect in the summer, no bugs, lots of beautiful birds, and the flowers are lovely.

Also—Bertha Palmer and Eleanor McCormick are to be bridesmaids in the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Kent, daughter of the Atwater Kents of Philadelphia, and William Laurens Van Alen of New York, which is to take place at Bar Harbor a week from new Saturday at St. Saviour's church [Miss Virginia Kent is to be her sister's maid of honor, and all the rest of the attendants except Prince and Princess Alexis Mdivani of Paris are easterners . . . Mrs. Albert S. Gardner of Winnetka is playing nurse to her two youngsters this summer, takes them down to the beach every day [3 year old Carol is as brown as a berry or an Indian or whatever you gets as brown as] and accompanied them on a pilgrimage to see the lotus flowers Saturday.

Mrs. "Chuck" Breasted, who was Miss Violet Timms before she married the young archæologist last February, has gone back to England for a summer visit with her relatives. Mr. Breasted has plans to go over in late August to join her. He may go to the near east—he usually makes about two trips a year—and pick up his bride on the way back. Mrs. Breasted is very lovely to look upon and her new Chicago friends have had lots of fun initiating her into Americanisms. She enjoys it all with gratifying and suitable naïvete and enthusiasm.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, July 26.—[Special.]—Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler and Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler will arrive Tuesday on the Majestic.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy O. Hunter will give a supper dance at the Apawamis club in Rye, N. Y., on Sept. 15, to introduce to society their daughter, Miss Jane Hunter.

Mrs. Vance C. McCormick, has arrived from North East Harbor, Me., and joined Mr. McCormick at the Ambassador.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 26.—[Special.]—President Hoover and his weekend guests are not expected to return to Washington until Tuesday morning. Mrs. Hoover will have been at the Rapidan camp for ten days should she return Tuesday with the President. She has been enjoying a much needed rest and change.

Vice President Curtis returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gann yesterday rather unexpectedly after a short visit to his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Webster Knight, II., at West Warwick, R. I. There he enjoyed trips on the yacht owned by Mr. Knight's father. The Vice President will go north again later on for a further visit to Mrs. Knight and to his other daughter, Mrs. George, wife of Maj. Charles P. George Jr., at Sconsett, Mass.

ENGAGED TO FOOTBALL HERO

MISS VAUN RALPHINE PURCELL.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Baldwin of River Forest announce the engagement of their great-grandniece, Miss Vaun Ralphine Purcell, to Walter Francis Burgess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lee Burgess of Oak Park. The wedding is to take place early in August. Miss Purcell is a Northwestern university student and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Mr. Burgess is the well known "Red" Burgess of football fame, a graduate of the University of Chicago and a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 25.—Charles "Chuck" Reisner, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, has sold the tragic Adele Ritchie Post house in Laguna Beach, which he bought after the actress shot her younger friend, Mrs. Doris Murray Palmer of Chicago, and herself to death in it. Mrs. Reisner did not wish to have anything to do with the house, so Chuck sold it to a buyer who is moving it bodily off the property and the Reisners will use the site to erect a new summer home overlooking the Pacific.

INA CLAIRE.

Madge Bellamy's former home, which during her ownership was a show place on Los Felix heights, has been sold to a group who are using it as headquarters for a bridge club.

To combat destitution, many imported Spanish, Mexican, Chilean, Cuban, Brazilian and Argentinean actors and actresses who were brought here with fanfares in more lavish times, have united to give weekly stage plays in the Latin section of downtown Los Angeles, colloquially known as "Sonora Town." Carlos Villarias, enacter of the name rôle in the Spanish version of "Dracula," and "Elvira Morla," recently under M. G. M. contract, play the chief rôles in the first production, "Fata Morgana," in Spanish. Sixty or seventy Europeans and Latin Americans, all of them well known abroad, were washed overboard when the economy wave engulfed the studios' foreign language departments. Some faced real starvation.

Universal has allotted $300,000 to be spent on producing "Spirit of Notre Dame."

James Whittaker, Chicago and New York reporter and drama critic, was first husband of Ina Claire. Whittaker was the man chosen to ghost write the undressed personality sketches of Hollywood as seen through the eyes of Sylvia Ulbach, most famous masseuse, now running in a current weekly. When Whittaker, in taking down Sylvia's verbal version of what happened behind the scenes to Hollywood's darlings, came to the experiences of Miss Claire, Jimmy had the laugh of his life.

ENGAGEMENTS

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Marshall of 6220 Kenwood avenue of the engagement of their daughter, Grace Elizabeth, to G. Byron Hafer, son of Mrs. Martha J. Hafer of Coraopolis, Pa. Mr. Hafer is a graduate of Allegheny college and is a member of Phi Kappa Psi and Alpha Chi Sigma fraternities.

Dr. and Mrs. Spencer Fuller of 57 Long Common road, Riverside, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Dr. John D. McCarthy, son of Mrs. Daniel McCarthy of 7855 South Shore drive. Miss Fuller was graduated from Grafton hall at Fond du Lac, Wis., and attended the University of Wisconsin. Dr. McCarthy was graduated from the University of Chicago and from Rush Medical college. He is a member of Phi Rho Sigma and Alpha Omega Alpha medical fraternities.

Food Talk.

"I would like to make some cherry and raspberry jelly, but do not want to use a commercial pectin. Isn't there some other way of preparing jelly from these two delicious fruits?" Mrs. R. B. asks.

Cherries and raspberries do not contain sufficient pectin to produce a perfect jelly, therefore, pectin in some form must be added. If you wish to avoid commercial pectin there is only one other source, and that is to combine the cherry or raspberry juice with the juice of some other fruit rich in pectin.

At the present time the best fruit juice to use with either cherries or raspberries is currant. And both cherry and raspberry juice may be used in such a large proportion with the currant that the cherry or raspberry flavor will be predominant. Currant juice is so rich in pectin that only a small quantity is required for perfect gelatin. And the amount used adds a color that really enhances the color of both cherries and raspberries.

To make the delightful currant-cherry combination prepare a standard currant juice for jelly. Cook the stemmed washed currants in barely enough water to cover until the fruit is white in appearance and begins to burst. Do not stir. Turn the fruit into a heavy cloth bag and let the juice drip through slowly. Do not squeeze the bag.

Prepare an equal quantity of cherry juice. To prepare cherry juice add one cup of water to each two quarts of washed, pitted cherries. Cook until cherries are slightly soft. Drip this juice also through a close meshed bag. Add two-thirds cup of sugar to each cup of fruit mixture, half cherry and half currant. Do not put more than a quart of juice in the pan to be boiled at one time. Cook rapidly to the point where two drops of sirup will sheet from the spoon at the same time, or to around 217 degrees F. Pour into hot sterile glasses. Cover with paraffin in the usual way.

A delicious preserve or marmalade may be made by pitting the cherries and adding an equal quantity of uncooked pitted cherries to the standard currant juice and then adding an equal quantity of sugar. Cook just as you would for jelly. In about the same length of time the mixture will cook to the jelly stage and the result is a rare cherry preserve suspended in a beautiful currant jelly, but the flavor is predominantly a cherry one.

STUFFED TOMATO SALAD.

¼ cup julienned tongue or veal.
⅓ cup canned or cooked fresh peas.
2 stuffed olives, sliced.
3 small cucumber pickles, sliced.
1 tablespoonful capers.
Salt and pepper.
Mayonnaise dressing.
Lettuce or cress.

Select nicely shaped red ripe tomatoes. Cut a thin slice from the stem end and scoop out the seeds and enough of the pulp to form a cup. Chill. In the meantime dice the solid part of the scooped out tomato and combine with the next six ingredients. Add salt and pepper to suit the taste and just enough mayonnaise to hold the mixture together. Arrange tomatoes on cress or lettuce and fill neatly with the meat-vegetable mixture.

Yield: Four servings.

Govs. Bryan, Emmerson Will Speak Wednesday

Salem, Ill., July 26.—(AP)—Gov. Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska and Gov. L. L. Emmerson of Illinois will be the principal speakers Wednesday at the Governor's day program of the forty-eighth annual soldiers' and sailors' reunion, which opens here tomorrow. Salem is Gov. Bryan's "home town."

Bright Sayings of the Children

Little Harold and his sister Adrienne, whose ages are 6 and 3 respectively, were telling their mother about Sunday school.

"Mother," said Harold, "this morning Mrs. Brown said that sister and me were the prettiest children at Sunday school."

"That's fine, but don't let it turn your head. Remember, 'pretty is as pretty does.'"

"Well," replied Harold, "I am 'is', and Adrienne is 'does'." K. G.

Style Is Our Story

WE come to you this year with a Semi-Annual Event such as we have never held in this store and such as we believe will not be held elsewhere this year.... A new and entirely different scheme of things prevails here. The furniture—even to the smallest piece—has been selected, in fact created, with a connoisseur's understanding of the authentic in period reproduction. But we have gone farther—we have brought this fine furniture to prices remarkably low—lower, in fact, than the prices often noted for the most ordinary sort of furniture.... Visit the furniture section on this opening day of the sale; see for yourself the transformation that has taken place.

Chairs

Formal and Informal

Queen Anne

$32.50

Solid walnut fashions a distinguished arm chair, with a tufted, shaped back—and a deep spring seat. Plain or figured coverings.

Chippendale

$29.50

Sheraton

$19.50

"Sheraton"—a name synonymous with style and beauty. As for the practical side, the sagless spring construction assures comfort and long service.

Color—Comfort

$59.00

Celedon, rouge, Nile, cedar, teta de negre—a tempting array of colors—take your choice. Figured tapestry is the covering—and comfort is assured in every line.

Lounge Chair

$39.50

Picture it as the central figure in an inviting living room group. Deep, down filled cushions in both seat and back. Figured chintz, or plain cover.

English Club Chair

$69.00

Tables

True to Period

Lamp Table

$9.75

Coffee Table

$12.75

After Duncan Phyfe. The beautifully figured mahogany top may be extended to a length of 43 inches by means of the drop ends.

Gallery Table

$19.75

Thomas Chippendale, many years ago, created a graceful round table, with a quaint gallery top. Its details have been reproduced in this table made entirely of mahogany.

Drum Table

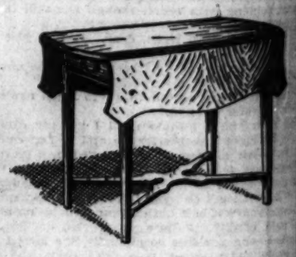
$27.50

What's a modern living room without a drum table? It has become an established fashion in the present-day home. This smart, two-drawer table is of solid mahogany.

Pembroke Table

$34.50

"Service" is the motto of this charming table fashioned of fine Cuban mahogany. It may be used as a serving table for the dining room, a console table, or a sofa table.



Magazine Table

The magazine table has become an important figure in the modern decorative scheme. This is a most convenient one. With three tiers for magagines and books.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

So far as the Cubs were concerned yesterday, James (Jumbo) Elliott was the ideal rescuer. He came through in the ninth inning with a wild pitch that let a man dashed home from third with a run which boosted the Chicagoans to a 2 to 1 victory over the Phillies in the opener of the series. The triumph put the Cubs in second place.

Elliott happened to receive his ill-fated assignment because of a triple Charley Grimm had pounced into center in the final inning, thus bringing Jimmy Dudley to the brink of defeat after a brilliant duel with Pat Malone.

Grimm's drive sailed to the fence in dead center, and as he reached third he pulled a leg muscle, making it necessary to summon Bud Teachout as pinch runner. Dudley remained long enough to pass Hartnett as part of the Phils' strategy. Then came Jumbo. His first pitch was fouled off by Malone. His second eluded the catcher, rolled to the stand, and Teachout scored.

Malone Outpitches Dudley.

While Dudley undoubtedly felt that he deserved something better than a setback, he wasn't quite as steady a performer as Malone, who now has nine wins to his credit. Dudley was embroiled with base runners in almost every inning, but Malone, at least until the end of the seventh, was practically invincible. During that time he gave up only five hits, fanned five, and permitted no visitors to roam as far as third base.

Later he added another strikeout to his list, but of greater importance to the 31,000 spectators was the fact that in the eighth the Phils exploded a pair of doubles to get their lone run and blast a lead held by the Cubs since the third.

It will be Guy Bush's turn today to keep the Phillies from putting their long range hitting power on exhibition. Fidgety Phil Collins may be Burns's choice.

Double Play Halts Phils.

Malone conducted a serious flirtation with trouble in the second, but two errors helped to render it harmless with a timely double play. Arlett opened the inning with a single to center, but Hurst grounded to English for the aforementioned double play. The real worth of the play became evident a moment later. McCurdy walked and Whitney singled to center. Then Friberg banged a fly to right and for an instant it looked dangerous, but Barton backed against the screen and pulled it in.

By doing a little work in the pinches the Cubs easily could have had seven runs instead of one in the third. The inning began with Hartnett push-

Sox Pitching May Lead to Bush Quitting

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 26.—Manager Donie Bush's desperation in the matter of pitchers in the second game of today's double header with the New York Yankees gave rise to rumors that all is not well in the White Sox family.

DONIE BUSH.

There is indication that Owner Charles A. Comiskey has withdrawn support in pitcher replacements and ordered Manager Bush to make the best of his current staff of five hurlers, who are of varying degrees of talent. Owner Comiskey's having turned thumbs down on Bush's reported pleas for the purchase of minor league or other talent has given rise to the guess that the end of the Bush régime is near. Bush is noncommittal, but it is known his two year contract expires this season.

It was not held probable that Bush would resign before the close of the season, though there is the precedent of his resignation as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates past midseason in 1929.

For the third time in a week Bush was obliged to keep Pat Caraway in the game today despite the fact the poor fellow showed he had lost all the stuff he ever possessed. Four days ago in Boston, Caraway was kept at work while the Red Sox tortured him for seven runs in the first two innings. At the time it was taken that the punishment was a matter of discipline, based on suspected indifference on Caraway's part.

Later it turned out Bush was in a panic for rested pitchers of any description, facing as he was six games in four days against the murderous Yankees, whom the Sox had not been able to defeat until today. It is presumed that his inability to supplant Caraway with an experienced pitcher this afternoon was inspired by the outlook here for the next three days.

On top of all Bush's American league griefs, the home office booked an exhibition game for next Thursday in Newark. At a time when it seemed an explosion was about to ensue, big Smead Jolley asked to pitch the exhibition. He was embraced by Manager Bush as a savior.

Big league ball clubs usually carry a staff of nine or ten pitchers, seven or eight of whom could be started with a fair chance of registering a victory. The Sox had only ten men who claimed to be pitchers in spring training this year—and that was before Lyons, McKain and others became cripples not available for duty.

It is said the White Sox have abandoned all scouting activities of an organized character similar to that effected by all other major league ball clubs, save for one man who moves around a town or two in the Texas league occasionally. This reported abandonment of scouting could not be confirmed through Sox attachés in New York, however.

While the amazing attitude of the Sox home office is mysterious and distressing to the active club management on the road, it has had the effect of making something of a league hero of 43 year old Red Faber, now in his 18th season as a White Sox pitcher.

Red hardly could be expected under ordinary conditions to pitch every fourth day. But the old boy has been coming up in shortened turn regularly, and for a month has been pitching some of the best baseball of his career.

Thomas and Frasier also have been doing a great deal to prevent the utter humiliation of the club, but those three complete the roster of those who can start a game with any assurance that they can get through more than an inning or two.

FABER DEFEATS YANKS, 5-4, THEN SOX LOSE, 22-5

40,000 Shout Acclaim as Red Triumphs.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 26.—Old Red Faber finally ducked the devil man and won himself a glorious 5 to 4 victory over the New York Yanks in the first game of a double header today.

The old boy walked off the field amidst the plaudits of more than 40,000 fans. Cheering Red vociferously has become an American league ritual this last month.

It is too bad the second game can't be ignored completely, for it was one of the most pitiable exhibitions of undermanning a baseball club the game has seen in many a day. The score of the horrible aftermath was New York, 22; Chicago, 5. The Yanks made their 22 runs off Caraway and Wehde in the first four innings.

Blue Hits First Homer.

In the first game the Sox were able to make only two hits in the first seven innings, but one of them was a triple by Sullivan in the first inning, which resulted in a run, and Blue knocked his first homer of the year in the third to give the Sox a 2 to 1 lead. The Yanks tied it up in the fifth and in the seventh took a 3 to 2 lead.

A walk to Sullivan, Reynolds' out and a single by Fonseca tied the score in the eighth, and then in the ninth the Sox put over two runs on a double by Kerr, a sacrifice fielders' choice which put Kerr on third and Cissell on first, a pinch single by Fothergill, a sacrifice by Faber and a fly by Sullivan.

In the last of the ninth Combs singled with one out, went to second on Sewell's out and scored on Ruth's third hit. But Gehrig ended the game with a fly to Watwood.

Jolley to Try Pitching.

The second game might have been interesting had Manager Bush had available a single pitcher ready for service, for Fonseca drove in Reynolds with a double in the first inning, and with one run home and the bases full, he tripled in the second inning. But the game immediately went haywire for want of a pitcher, the dearth being aggravated by the fact the Sox must play a double header again tomorrow and single games Tuesday and Wednesday.

The washout gave the Sox manager a chance to give some of his hard working regulars a rest and the process enabled Smead Jolley to make his first appearance in a defensive lineup since May 21. Smead may be converted into a pitcher, a trade he worked at years ago, and will be given a tryout in an exhibition game at Newark next Thursday. The situation is just that bad.

There is no way of telling who will pitch in tomorrow's double header.

FIRST GAME

The teams came out of the first inning in a one all tie, but old Red had to do a lot of heavy pitching to hold the Yanks down to their single tally.

The Sox made their run on Sullivan's triple and an infield out, but the traffic was much more congested during the production of the New York marker. Sewell walked with one down and stopped at second when Ruth beat out a bunt toward third. Gehrig walked, filling the bases. Then Chapman forced Gehrig, Cissell to Kerr, a double play attempt missing by an eyelash to permit Sewell to score. Ruth and Chapman assayed a delayed double steal, but Chapman was out, Tate to Kerr to Blue, before Babe could get home.

Blue Hits Homer.

Horton Smith Wins $10,000 St. Paul Open

St. Paul, Minn., July 26.—(AP)—Horton Smith finally overtook his notorious jinx today by capturing the $10,000 St. Paul open golf championship with a 72 hole total of 278 shots, 10 strokes under par for the Keller club course.

Smith shot rounds of 69, 69, 67, 73 to breeze home with the title and $2,500 prize money by a three stroke margin over the defending champion, Harry Cooper of Chicago. It was the finest score since the advent of the new ball, two strokes off the record established by Cooper a year ago.

Hagen and Von Elm Tie.

Trailing Smith by six shots in a tie for third place were George Von Elm, business man golfer, and Walter Hagen. Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., western open champion, couldn't keep up his pace and fell into fifth place with a 285 total.

A brilliant 67 on his morning round today all but salted away the championship for Smith. Despite his pair of 69s on the first 18 hole rounds, he was two shots behind Dudley last night. But he stormed over the course with a record smashing 31 out and an easy 36 on the backward stretch this morning to post a 54 hole total of 205 strokes, which sent him into first place by six shots.

Comes Near Disaster.

He came dangerously near disaster on the first hole this afternoon when he smashed a daring shot from the tee and the ball hooked to the out-of bounds fence. He then played a provisional ball and the gallery groaned as they watched it sail over the fence. After hitting another provisional ball, certain that he had tossed away four precious strokes, a shout arose from the gallery. His first tee shot was found six short inches from the fence and he was saved. From that point on he played safe and sane golf, taking no more chances. Despite his care he bagged a 34, two under par, on his final outward stretch, but he strolled in with a 39, three over perfect figures.

Cooper shot the most consistent rounds of the leaders to win the $2,000 second purse. He started out with a 71 and then shelled the course with three cards of 70.

ARGENTINE FOUR BEATS ROSLYN IN FIRST GAME, 16-6

Detroit, Mich., July 26.—[Special.]—With Juan and Jose Reynal leading the attack the Santa Paula polo team drew first blood for Argentina by defeating Roslyn in the opening match of the international series this afternoon, 16 to 6. Another match will be played on the same field Wednesday and the final next Sunday.

Playing with their usual dash and skill, the two Reynals easily were the outstanding players on the field. Between them they scored eight goals and while they were not bombarding the Roslyn goal themselves, were passing the ball to Alfredo Harrington, who scored six goals. Harrington was struck on the knee with a mallet during the last chukker, but resumed play after receiving first aid treatment.

The two Hoppings, Earl and E. W., stood out in the play of the Roslyn team. Earl failed to break into the scoring column, but played a good defensive game. Lineup:

PARIS, July 26.—France today won the Davis cup for another year, defeating Great Britain, 3-2, when Henri Cochet beat Fred Perry, 6-4, 1-6, 9-7, and 6-3, in one of the most bitter struggles the Roland Garros stadium has ever witnessed.

Today's matches seemed to mark the elimination of Jean Borotra of France from big time tennis. H. W. (Bunny) Austin defeated him, 7-5, 6-3, 3-6, and 7-5. Only the time taken out for rain and the recess enabled the Basque to play four sets.

Officials Are Patriotic.

The peerless Cochet, plus the superpatriotic officials, beat Perry, and the over zealous umpire and linesmen robbed Austin also of many points.

In one game alone miscalled faults robbed Perry of three points, and twice he was called for a foot fault on a second ball service for game and points.

The crowd of 10,000, jamming the stands, remained mute during Austin's victory, and at every marvelous shot Perry pulled off they nearly broke up the game chanting "Parlez Francais." When the referee announced the score, using the English word "love," they insisted on him saying "rien" or "zero."

Match Played in Rain.

The third set was played amid heavy rain and each took a service until the fifteenth game, when Cochet broke through and then captured the set on his own delivery.

In the concluding set each lost a service in the first six games, then Cochet smashed through again, took his own service and the deciding game on Perry's outs.

T. Philip Perkins Wins New York Amateur Title

TEAM TROPHY.

Blackhawk park.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Fourteen hundred and sixty-three boys and girls from a registered field of 2,825 competed yesterday for gold championship medals in the second annual 100 yard swimming races sponsored by THE TRIBUNE. Thousands of spectators lined the banks of the Lincoln park lagoon to watch the youngsters and young men and women splash down the course to victory or defeat.

Just how many saw the record entry compete in the ten races, of course, could not be determined. But the banks on both sides of the lagoon were jammed for more than three hours, while hundreds more lined the stone bridge to the north of the starting barge.

Many Report Early.

The 1,463 contestants taxed the facilities of the Lincoln Park Boat club where the swimmers reported. The early arrivals came before 10 o'clock, and from then until 1 o'clock, the score of clerks toiled under the steaming sun, passing out numbers and arranging the preliminary heats.

The turnout was more than 50 per cent of the entry. It exceeded by more than 500 the number competing last year. The championships had the largest number of swimmers ever competing in a one day meet.

Scarcely a minute elapsed between preliminary races. Starting with the class A boys, 11 and 12 years of age, and progressing on through the five age divisions for boys and then the five classes for girls, the swimmers took to the water.

Contestants Get Badges.

Fifteen at a time, the free style speedsters raced to the finish barge. Some proved their speed. Others, outclassed, hung on doggedly to swim the 100 yards and earn a merit badge. Each contestant received THE TRIBUNE button for his ability.

Classes B and C for boys attracted the largest entry. The field was divided as follows:

BOYS.
Class A [11 and 12]	175
Class B [13 and 14]	310
Class C [15 and 16]	320
Class D [17 and 18]	113
Class E [19 and over]	71
Total	995

GIRLS.
Class A [11 and 12]	90
Class B [13 and 14]	120
Class C [15 and 16]	140
Class D [17 and 18]	60
Class E [19 and over]	58
Total	468

Yesterday's meet was for novice swimmers. The majority of the contestants were competing for the first time. But with few exceptions these boys and girls, from the 11 year old swimmers to the unlimited class E division, demonstrated their ability to travel 100 yards at a fast pace. Only a few could not finish, but the speed the better drilled swimmers exhibited in the finals approached record time.

Brundage Has Best Time.

BRAUDT, JENNINGS WIN PUBLIC PARK DOUBLES CROWN

Three Qualify for National Tourney.

George Jennings, Gordon Braudt, and George O'Connell qualified to represent the Chicago district in the national public parks tennis championships with victories yesterday in the Chicago public parks tournaments on the Hamilton park courts.

A throng of 2,000 saw Jennings and Braudt forced to their limit to capture the doubles from George O'Connell and Scott Rexinger, 6-3, 8-6, 7-5.

In the singles George O'Connell was awarded the title by default after he and Jennings had played an opening set to a 5-5 tie. Chicago thus is assured three players in the national meet at Detroit, Aug. 17-23.

Rexinger Weakens.

The doubles was bitterly fought with O'Connell and Rexinger forcing the fight with their crafty shots. Jennings and Braudt were able to return these only by dint of their long experience as a doubles unit.

Rexinger weakened near the end and drawing the opposition's shots to his backhand continually. This forced the Maroon ace to make bad returns.

Two brilliant rallies featured the match. In the second set, with the score 5-2 against them, Jennings and Braudt flashed a series of brilliant returns to gain an 8-6 victory. Again in the final set, O'Connell and Rexinger, behind 5-1 in games, settled down and gained a 5 all tie before Jennings opened up a series of crosscourt placements, which brought the contest to an end, 7-5.

Lejecks Eliminated.

Earlier in the afternoon, O'Connell and Rexinger had eliminated the Lejeck brothers, 8-6, 6-3, 6-3, in the semi-finals, while Jennings and Thompson defeated Stellar and Thompson, 6-3, 6-1, 6-0. Doubles summaries follow:

QUARTER FINALS.

Lejeck and Lejeck defeated Armsbury and Armsbury, 6-2, 6-3.

O'Connell and Rexinger defeated McCarthy and Frankenstein, 6-2, 6-4.

Jennings and Braudt defeated Siern and Allison, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.

SEMI-FINALS.

O'Connell and Rexinger defeated Lejeck and Lejeck, 8-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Jennings and Braudt defeated Stellar and Thompson, 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.

BLACK HORSE AND OAK BROOK POLO TEAMS VICTORS

The Black Horse troop and the Oak Brook Four Horsemen won yesterday in the two matches played at the Oak Brook Polo club. The Black Horse troop scored three goals in the last chukker to defeat the Fort Sheridan-Onwentsia four, 8 to 7, and the Four Horsemen triumphed over the Hinsdale Hurricanes, 10 to 9.

James Hannah and Edward Hillman Jr. led the Four Horsemen, Hannah scoring five goals and Hillman four. Barney Balding starred for the Black Horse troop with four goals. The lineups:

SHAW CAPTURES THREE RACES ON ROBY AUTO CARD

Wilbur Shaw, 21 year old automobile racer from Indianapolis, Ind., driving a Miller special, captured the day's honors in the Roby Speedway races yesterday, winning three races and placing second in another for a total of 18 points. Mryan Salapaugh, Chicago, took second place with 16 points and Gus Schroeder, Cedar Rapids, Ia., was third with six.

Shaw easily won the two five mile events and the 15 mile race. Salapaugh took the three mile, 10 mile and finished second in the two five mile races.

The Ash Can Derby, which attracted many old cars, was won by Ray Ehlers of Chicago, with a Templer. He raced two miles backward to win. Results:

Three mile—Won by Salapaugh; Shaw, second; Schroeder, third. Time, 2:22.

Five mile—Won by Shaw; Salapaugh, second; Wallinman, third. Time, 3:56.

Ten mile—Won by Salapaugh; Sawyer, second; Schroeder, third. Time, 8:00.

Five mile—Won by Shaw; Salapaugh, second; Schroeder, third. Time, 3:56⅛.

U. S. TEAM WINS WORLD'S CHESS CHAMPIONSHIP

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, July 26.—(AP)—The team representing the United States won the world's chess championship today in the team tournament of the International Chess federation, by playing a 2 to 2 tie match with Poland, last year's victor, in the nineteenth and final round. The United States team finished with a total score of 48 points.

Poland was second with 47 points and Czecho-Slovakia third with 46½. Other leading scores were: Jugoslavia, 46; Germany, Latvia, and Sweden, 45½ each; Austria, 45; England, 44, and Hungary, 39½.

2 MORE YACHTS FINISH ATLANTIC RACE; 1 STILL OUT

PLYMOUTH, Eng., July 26.—(AP)—Two more yachts finished the 3,000 mile ocean race from Newport, R. I., to Plymouth today and left the ketch Lismore as the only one of the ten contrants still to finish.

The schooner Amberjack II., owned by P. D. Rust Jr. of Marblehead, Mass., arrived at 7:27:17 [2:27:17 a. m., Chicago time] this morning and the British cutter, Maitenes II., piloted by Lieut. W. B. Louard, 35 seconds later.

HELENE MADISON SETS 500 METER SWIM RECORD

New York, July 26.—(AP)—Helene Madison of Seattle, Wash., bettered the American long course record for 500 meters in the 12th annual Daily News water Derby here today.

Miss Madison was timed in 7:22 3-5 seconds, as against the listed record of 7:33 1-5, set in 1926 by Martha Norelius.

of the five boys' champions. He covered the 100 yards in 58 6-10 seconds. Brundage's ability can be appreciated by a comparison of his time with the record of 52 seconds for the distance established by Johnny Weissmuller four years ago. By virtue of his speed, Brundage might be termed the champion of champions. He competed in class C for boys 15 and 16 years of age.

J. Brock of Whiting, Ind., class E boys' chamion, was not far behind Brundage in time comparison. He covered the course in 59 4-10 seconds.

Claudia Eckert of the Shawnee Country club, was the fastest of the five girl champions. Miss Eckert swam the 100 yards in 1 minute and two-tenths of a second.

Team Trophy to Blackhawk.

Despite the marvelous performances of the winners, it was a day for novices. The merit badge was the sole thought of hundreds of the boys and girls and they were prized as highly as the gold medals of the champions.

Brundage's victory in class C helped Blackhawk park win the team trophy. Blackhawk's total of 13 points took first place in the team standings with the Victorian Athletic club second with 11 points. Edmund Moran won the class A title from Blackhawk and Ray O'Keefe Jr., second in class E, provided the necessary three points.

The organization which handled the record field established their own record. These men have conducted Silver Skates Derbies with 5,000 entries. They have conducted Golden Gloves contests, but the meet yesterday climaxed their years of service in THE TRIBUNE Athletic association.

Without any delay the hundreds of swimmers were organized in heats and sent to their marks. There was a continuous three hour parade. Just before one heat finished the next was sent into the water.

Semi-Finals Necessary.

Semi-finals were necessary in only two classes, B and C, for boys. In all other preliminaries the winners in the heats qualified for the championship race.

The arrangements for handling the crowd and the lanes between the barges were a credit to the Lincoln park force headed by Oscar Knop, director of small parks and recreation. Nine Lincoln park life guards and a score of guards from the American Red Cross safeguarded the swimmers without mishap.

The members of the Lincoln Park Boat club also assisted in making the meet a success. They relinquished their club for a day in order that the swimmers might have dressing quarters.

Swim Chief Lauds Tribune's Merit Badge Contests

"The Chicago Tribune A. A.—

"Gentlemen:

"Please accept my congratulations on your swimming meet yesterday in the Lincoln park lagoon. There is no meet like it in the country. It is an official 100 yard test under competitive conditions. To be able to swim 100 yards should be a part of the education of every boy and girl and nearly 1,500 availed themselves of THE TRIBUNE test this year.

"The large number of entries from the city's parks, playgrounds and schools reflects credit on the intructors. The same can be said of the coaches at the clubs, societies and institutes.

"THE TRIBUNE test is a great idea. Its popularity is proved by an entry which has doubled in one year. I hope the time will come when every youngster in the city will earn a merit badge for swimming.

"FRANK W. BLANKLEY."

Chairman of the swimming committee of the National A. A. U. and chairman of the Olympic swimming committee.

BRAVES CONQUER CARDS, 3-2, AND THEN LOSE, 5-4

Neither Scores Until 11th in First Game.

St. Louis, Mo., July 26.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals and the Boston Braves split even in a double header here today, the visitors taking the opener, 3 to 2, in eleven innings, and the Cards the night cap, 5 to 4.

Fine pitching by Fred Frankhouse and Sylvester Johnson featured the first game, neither allowing a run to cross the plate until the eleventh. Both, however, weakened then, and Boston put across its three runs, after which the Cardinals launched an attack that caused Frankhouse's retirement.

ing a twisting single past third. Malone singled through short and Dudley's first pitch to Blair was lined into center for a single. Hartnett scoring. English sacrificed and the bases were filled when Cuyler was hit by a pitched ball. Nothing further happened because Barton fouled to McCurdy close to the stand and on Stephenson's puny tap to the pitcher, Malone was forced at the plate.

Arlett Strikes Out.

Arlett was the first man up in the fourth and was greatly peeved when called out on strikes. This put him in the class of Klein, who by that time had fallen twice in the same way. Hurst then singled to right, but died stealing and McCurdy joined the strikeout gang to close the inning. Malone also fanned Whitney to start the fifth. After Friberg had been thrown out, Dudley bounced a single through short and Brickell walked. English picked up Bartell's grounder to relieve this situation.

The Cubs came through with a pair of hits in the fifth, but didn't excite anybody by their actions. Malone fouled out and Blair singled to right. He tried to steal and was thrown out. Then English hit one safely to center and his attempt to steal second was a success, but Cuyler couldn't keep him going. The seventh was even more promising. Grimm and Hartnett led off with hits. Malone tried to sacrifice, but fanned. Blair bounced into a force play at second and Friberg threw out English to close the inning.

Phillies Tie Score.

Malone put Brickell out of the way in the eighth before the Phillies began maneuvering for the run that tied the score. Bartell lined to right center and when the ball bounced into the bleachers there was great ado among the spectators. Bartell raced around to the plate, where Ump. Quigley informed him that the rules permit only two bases on such happenings. The runner moved over to third on Klein's out and scored on Arlett's double to left. Malone didn't care to take a chance of Hurst, so walked him, after which McCurdy lined to Barton.

The Phils' final gasp was a single by Dudley in the ninth. Two were out at the time and Brickell fanned.

BROWNS BEAT SENATORS.

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—Goose Goslin and the St. Louis Browns made their blows count today to take the fourth and final game of a series from Washington, 5 to 2, on six hits. Goslin was responsible for all of St. Louis' runs, and was credited with driving in three of them, two in the fourth, on his home run with one man on base.

The former Senator left fielder, traded to St. Louis last year, led the attack that sent Brown to the showers in the fifth, when he was relieved by Hadley, who later gave way to Burke. Score:

C. M. T. C. OPENS NEXT THURSDAY; 2,000 ENROLLED

Ft. Sheridan to Rate Next to Plattsburg Camp.

The eleventh annual citizens' military training camp opens at Fort Sheridan next Thursday, and from the character of the applicants, gives promise of becoming the best in the history of the encampment, according to military directors of the camp.

COL. DAVIS.

Nearly 2,000 young men from northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin are enrolling in the camp this year for a month of military training interspersed with field sports.

With this registry Fort Sheridan becomes the second largest training center in the country, being surpassed only by Plattsburg, the New York camp famous for its encampments even before the war.

Drill in All Branches.

Drill in infantry, cavalry and field artillery tactics will be given at Fort Sheridan under direction of Col. Edward Davis, post commander, in accordance with regulations established by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the Sixth corps area.

Regular army officers will be assisted by reserve officers in cavalry and artillery training. Three weeks of the infantry training will be given by reserve officers under command of Col. John H. Dore, regular army officers taking over this branch of instruction for the fourth and final week of the camp.

Since the establishment of citizens' training in 1920, facilities at Fort Sheridan have been improved each year by government appropriations and private gifts from various patriotic organizations and individuals, according to members of the staff.

Equipment Is Contributed.

This year, for example, Mrs. James A. Patten has contributed all equipment necessary for the sports to be played on Patten field. Tennis and volleyball courts have been added.

Competitive scholarships have been offered by the University of Chicago, Loyola university, and De Paul university in Chicago; the Bradley Polytechnic institute in Peoria, and Marquette university, St. John's Military academy, Lawrence, Carroll, and Ripon colleges, in Wisconsin.

GUARD WILL ENCAMP.

The 33d division, Illinois National Guard, will also begin its summer training this week. Next Saturday the division will report at Camp Grant to undergo two weeks of drill, consisting of the application of actual field conditions to their theoretical studies in armory training.

On Aug. 18, which has been designated as Governor's day, the division will pass in review before Gov. Emmerson.

SHOT AS HE SITS ON PORCH.

'DRY WARRIORS' ADVANCING ON NEW YORK CITY

Tobyhanna, Pa., July 26.—[Special.]—A gigantic war maneuver, in which dry western states are marching on the New York City "center of corruption" with the avowed intention of drying it up by martial law, is being simulated by the 110th field artillery, Maryland National Guard, encamped here for two weeks.

The "war" will come to a critical engagement in the Pocono mountains tomorrow. It is assumed the drys have mobilized in the west, starting in Kansas, and marched east, capturing Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia. They now are moving on New York City and launching a flank attack through these mountain passes.

According to a report on the "general situation," released at Second battalion headquarters here tonight, Kansas and allied midwestern states "have seceded" from the Union, declaring no nation can survive if half wet and half dry."

In the three cities captured thus far, the order reads:

"All liquor has been destroyed and civilians found in possession of such contraband have been meted out traitors' deaths."

UNITED AIR LINES FLY 30 MILLION MILES IN 5 YEARS

United Air Lines became the first air transport corporation in the United States to complete 30,000,000 miles of flying with the completion of its Sunday schedule. Of this, according to an announcement from its headquarters, 13,000,000 miles were flown at night. More than half the distance was flown on the 2,766 mile airway between New York, Chicago, and San Francisco. Five years were required to complete the first 30,000,000 miles, but P. G. Johnson, president of the lines, estimated that the next 30,000,000, considering the present schedule, will be flown in about two years.

Former Justice Whitaker of New York Dies at 78

Southampton, L. I., July 26.—[Special.]—Edward Gascoigne Whitaker, former justice of the Supreme court, died last night at his summer home here. Justice Whitaker, who was 78 years old had been ill for some time of heart disease. He is survived by his widow, Ada, a daughter, Mrs. Warren W. Hildreth, and a son, Innes Whitaker. No plans have been made for the funeral. Justice Whitaker was born in New York city on April 13, 1853, and was educated at Germany university. He was admitted to the bar in 1876 and became deputy attorney general of the state in 1884, holding that position for seven years. He served on the Supreme court from 1912 to 1926.

CALL POLICEMAN FROM PRISON TO EXPLAIN CHARGES

Washington, D. C., July 26.—[Special.]—Washington law enforcement officials were due to come under fire with the announcement that Frederick A. Schenck, dismissed District of Columbia policeman now in Leavenworth penitentiary, will be brought before the district grand jury to explain charges he has made against members of the Washington police department and the staff of the United States district attorney.

Schenk has charged graft, perjury by himself and others, subornation of perjury, framing of evidence and the issuance of orders to murder. His charges revolve about the dismissal from the police force of former Policeman Orville Staples, convicted of taking graft and other charges at whose trial Schenck gave testimony.

United States District Attorney Leo M. A. Rover yesterday made public the following statement: "Frederick A. Schenck, who is now serving a 20 year sentence in the Leavenworth penitentiary as a result of his pleas of guilty of robbery, has made certain charges of malfeasance in office, naming certain district and federal officers. These charges will be presented by me to the grand jury on Aug. 10."

Schenck's charges were made in a letter to Representative Thomas L. Blanton of Texas, member of the house district committee.

2 BALLOONISTS IN DETROIT RACE TIE FOR THE LEAD

Detroit, Mich., July 26.—(AP)—Seven balloonists who took off here late yesterday in a race for the Detroit News trophy and cash prizes had reported safe landings in Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Ontario late tonight.

Edward J. Hill, winner of the James Gordon Bennett international trophy race in 1927, and Tracy Southworth, president of the Detroit Balloon club and a member of the Michigan legislature, were tied for first place with 220 miles.

Hill came down at 9:30 a. m., near Marietta, O. Southworth landed at Option, Pa., at 10:50 a. m.

George Hineman of Cleveland, piloting the "Cleveland Balloon Club," was last to be reported. He landed five miles from Galt, Ont., having drifted about 175 miles.

Western Indian Scout Buried in California

Culver City, Cal., July 26.—[Special.]—Funeral services were held for Noah Young, 76, old time Indian scout and personal friend of Buffalo Bill and other wild west characters. He formerly lived in Wyoming and after the Indian wars was identified with gold mining and ranching. Noah Young knew Billy the Kid in the wild days of early New Mexico. One of his two sons, Noah Young Jr., is a movie actor.

FREE 8 SUSPECTS IN CO-ED'S DEATH AMONG INDIANS

White River, Apache Reservation, Ariz., July 26.—(AP)—Seven Apache Indians and a white man, W. R. Warner, have been released by authorities investigating the mysterious death of Henrietta Schmerler, 23 year old anthropology student of Columbia university, New York.

Officers said today they had no real clue to the fatal stabbing and probable attack upon the girl who had been here a month studying the life and speech of the Indians. The body was found Friday in a ravine.

Three days of investigation have elicited only mournful shaking of Apache heads and sorrowful clucking of tongues, and a story from Warner which officers said accounted for his movements. He had been held for questioning after discovery of a reference to him in a letter from Miss Schmerler to a sister in New York.

A statement made by an Indian deaf mute concerning Warner was not substantiated.

Constantino Vitello Made Knight of Crown of Savoy

Constantino Vitello, supreme president of the Italo-American National union, was presented with the decoration of the Knight of the Crown of Savoy, and the title of chevalier of the Royal Crown of Italy at a banquet in the Morrison hotel last night. Dr. Giuseppe Castruccio, royal Italian consul, officiated. The honors came from the king of Italy. More than 1,000 guests attended. Among them was Senator James E. Watson of Indiana.

Don't suffer painful

SUNBURN

Relieve it instantly the way Beach Hospitals do

"For severe cases of sunburn we apply Noxzema," writes Captain Damico, the popular leader of Atlantic City Beach Patrol. "It gets rid of soreness the instant you apply it."

Noxzema has been used for years, not only at Atlantic City's First-Aid Hospitals but at Coney Island, Asbury Park, Long Beach, Revere and many other famous beaches.

Noxzema is snow-white, greaseless, and stainless, so you can leave it on day and night without soiling clothes.

GRAIN DECLINE DUE TO ABSENCE OF SPECULATION

Trade Is Bearish at Close of Week.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A drop in grain prices last week to toward the lowest of the season, also due to an absence of new and general speculative buying rather than to selling pressure.

The latter came mainly in the last few days of the week with the trade more bearish at the finish than it has been for several weeks. There were net losses on wheat of 1⅛@2c after a range of around 2½c during the last two weeks. Corn finished with July at 1⅛c, September, 4½c, and December at 2¾c lower, the last two named months being at new lows. Oats also were around the bottom with losses of 2¼@2½c, while rye lost 1¾c.

Narrowness of fluctuations of late are advocates of market stabilization a good illustration of what it really means. It gives the speculator very little opportunity for profit on either side, and offers no inducement to the general public to come in on speculations of securing large profits. However, commission houses report a fair accumulation of distant futures of wheat owing to the old theory that wheat at 50c has always been a good buy by the use of a little patience. Margin requirements are said to have been reduced in numerous instances, owing to the low prices of grain. Those investors, it is believed, will probably hold their wheat for an indefinite period, trade leaders incline to the belief that something drastic will have to happen to lift all grain prices out of the rut. The whole trouble is large supplies, lack of speculative and export buying, declines in stocks, cotton, and above all, failure of foreign countries to adjust their financial differences.

Less Hedging Pressure.

Hedging sales were materially lessened and were placed mainly in December delivery. At the same time the market had a little help occasionally from millers taking off hedges.

The Farmers National Grain corporation, the government's trading agency, was credited as a heavy seller and a buyer, the latter for the purpose of replacing cash wheat sold to millers and exporters, the idea being to keep about the same quantity of wheat on hand farm board holdings being estimated at 356,000,000 bu.

While stocks are now the largest on record. It is expected that the increase in the visible in today's report may not be as large as expected, as 100,000 bu in the Soo line house at Minneapolis has been taken over by the farm board agency that may not be counted in the visible.

Movement of winter wheat has fallen off, but is still large. Crop reports from the American and Canadian northwest were less favorable, but attracted few new buyers owing to the belief that the large winter wheat crop will more than offset any losses in the American spring wheat. The surveyor in Canada estimated at about 145,000,000 bu, will partly make up the loss of 174,000,000 bu in this year's crop.

World's Estimates Reduced.

Those who believe that the world's wheat situation will gradually work around into a better position, base their opinions on the statement issued by the United States department of agriculture that this season's world wheat crop will be 200,000,000 to 250,000,000 bu less than last year. Argentine acreage is likely to be reduced about 30 per cent, with a reduction of about 5,000,000 acres in Australia.

At the close July wheat was 51½c, September, 51⅝@51¾c, and December, 50@50⅛c. At one time the spread

New York May Amend Law to Aid Rail Issues

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 26.—Plans for amending the New York banking law whereby upwards of three billions of dollars worth of railroad securities, which are in danger of losing their legal status as investments by savings banks and trust funds, may be kept on the list are being discussed by various committees in the financial district, representing large holders.

It is expected that these plans will culminate in a bill for easing the restrictions on earnings of railroads in regard to the legal status of the bonds, which bill will be presented at the next session of the legislature.

Takes Leading Part.

The security holders' committee on the railroad emergency, of which Fairman R. Dick of Roosevelt & Son is chairman, is taking a leading part in discussing plans for the revision of the law which would call for a change to be effective early in 1932; in other quarters, however, it was said today that no announcements on such plans would be made until after the interstate commerce commission had passed on the carriers' application for an increase in freight rates.

The difficult point in the present law is that for the bonds of a given railroad to be legal for savings bank investment the road must have earned its fixed charges at least 1.5 times in five out of the last tix years, including the year immediately preceding. One plan under consideration specifies that the fixed charges be earned 1.6 times during each of the four years 1927 to 1930, inclusive. This would eliminate 1931 when the decrease in earnings reported to date have been so marked.

Still Carry Some Issues.

From the standpoint of savings banks it is pointed out that when a given issue is stricken from the legal list the bank is not compelled to sell the bonds of this issue unless the state banking superintendent specifically rules that this must be done. On this score, railroad bankers pointed out yesterday that many savings banks are still carrying a few bonds which have not been legal for years since in reality they cannot be termed bad investments.

However, on the side of trust funds, trustees carry bonds which have ceased to be legal, at their own risk, since they can be held liable for any losses which may be incurred due to declining prices. Thus, it is pointed out by bankers, any considerable selling which might occur after a bond has been removed by the legal list, would probably come from trust funds rather than from savings banks.

Superpower Corporation Reports on Its Position

Net asset value per share of International Superpower corporation was $33.39 on June 30, 1931, as compared with $31.24 on Dec. 31, 1930, an increase of 6.45 per cent, according to the June report of the company. The report shows the company fully invested in common stocks of American untilities, having disposed of holding in Gesturel and Hamburg Electric early in 1931. The predominant holdings are in the so-called Morgan-Bonbright group, approximately 50 per cent of the company's money being in companies allied with those bankers. The largest investments as of June 30, 1931, were as follows: United Corporation, Electric Bond and Share, North American, Consolidated Gas of New York and Public Service of New Jersey.

General Mills Reports Earnings of $3,869,665

New York, July 26.—(AP)—General Mills, Inc., reports net earnings of $3,869,665 for the year ended May 31, compared with $4,809,101 in the previous fiscal period. Per share earnings for the respective years were $3.71 and $4.62. A decline in net sales to $122,746,136 from $163,071,661 was attributed by James F. Bell, president, primarily to lower prices.

JUNE QUARTER OF STUDEBAKER GAINS OVER 1930

Cars Sold and Profit Both Greater.

BY O. A. MATHER.

The Studebaker corporation, another of the big factors in the automobile industry, sold more cars and earned more in the second quarter of this year than in the same period in 1930. As a result of this improvement, car sales and earnings for the first half of 1931 were only moderately less than last year.

ALBERT R. ERSKINE

While the amount received for cars was measurably smaller in the second quarter of this year than in 1930, as dollar sales showed a decline of 15.6 per cent, the rato of net profits to sales was considerably better. This fact bespeaks the economies effected, particularly as larger reserves and absorptions were deducted from earnings this year.

In the second quarter of this year, Studebaker sold 19,411 cars for $21,549,085, compared with 18,855 cars for $25,522,610 a year ago. Sales in the first half of this year totaled 36,777 cars for $40,808,863, compared with 38,320 cars for $50,236,796 last year.

Second Quarter Net.

Net earnings for the second quarter of this year, after minority interests, were $1,219,605, equivalent after preferred dividends to 56 cents a share on Studebaker common stock. Net earnings for the second quarter of 1930 were $915,274, or 41 cents a share. Net earnings for the first half of 1931 were pared with $2,258,702, or $1.03 a share, in the first half of 1930.

"The financial position of the corporation as of June shows substantial improvement since Jan. 1 in quick assets, working capital, and in reductions of property investment account, current liabilities, minority stock interest and Studebaker preferred stock," President A. R. Erskine says in his mid-year report. "Working capital was increased to $21,484,974 from $19,638,646, with a ratio of quick assets to current liabilities of 568 per cent, the best in fifteen years and an improvement of 100 per cent from Jan. 1, 1931. All bank loans were paid off during the period."

Fewer Cars Distributed.

A further decline in automobile distribution in the middle west occurred last month, according to the monthly review of the Chicago federal reserve bank.

"Data for the half year of 1931 indicate that distribution of new automobiles was off about one-fourth in the number of cars sold, compared with the first half of 1930, while used car sales declined less than 10 per cent," the review says. "Stocks carried have been much smaller than a year ago. Deferred payment sales in June continued to represent a somewhat larger proportion of total retail sales than has been the case in previous months; a ratio of 51 per cent for 29 firms, compared with 46 per cent for May and 48 per cent for June, 1930."

Wholesale, Retail Sales.

Cars sold at wholesale last June declined 18.2 per cent in number and 10.4 per cent in value compared with May, and increased 0.6 per cent in number but declined 6.7 per cent in value compared with June, 1930. For the first half of this year there was a decline of 22.3 per cent in number and 31 per cent in value, compared with the same period in 1930.

Retail sales last month declined 20.7 per cent in number and 19.7 per cent in value, compared with May.

MAKERS OF PARTS AND ACCESSORIES TRAIL IN JUNE

Operations of parts and accessory manufacturers were reduced in June in line with usual summer slackening in demand, members' reports to the Motor and Equipment association said. Suppliers of parts, accessories and service equipment to the replacement trade fared better than manufacturers producing for original equipment on new vehicles, but the usual seasonal decline was apparent in the business of all groups, although the accessories group managed to hold even with its business for May. The grand index for all groups of manufacturers reporting stood at 94 per cent of the January, 1925, base figure of 100, as compared with 124 for both May and April and 116 for June, 1930.

State, Municipal Issues to Total $11,118,251

New York, July 26.—(AP)—New state and municipal financing scheduled for award this week totals $11,118,251, compared with $28,705,205 in this classification last week, and the weekly average of $40,485,562 for the year to date, the bond buyer reports. There are only three offerings of major size listed, $1,000,000 3 1-3 month notes of the City of Springfield, Mass., Monday; $1,753,000 4 per cent State of California Park bonds on Thursday, and $2,000,000 City of Omaha, Neb., bonds Saturday.

Levy Reports Sales of Refrigerators in Gain

After gaining steadily throughout June, sales of Frigidaire household electric refrigerators in this section during the first ten days of July soared to a 113 per cent gain over those for the corresponding period of last year, E. E. Levy, president of the Stover Company, Inc., reported yesterday. Similar gains for the period, he explained, were recorded throughout the United States, with the general increase over last year reaching 47 per cent.

Average Price of Crude Petroleum Is Unchanged

The average price of crude petroleum at ten representative fields was unchanged last week from the previous week at 56.7 cents a barrel, compared with $1.42½ a year ago, according to the Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter. Gasoline at the refineries also was unchanged from the preceding week at 3.927 cents a gallon at four principal refining centers, compared with 7.09 cents a gallon a year ago.

U. S. Invites Tenders on $60,000,000 91 Day Bills

Washington, D. C., July 26.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Mills today invited tenders for $60,000,000 in 91 day treasury bills to be sold to the highest bidder on the afternoon of July 30. The bills, which will be dated Aug. 3 and mature Nov. 2, will be redeemed at face value at the end of the 91 days.

Gradual Irregular Decline Takes Place in Bond Mart

New York, July 26.—(AP)—The bond market appeared to be without definite trend most of last week, but a comparison of the closing prices with those of the previous week indicated a gradual irregular decline in domestic corporate issues.

Foreign obligations closed lower, several with net losses of several points. The closing average for thirty representative domestic bonds consisting of ten issues each of industrial, railroad and public utility companies was 94.9, compared with 95.5 a week earlier. Most of the decline resulted from the action of rail issues whose average was 99.0 against 100.2 at the end of the previous week. The explanation of the action of this latter group was easy to find in the unsatisfactory June earnings reports of the carriers.

Receive Most Attention.

Continued unsettlement in foreign financial affairs was reflected in the issues of various nations. The German obligations received more attention than other foreign issues.

The 5½s and 7s of the national government closed within short range of the 1931 low levels and a number of German industrial issues reached new bottom prices on Saturday. Nevertheless the trading in this group was much less nervous than during the preceding week, although the volume for both periods was sizable in most of them.

The publication Saturday morning of the report of Sir Otto Niemeyer on his investigation of Brazilian finances was an event which had been awaited for some time, but it produced little immediate effect, as the issues of that nation then were both higher and lower. Brazilian bonds moved lower for the week as a whole with other foreign issues.

Further evidence of the widespread preference for gilt edge short term issues appeared in the results of the sale on Friday of ninety-one day non-interest bearing bills by the treasury department. The government sold $51,806,000 of bills at an average price of 99.885. The difference between par and the price received by the government is the compensation to the buyer of the bills.

Moves in Cycles.

Evidence of the highly selective nature of the current demand for bonds appeared in offerings of $28,947,000 of new securities during the week compared with $47,792,000 the previous week and $73,737,000 in the corresponding week last year. A large part of the offerings were short term issues and all of them were of fairly high credit rating.

The bond market, like other economic media, moves in cycles. As surely as the public interest in it is restricted now, the demand will increase as confidence in business grows. The demand for ultra high grade bonds is and has been good, and as recovery develops the demand for less desirable issues may be expected to grow. At least the market has followed this course in the past and there is no reason to expect that it will not do likewise again. It is another matter, however, to say just when the long awaited change will occur.

Consolidate Northrop and Sterarmon Aircraft Firms

Consolidation of the Northrop Aircraft corporation of Burbank, Cal., and the Stearman Aircraft company of Wichita, Kas., has been announced by F. B. Rentschler, president of United Aircraft and Transport corporation.

All assets and engineering personnel of the Northrop plant will be transferred to Wichita within 60 days, he said. Stearman is a pioneer manufacturer of commercial airplanes and Northrop has ready for production a high speed all metal transport and an all metal sport plane. Both concerns are subsidiaries of United Aircraft and Transport.

Illinois Commerce Body Favors Rail Rate Increase

Believing that an increase in railroad revenue is necessary to insure the stabilization of railroad credit, permit of adequate rail transportation, and improve the general economic status, the Illinois Chamber of Commerce has passed a resolution asking the interstate commerce commission to give their serious consideration to the subject of railroad rates.

WALL ST. HOLDS GERMANY MUST CURE OWN ILLS

Conference Truce as World Waits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 26.—The conclusion of the London conference of ministers last week served to clarify the central European crisis only to the extent that it ended any immediate prospects of an international credit on a large scale. What the outcome of the German difficulties is to be remains a matter of conjecture even among banking authorities.

It will depend, apparently, on Germany's ability to take another notch in its financial belt and climb out of its troubles by its own efforts. At any rate there is a truce of conferences. Succeeding developments in this and coming weeks may be watched for in Germany itself as the attempt is made to resume a more normal course of business.

In the light of the uncertainties still surrounding the European situation, last week's hesitant behavior of the financial markets was to be expected. The next few weeks can hardly be expected to bring forth anything in the way of domestic news calculated to enlighten the financial community upon the probable course of business during the remainder of the year, although there may be much in the way of dividend actions and earnings reports to influence the immediate behavior of the markets.

Views Home Situation.

Wall street's preoccupation with the affairs of Europe was not so intent as entirely to preclude its consideration of financial developments at home last week. Intimations of an early reduction in the dividend of the United States Steel corporation, bearing as they did a strong semblance of authority, precipitated the most emphatic declines in the stock market

GERMAN FINANCE PROBLEM GIVEN PRIVATE BANKERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 26.—Efforts to find a solution to Germany's economic crisis resolved themselves this last week into a decision to leave the entire problem in the hands of private bankers.

This outcome had been widely forecast in Wall street when the European central bankers abandoned their efforts to find a basis for extending new credit to Germany two weeks ago. It means, according to leading bankers here, that Germany will be forced to depend principally upon her own efforts, pending a clearer view of that country's needs and resources.

Banking opinion here took shape rapidly following the meeting of the European central bankers at the Bank for International Settlements in Basle on July 13. Until then there had been hopes that a practicable plan for extending aid to Germany could be devised. The communique given out by the central bankers after their twelve hour meeting convinced most bankers here, however, that no immediate banking assistance was likely.

Lack Definite Plan.

As it was interpreted by bankers, the statement of the heads of the European banks of issue placed the entire matter in the hands of their respective governments. This view was strengthened by the fact that following the Basle meeting word was sent out privately that the central bankers had been unable to reach any definite plan.

In Germany the effects of this announcement were the immediate suspension of the Darmstaedter und National bank and the government decree closing all banks and exchanges for two days.

The publication of the American plan and its subsequent adoption by the conference this week closed the door on any immediate large international credit. As bankers viewed the declaration with which the London conference concluded, the governments involved simply expressed their approval of the emergency measures already put into effect by private bankers here and in London. The suggestion that the central banks renew their existing short term credit of $100,000,000 to the Reichsbank was taken as a matter of course since the credit could not be repaid at this time in any ease.

Continue Present Course.

The proposal for setting up a committee, under the auspices of the Bank for International Settlements to investigate during the next six or eight months the prospects of converting some of Germany's short term loans into long term obligations held no early prospect of relief, as bankers saw it.

As matters now stand bankers expect that Germany will continue in force measures designed to prevent the further escape of capital and to strengthen the position of the Reichsbank. Private bankers here, in London, and in other European centers, who have entered into an informal agreement to "stay put" on the volume of short term credit being extended to Germany two weeks ago, will continue for the present this course of action.

Truce on Conferences as World Watches.

From a short range point of view the prospects of dividend cuts, and possibly price slashing in the steel industry, are admittedly bearish. Yet they may be construed in a different light from the longer view of the entire industrial outlook.

However laudable the motives that prompted it, the policy of "holding the line" along the lines of wages and prices that has been attempted by some of our leading organizations has proved a handicap to the necessary adjustments called for by the times. If the steel corporation has decided to break away from this policy it is in doubt for the reason that its officials believe the only road to recovery lies in that direction.

Basis of All Industry.

Steel is the basis of all industry and if steel becomes cheap enough users of steel will be encouraged to embark on new enterprises. Moreover, if the steel industry itself can find the means of increasing activity through a reduction of costs the impetus given to other lines will be substantial.

Earnings reports that came to light this week were in the main much more favorable than had been expected. If profits were small in most cases, it was at least comforting to find that an exceptionally large number of firms that were in the red during the first quarter are now operating at a profit due to the economies that have effected.

Bank Good News to Print.

Some modification of this impression must, of course, be expected as the reports appear. It is a regrettable but well known fact that the general practice among corporations is to put a good report to print, but to hold up an unfavorable one as long as possible. Even allowing for the usual expectation that subsequent earnings statements will be less satisfactory, last week's reports were encouraging.

A reassuring development of the latter part of last week was the recovery of sterling exchange to a position above the gold point. This did not mean it is true, until the Bank of England had lost some $150,000,000 in the space of two weeks and had been forced to advance its rate from 2½ per cent to 3½ per cent. Whether further rise in the rate may be necessary to protect and augment the published gold reserves of the bank will depend on what recuperative power sterling shows in the foreign exchange markets.

Continental Can.

Beginning in 1926 it first entered the Pacific coast territory by acquiring a packing plant in Los Angeles. Since then it has acquired two additional companies in that territory.

About 70 per cent of its products are cans for perishable foods. This line is highly seasonal in its nature, peak production being reached in June, July, August, and September.

A measure of stability is provided in the manufacture of cans for other products and the leasing of can closing machinery. The latter is not an important profit producing activity, but it helps in securing permanent customers. The company manufactures its own machinery.

At the end of 1930 it owned 38 plants in 24 cities in the United States and Cuba. It has a minority interest in Metal Box company, Ltd., London, the leading can manufacturer in England, and a majority interest in one of the two leading can manufacturers of France.

Net income for 1930 was $8,723,094, or $1.64 per common share, against reported net income of $8,967,702, or $1.65 per common share, for 1929. The decrease in per share earnings in face of the decrease in net income was due to the retirement of 40,937 preferred shares. For 1928 net income was $9,589,796, for 1927 $4,433,646, and for 1926 $3,734,184.

On Dec. 31, 1930, current assets were $33,205,005, and current liabilities were $2,656,918. Cash alone was $13,421,649. Working capital was $30,548,087, against $34,404,005 the year before. Capitalization consists solely of 1,732,545 no par common shares. The company has no funded debt.

A press dispatch, dated July 10, 1931, stated that shipments for June, 1931, were in excess of shipments for the corresponding month of 1930. It added that the canning business started slowly this year.

The common is on an annual dividend basis of $2.50 per share, which has been in effect since 1925. Dividends have been paid on the common every year since 1915 with the exception of 1922.

We do not attempt to predict the course of the market.

Grand Trunk Railway.

They are. These bonds are guaranteed both as to principal and interest by the Dominion of Canada.

GRAIN DECLINE DUE TO ABSENCE OF SPECULATION

Unloading of a large line of wheat in Winnipeg at the close carried that market down to the lowest of late with losses of 5@5¾c compared with a week ago. At the same time losses in Liverpool for the week were only 1⅛@1¼c for the week. Prices for the week follow:

Cash Corn at a Discount.

Cash corn went from a good premium to ⅛@1c discount under July during the week owing to larger arrivals and a lessened cash demand. Corn prices in Chicago are relatively the highest in the country. There are only five more trading days in July and it is said that leading holders of this month's contracts will carry their proposed program out to the finish. So far they have taken cash corn on delivery and shipped it out. Deliveries the balance of the month are expected to be large. It is said by traders who have watched July closely that holders of this month's contracts have sold September heavily and profits in it are expected to make up for any losses in either July or cash corn.

The country is not buying December corn to any extent, although there are scattered reports of deterioration due to higher temperatures and lack of moistures. The impression prevails amongst the trade that corn is relatively too high as compared with wheat. July closed at 57¾c, September 49⅝@50c, and December at the lowest finish of the season, 44¼@44⅝c. Prices for the week follow:

FRANCE REPORTS JUNE LOSSES IN FOREIGN TRADE

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

Imports, 2,914,000,000 francs, a decrease of 246,000,000 from 1930; foodstuffs, 1,282,000,000, an increase of 497,000,000; raw materials, 1,300,000,000, a decrease of 808,000,000; manufacturers, 332,000,000, a decrease of 334,000,000.

Exports, 2,512,000,000, a decrease of 964,000,000 from 1930; foodstuffs, 414,000,000, a decrease of 140,000,000; raw materials, 593,000,000, a decrease of 388,000,000; manufactures, 1,506,000,000, a decrease of 536,000,000.

Heavy Construction and Engineering Hold Up Well

Under the stimulus of a $15,000,000 office building, planned for New York City, and gains in public work, heavy construction and engineering proposals announced throughout the country in the last week moved up to a total money valuation of $41,432,000 for all classes except highways, Construction Daily reports. This compares with $30,854,000 in the preceding week and $43,833,000 in the corresponding week last year.

SHADE OF A FRENCH EMPRESS AIDS ONE BUSINESS LINE HERE

Eugenie Marie de Montijo, one time empress of France, was indirectly responsible for a rushing business in local millinery markets during the last week, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The new Empress Eugenie hats, a style popularized at the French-Colonial exposition at Paris, was the reason why both wholesale and retail millinery dealers enjoyed a spurt in business.

Slight improvement in the Chicago wholesale market for men's clothing presaged a good fall and winter season. Orders for future delivery have been light, however, as Chicago manufactures higher grade men's clothing, demand for which has not been so heavy.

Retail trade in general held up well in the face of the customary seasonal slump in buying activity. Wholesale orders displayed a more pronounced ability to keep abreast of last year's levels.

A feature of the city's vacation business is the increased use of airplane passenger lines by vacationists to reach points in northern Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

ADS ATTACH NIFICANCE TO ITS DOWNWARD OUTPUT COURSE

STEEL CONTINUES ATE FIGURES

Copper Steadier as Result of Foreign Demand.

New York, July 26.—(AP)—Reduced operations by rail, tubular and sheet mills, reflecting smaller demand, accounted for further slackening in steel operations during the last week. The actual output production was estimated at 51 per cent of capacity and the trend is said to be for a continuance at the low rate for another month.

Demand for structural steel was fairly well maintained and prospective construction projects continue as a sustaining factor. Prices were slightly firmer for bars, shapes and plates, but descriptions were steady with prices firm. Pig iron experienced a slightly better demand at the Copper Demand Eased.

Foreign demand for copper, particularly for German and French account, showed a steadier tone early in the week, but this demand tapered off later, especially when a moderate amount of domestic copper became available at concessions of a quarter of a cent through smelter sources. While the export price was maintained, domestic producers continued to hold to 9 cents for electrolytic in the Connecticut valley. Domestic demand was at a minimum, with further curtailment in the auto industry checking buying.

Trading during the greater part of the week, reflecting a stagnant demand and weakness at London. Consumers restricted buying to scattering lots at the decline. A reduction in wages in all operations was reported.

Consumers Limit Purchases.

Lead held steady in a quiet market, with consumers limiting purchases to small lots. Demand was restricted largely by easiness at London, but offerings were not pressed owing to the mine curtailments.

Zinc remained unchanged. Producers were said to be well booked ahead on restricting offerings, but buying is also minimal, although there were some inquiries. There also were bids under the market without stimulating offerings.

BUTS BOND ISSUE.

The Milwaukee company announces it had awarded $65,000 of Fond du Lac improvement bonds, paying a premium of $1,000. The bonds are serially from 1932 to 1940 and will yield between 2.75 and 3.00 per cent.

COLORADO

It's Cool in Colorado

It has snowed this month on top of Pikes Peak. New, wide roads are disclosing new beauties in Rocky Mountain National Park, have made Mesa Verde cliff dwellings still more accessible. In the Rockies we sleep under blankets every night. Daytimes we are exploring horseback trails, catching fighting trout in cold, laughing streams. Gorgeous wild flowers are more plentiful than ever. You can get here quickly—and cheaply.
